SUMMARY.

The Nurnberg was sunk by the British squadron near the Falklands, in addition to the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, and Leipzig.

Admiral von Spee went down with the Scharnhorst.

The King and the Admiralty have congratulated Vice-Admiral Sturdee and his squadron on the result of the naval action.

The Paris newspapers pay glowing tributes to the British navy on account of the victory.

An Admiralty communique published in Berlin reproduces the British announcement of the sinking of the German cruisers.

It adds that the German losses seem to have been great.

It is reported that six German submarines attempted to enter the Admiralty harbour at Dover.

The forts maintained a furious fusillade for half an hour, and it is said that they sank one submarine.

No damage was done to the harbour or the warships lying therein. The residents watched the exciting encounter from the sea front.

The Admiralty does not confirm the news of an attack on Dover.

The French Government reports progress along the heights of the Meuse, and in the Argonne.

The Allies' artillery again mastered the German guns along the Aisne and in the Champagne district.

It is reported that the Germans have evacuated Roulers, and are preparing to abandon Thourout and Thielt.

A number of isolated efforts to take the offensive were made by the Germans in Poland, but without success.

An Austrian communique admits that the Austrians were unable to penetrate Servia, and were compelled to retire.

The Austrian debacle has been established by the fact that the Servians are hotly pursuing the Austrians.

The line of retreat is littered with arms, waggons, and stores.

The Servians stormed Suvobor, in the Maljen mountains, with magnificent elan, and got four army corps on the run.

Sir Louis Mallet states in a despatch that it was evident in mid-August that Germany would drive Turkey into the war.

German officers provided with large sums of money went to Syria to suborn the local chiefs.

The Khedive himself was a party to the conspiracy.

The rebellion in South Africa is ended. General Botha announces that he will now proceed against German South-west Africa.

General Beyers' body has been recovered. He was not wounded, death being due to drowning.

The battle-cruiser Breslau attacked Russian transports, but no damage was done. The cruiser was driven off by airmen.

A United States Admiral told the Naval Committee that submarines had not fulfilled the widely felt expectations regarding them.

The U.S. Secretary for War recommends an additional 1000 officers and 25,000 men, to bring the army up to its full strength.

A movement is on foot for 3,000,000 British residents in foreign countries to present a battleship to the mother country.

A deputation waited on the Chief Secretary yesterday, to urge the immediate legalising of the totalisator.

Mr. Cann said that the Totalisator Bill would not be introduced as a Government measure.

When the House resumed an opportunity would be given to decide whether it would have the totalisator or not.

During the Budget debate in the Federal House the agreement with the banks in regard to the £10,000,000 loan was tabled.

Mr. Hughes said that though there had been many critics of the Budget, there had not been one helpful suggestion.

A bill was introduced to provide the machinery for the proposed death duties.

The Senate passed the Supply Bill for £10,316,500, to cover a period of five months.

A brewers' deputation to the Commodities Commission asked that the proclamation reverting to the old rates for spirits be repealed.

It was decided to hear representatives of the wine and spirit merchants and of the U.L.V.A. before giving a decision.

The Licensed Victuallers' Association in Melbourne further considered the retail prices to be charged for liquor.

The result was a reduction of the proposed prices in colonial ales and bulk spirits.

A strike occurred amongst the members of the Waterside Workers' Union at Hobart against the increased price of beer.

The Chamber of Manufactures has endorsed the proposed employment bureau for boys.

The Necessary Commodities Control Commission has forwarded to the Governor a report on the price of bread.

Evidence was given before the commission in favour of an increase, and the report contains the recommendations on the point.

The Prices of Goods Board in Melbourne has decided to recommend an increase in the price of certain jams.

The dispute between the Tamworth Council and the Minister in regard to water supply is to be referred to the law courts.

The North Sydney Council by deputation urged the Sydney Ferries, Limited, to improve the ferry services.

The chairman of directors gave a conciliatory reply, though the ferries, he said, were feeling the stress of the war.

The week's recruiting has resulted in substantial additions to the camps at Liverpool and Holsworthy.

As regards the class of material enrolled, it is considered the best week of the recruiting campaign.

No fewer than 760 officers and men of the expeditionary force have been recruited from the railway and tramway service.

A further batch of 429 officers and men are now engaged in home defence.

The present position in the New Zealand elections is:—Government, 38; Opposition, 30; Labour, 5; Social Democrats, 3.

In the licensing poll the returns are likely to show a considerable majority against national prohibition.

The Railway Commissioners' application for the variation of awards in regard to increments was referred to a board.

All increments to railway workers not now actually paid are to be suspended until the matter is decided.

Several earthquake shocks have occurred in the New Hebrides. Two volcanoes are belching forth cinders.

The results of the senior public examination, held at the University in November, are published.

The number of candidates who presented themselves was 135, of whom 65 per cent. passed.

The Dolls' Carnival in aid of the Children's Hospital was officially opened at the Town Hall by the Governor yesterday.

Mr. Viner, the chess champion, played 29 simultaneous games with the best players in Perth in two hours and a half.

He won 21, drew 6, and lost 2. He made 750 moves.

The City Coroner yesterday committed a man for trial on a charge of arson at Paddington.

Large numbers of starving stock, principally from Riverina, are arriving in the Monaro district.

Small parcels of New South Wales wheat were purchased on Victorian account at 6s f.o.b. Sydney.

The real estate market showed a much improved tone this week.

A fair amount of business was transacted on the Sydney Stock Exchange yesterday at irregular prices.

The Mining market was buoyant, and a fair volume of business was recorded.

At the Wellington (N.Z.) wool sales prices generally were lower than in November. The demand was keen.

Forecast.—Sultry and unsettled generally, with more scattered rains and thunderstorms; north-east winds, veering later to south-east; some useful rains in a day or two.

SPECIAL CHRISTMAS VALUES

IN MAIDS' COSTUMES.

Every line quoted hereunder shows remarkably good value, and, although the prices are so low, each garment is of the superior quality associated with Farmer's Goods.
Parents should purchase frocks for the Holidays whilst these favourable offers last.

GIRLS' AMERICAN CAMBRIC and ZEPHYR FROCKS, in endless variety. The new tariff will have the effect of making all American-made frocks just twice, and in some cases more than twice, the present prices. Our present stocks will be sold at the regular moderate prices, but parents requiring Children's Garments should come and select them as early as possible.
Prices, 4/6, 5/6, 7/6, 8/6, UP TO 17/6 EACH.

We have been very fortunate in securing 30 dozen GIRLS' WHITE LINGERIE FROCKS—all positively new goods—perfect in shape. The prices of these goods are far less than original cost, and will be sold in lots at 4/11, 5/11, and 6/11.

MAIDS' SPONGE CLOTH COSTUMES; A SPLENDID LINE, neatly made; coat has basque effect; plain skirts. Maids' Sizes. Worth, 29/6.

DO IT NOW
If you are thinking of an Engine for the Xmas Holidays, do not leave it until the last minute to make up your mind, but on no account make your decision until you have had a chat with us about which are without doubt the most popular engine in Australia, and have the largest sale of any marine engine in the world.
We have all sizes in stock, including the Detachable.
PRICES ARE RIGHT.
Also a few Caille Detachable at Bargain Prices.

WARM WORK, PHEW!
It takes all the pleasure out of your "holiday," doesn't it, rowing a boatload of people—generally against wind and tide—to the best picnic grounds, and then, dog tired, after the day's outing, rowing them home again. Well, why do it?
AN A.I.C. DETACHABLE BOAT MOTOR will do it for you while you lie back and enjoy the scenery—and will do it in about half the time. This 2-h.p. motor costs only £22/10/. It will fit any boat, and will drive a 16ft skiff 8 miles per hour. So simple, a child can run it.

STANDARD OIL ENGINES
are the highest grade OIL ENGINES on the market. We frequently receive, entirely unsolicited, valuable testimony regarding the exceptional qualities and general efficiency of these famous Engines.
Mr. J. M. Kingwell, of the Bellita Transport Co., Ltd., Mackay, N.Q., to whom we supplied a 12-h.p. "STANDARD" Engine four years ago, writes as follows:—"The Engine is still going good; have carried over twenty-four thousand (24,000) passengers without a miss; pretty good."
WAUGH and JOSEPHSON, Sole Agents,
Goulburn and Brisbane streets, Sydney.

CHEAPER FUEL FOR OIL ENGINES.
In response to many suggestions that we should provide a cheaper fuel for "Standard" and other Benzine Oil Engines, we have pleasure to intimate that we have made arrangements for supplying a high grade Special Engine Distillate in any quantity at prices which will greatly reduce the running cost of all Benzine Oil Engines. Prices and further information from WAUGH and JOSEPHSON, Goulburn and Brisbane streets, Sydney.

AT THE FRONT.
Where Reliability must be the First Consideration, a Launch fitted with 18-h.p. NIAGARA MOTOR has been selected by the Government to accompany the First Expeditionary Force. This speaks volumes.

SYDNEY'S ONLY PANTOMIME,

1914-15,
will be presented at

THE ADELPHI THEATRE,

under the Direction of GEO. WILLOUGHBY, LTD.

Commencing on

WEDNESDAY NIGHT DECEMBER 23,

when

"THE BABES IN THE WOOD,"
"THE BABES IN THE WOOD,"

the Stupendous Pantomime Extravaganza, in Two Acts and 18 Scenes—Book, Lyrics, and Music by AH. J. Lawrence—will be staged upon a scale of magnificence commensurate with the numerical strength of the cast and the Festive Nature of the Season.

THE COMPANY,
350 PEOPLE IN THE PRODUCTION. 350.
To ensure that the ensemble will be of sufficient numerical strength to give full effect to the numerous spectacular marches, groupings, and tableaux, no fewer than 350 artists have been engaged to figure in the Pantomime.

THE SCENIC FEATURES.
Mr. J. S. Mann has reproduced in extenso a series of very beautiful pantomime scenic studies, most picturesque woodland settings, which must imbue the atmosphere with the true tang of the period of Robin Hood.

PRODUCING THE PANTO. will prove a task wholly congenial to that expert and Master-Producer, Mr. Lester Brown, whose high American reputation in the production of the finest musical extravaganzas and pantomime shows will be enhanced by the results he is certain to achieve in "The Babes in the Wood."

THE MUSICAL NOVELTIES.
"EVERYTHING NEW" is the caption under which the roster of musical numbers to be interpolated in the action of the pantomime may be listed. Mr. Wynne-Jones, the Musical Director, has rehearsed the principals and chorus in just 42 NEW SONGS AND CHORUSES. 42.

THE PRINCIPALS.
THE CAST will include Miss Dorothy Harris as ROBIN HOOD; Dan Thomas as DAME; Bert La Blanc as WEARY WILLIE; and

DAISY JEROME as MAID MARION,
DAISY JEROME as MAID MARION,
DAISY JEROME as MAID MARION,

and numerous other Star Artists imported specially for this production.
A Chorus of 80 Beautiful Show Girls. A Magnificent Corps de Ballet of 40 Girls.

THE SPECIALITIES WILL INCLUDE—
Josephine Gassman and her Piccaninnies, Marcell and Fallon, the Waldrons (Joe and Ettie), the New York Comedy Four, also Acrobats and Animal Impersonators.

SUMMING UP.
In "The Babes in the Wood" you will see and hear a BRILLIANT CAST, GORGEOUS COSTUMING (designed by Mr. D. H. Souter), SUMPTUOUS BALLETS (arranged by Miss Bertha Buroch); ELABORATE STAGE PICTURES, SPECTACULAR MARCHES and GROUPINGS, QUAINT and CLEVER DIALOGUES, and STAR VAUDEVILLE ACTS culled from the WORLD'S BEST AVENUES.

Popular Pantomime Prices: 4/, 3/, 2/, and 1/. Reserved Seats, 5/. Early Doors 6d extra. The Box Plan for the Pantomime Season will open at Nicholson's Friday next, at 9 a.m.

Applications for FIRST NIGHT SEATS will be received at Nicholson's up till Thursday next.

HIGHLAND GATHERING.

CROWNING OF THE QUEEN OF THE SPORTS.

In connection with the Highland Gathering on New Year Day, an old Scottish custom (modernised) of crowning the Beltane Queen will be revived. The whole arrangements are in the hands of Mr. Walter Bentley, who is organising the function. The assistance of all willing to participate is invited. They must wear a distinctive national costume (Scottish preferred—German, Austrian, and Turkish expressly forbidden), and take part in the procession on the Grounds, and in the ceremony of Crowning.

It is earnestly desired that those who have costumes will volunteer, especially in parties. The first rehearsal will be held at the Royal Agricultural Grounds on Saturday next, December 19, at 3 p.m., at which it is hoped all who can take part will attend.

All intending competitors in the Dancing and Piping and Costume Events are also asked to attend the Rehearsal next Saturday afternoon.

The whole of the profits derived from the Gathering are to be devoted to the establishment of a Cottage at Burnside Homes for the care of children of soldiers belonging to the New South Wales Expeditionary Forces at the front who may lose their lives or become incapacitated.

The Council of the Highland Society specially appeal to all sections of the community to help in this effort.

Motor Cars (decorated) will also be used in the procession. The Council would be glad to hear of any who could assist the movement in this way.

READ OUR NEW ASTOUNDING OFFER.

A GREAT EFFORT.

Ever since we have been in Sydney we have made a special offer for our Christmas customers. Therefore we now make our TWENTY-FIFTH SPECIAL CHRISTMAS OFFER, and in doing so we assure our friends that we have bent our whole strength to make this positively the best offer ever made in first-class photography.

Absolutely the most astonishing value ever put BEFORE THE PUBLIC, viz., ONE DOZEN HIGH-CLASS Portraits, mounted on our new artistic mount, and an ENLARGEMENT, framed in a most expensive Frame, for 21/. Size of Frame, 28 x 24 inches.

NOTE.—The Frames are of the very best quality imported mouldings, the best of the American and European seasons. They have been specially selected for their rich designs, beautifully chased in deep relief, and bold characters, by skilled craftsmen; the colouring is exquisite and artistic; they are eminently suited for Enlarged Photographs; Splendid Value. Please call and see them. Truly a wonderful offer and marvellous value. SPECIMENS ARE NOW ON VIEW. Do not overlook it. The ENLARGEMENT is FRAMED at this price. To each sitter for this special offer we will supply proofs of three different positions, WITHOUT EXTRA CHARGE; therefore, everyone will be sure to get satisfactory results. It has taken us many years of constant effort to build up our splendid reputation for HIGH ART WORK, and our friends may feel assured that every order (even at this very low price) will receive our best attention, and the work will be our very best, and will prove a pleasure to our customer and a credit to our good name.

8 DAYS. 8 DAYS. 8 DAYS.

ON ACCOUNT OF OUR INSTRUMENTS AND APPLIANCES IN THE FINISHING DEPARTMENT, WE GUARANTEE THAT YOUR PHOTOS. WILL BE FINISHED IN 8 DAYS AFTER ORDERING.

A SOCIAL CUSTOM.

Every year we are charmed by tokens of love from friends who help to make life happy by their silent messages and fraternal greetings, with the season's compliments, in a well-chosen Christmas Card. The more chaste and artistic the card the more pleasure it gives. Many desire something quite new in this direction, something that will excite admiration and inspire thoughts of love. It is A SWEET IDEA to send your photograph as a Christmas present, especially when it is the work of a master artist, and finished with artistic taste, and mounted in our up-to-date style. Our Cabinet and Paris Panel Mounts are choice examples of the combined skill of the mechanic and the artist, and support a photograph RICH IN ARTISTIC MERIT. This combination of mount and photograph is admitted by artists to be AN IDEAL LOVE TOKEN.

THE CAR BUICK. THAT GLIDES.

SPECIAL EXPORT MODEL.

The highest quality Car at the highest price and the poorest apology for a Motor Car will usually give a satisfactory trial, viz.: travel the same road and climb the same hill for once or twice at least.
Many buy the cheapest Car on account of its negotiating a few miles of such trial without trouble, and these buyers are frequently soon sorry.
The other extreme is the high-priced heavy Car which costs so much in maintenance that the buyer also becomes sorry. When you purchase a pair of boots or any other article to stand hard wear you do not select the dearest, nor the cheapest—the medium is the one for service, and so it is with a Motor Car.

THE SAFE WAY TO BUY.

is to follow the men of experience, and during the last four or five weeks we have sold Cars to the following gentlemen, most of whom previously owned Cars:—

A. P. Purcell, Esq., Canowindra.

"FAR AHEAD OF ITS CLASS."

THAT IS THE VERDICT OF ALL WHO HAVE SEEN THE

NEW HUDSON 2-STROKE-2

2¼-H.P. LIGHTWEIGHT MODEL.

The Two-Stroke Lightweight Motor Cycle is not a miniature, but a sturdy and handsome solo mount. Fitted with Two-stroke Engine which developes remarkable power—Countershaft Two-speed Gear and Chain-cum-Belt drive.

IDEAL FOR XMAS AND HOLIDAY TOURING.
It provides the maximum efficiency and the widest range of usefulness at the least cost. A machine that a novice can ride with confidence, as it is simplicity itself and delightfully easy to control. The low first cost and the wonderful economy of upkeep are factors in favour of the Lightweight Models.

INCREASE OF DUTY.

Under the new tariff introduced into the House of Representatives last week the Duty on motor car Chassis has been doubled. This will consequently lead to an increase in the selling price of cars. It is, however, our intention to sell the few remaining models we have in stock at the old prices. Intending buyers would, therefore, be well advised to write for catalogues and full particulars immediately.

"HORNSBY THE COMING CITY!"

It does not need much imagination to picture Hornsby—how it will grow and expand in another ten years. The rapidity of its development is something stupendous, and has made many a small property-holder blush with joy at the way his little blocks of land, which a few years ago he bought for shillings are now worth almost as many £'s. It's the way of the world; new towns and cities rise from the humble hamlet, bringing to those who secure the land wealth untold. Already at Hornsby—and within the past few years—many a poor man has laid a solid foundation to future prosperity by availing himself of the unusually good value and easy terms of purchase of which are mentioned below, and give you the chance of a lifetime. Either property is undeniably attractive for Home Sites or Investment. Hornsby is the junction of the Milson's Point to Hornsby and the Sydney to Hawkesbury River Railway Lines.

METEOR ESTATE,
HORNSBY.

A very fine well-grassed property, specially suitable for first class residences. Twenty-five minutes' walk of Hornsby Station. Lots are large and roomy—from 66ft x 297ft 9in—from 18/ a foot.

BROADMEADOWS
ESTATE, HORNSBY.

Fronts Railway line, charmingly situated, twenty minutes' walk of Hornsby Railway Station. Lots 60 x 170 ft, specially good value, from 22/6 foot.

EASY TERMS—TORRENS TITLE.

Only £1 down, and 10/ monthly (including interest at 5 per cent. per annum), for every £25 purchased. (The easiest terms in the world, 2/6 a week is all you pay to become a participator in the big future of Hornsby.

CANTERBURY.—Railway service every 4 MINUTES during busy hours, and THROUGH TRAINS, CENTRAL STN. TO CANTERBURY, no stops, a 15 MINS.' JOURNEY. Ordinary Railway Journey, 20 mins.

LIVING IN CANTERBURY means that you are away from the buzz necessitated by living in closely congested suburbs. It means that you and your youngsters will find the benefit of fresh air, the raising of your own poultry, the growing of your own vegetables, the having of a decent flower garden. The bringing to perfection of the above gives pleasure to both husband and wife, and also the kiddies—and where, in the whole of the Metropolitan area, can you find soil superior to that of this healthy suburb. I can sell you Cottages, with 4 rooms and all convs., from £200 to £800, and over, at from a DEPOSIT OF £25, and weekly repayments of £1 or 25/, including principal and interest, the latter at the rate of 6 p.c. p.a., adjusted quarterly on quarterly balances.

WHY HE WENT FRUIT FARMING.

Sam took stock of the prices his wife had to part out for a modicum of fruit. It made him think. "Somebody's making a pile out of fruit, and I know none of it comes my way." Sam decided that it ought, and the only way was to get on the growing end of the fruit business. He's been at it now quite a few years, and when asked how's he getting on just invites you to come and spend a week-end with him to judge for yourself. He hadn't any experience, but he had "grit," and has "got there" with it.

This is only one instance of many who have made a success because they came to Rickard's and got a Fruit Farm on Easy Terms.

WYEE FARMS ESTATE, WYEE, offers similar inducements. The property is two miles from Wyee Railway Station, seventy one miles of Sydney (3½ hours' run), and thirty-three miles of Newcastle (1¼ hour's run). Wyee Creek, which contains plenty and permanent water, runs through the Estate, each farm thus having the advantages of its services. The Creek Flats will grow anything, while the rising land on either side consists of good, deep, well-drained soil, which has ample timber for building and fencing. Some of the higher ridges will pay well to plant with passionfruit vines, which in themselves are very profitable.

There are eight Farms altogether, ranging from 35½ acres to nearly 44 acres. Larger areas may be obtained by securing adjoining blocks.

This is undoubtedly a farming property which apart from its fruit, can be used with excellent results for mixed farming, while the price asked makes the value offered particularly attractive. Price is from £3/17/6 an acre.

EASY TERMS—TORRENS TITLE.

Only £1 down and 10/ monthly (which includes interest at 5 per cent. per annum) for every £25 purchased. Call or write for Plans. Open Monday and Friday Nights till 9.

Those who desire to inspect this Estate should apply to Mr. F. W. Akhurst, Wyee Station, who will drive them out to the property.

OUR FARMING ESTATES ARE SO NUMEROUS, AND OFFER SUCH A WIDE FIELD OF SELECTION, THAT IT WILL BE TO YOUR ADVANTAGE TO CONSULT US BEFORE YOU BUY.

FAMOUS FURRACABAD FARMS!

The word "famous" is no exaggeration in regard to the FURRACABAD FARMS ESTATE. The fertility of these magnificent acres of rich deep soil has been responsible for the making of Glen Innes and surrounding districts, with their co-operative butter and bacon factories, creameries, etc. Mixed farming and dairying are carried on to an enormously productive and profitable extent, considerably over £40,000 per annum being paid by the factories mentioned to suppliers.

FORTUNES FOR FARMERS!

That is exactly what these farms practically mean. The soil is so rich that the yields of corn, maize, and all fodder and other crops are amazing; so much so that one large farm close to the township of Glen Innes has produced enormous crops without any artificial dressing of any kind. This is really worth your while going into, isn't it?

FURRACABAD FARMS ESTATE

is a sound, sterling, profitable proposition for every farmer to take up. Beginners cannot go wrong even. The whole district is full of golden opportunities. THE NEW ENGLAND district has ever been regarded without the least doubt as "THE GARDEN OF THE STATE," and the districts around GLEN INNES are particularly inviting. FURRACABAD FARMS ESTATE is situate within a radius of 3½ to 7 miles of the township of GLEN INNES, close to SUPERIOR PUBLIC SCHOOL, which has an attendance of over 600 scholars—railway station. In fact, all the advantages of a large town. GLEN INNES has a population of over 5000, the water supply is abundant, droughts are unknown, rainfall averages 33 inches, while the Furracabad Creek has a never-failing supply of splendid water, which runs right through the estate. All the farms are improved, fenced, cleared, and cultivated ready for immediate occupation. Each may be regarded as "going" concerns. Buyers can reach Furracabad Farms direct by rail (via Glen Innes) from Sydney, Newcastle, and Brisbane. The farms range in area from 58 to 600 acres each, larger areas being obtainable by securing adjoining blocks.

FROM ONLY £6 AN ACRE. EASY TERMS.

For farms of such excellent quality, and such wonderful opportunities, the price marks the offer as an unprecedented bargain, the easy terms rendering it practically within reach of all.
Only 10 per cent. deposit, balance in annual instalments of 10 per cent. (which includes principal and interest), payable on the 31st March annually.

BUSINESSES FOR SALE OR WANTED

STATIONERY.

News Agency and Fancy Goods, in Sydney's most favoured suburb, established 28 years, 2-story brick shop and dwelling in main street, trade £50 to £52 per week, stock about £1000, all clean and up to date, lease of 6 years to run at £2 per week, price as a going concern, including the superior furniture, walk in walk out, £1675.

From my own personal knowledge I can recommend this as a good business, averaging £14 per week after all expenses. The owner is now going to take a rest, and leaves the opportunity open for you to go and do the same as he has done. You can have all questions answered, and proof of business done, but not by medium of the telephone. You can have a trial if desired, and prove it to the utmost.

Do not let this pass without examination, for you will find it quite as good as stated.
Principals only.

POULTRY, DOGS, ETC.

ALL POULTRY FOODS ARE DEAR EXCEPT CORN.

The too liberal use of Corn, however, will cause over fatness. To counteract this tendency use 10 p.c. of EGGLO in the morning mash. Egglo is a protein meal, guaranteed to be Wholesome, Palatable, and Digestible. Used as directed it will give a properly balanced ration.
Egglo in the ration will cost an extra 1½d per 100 per day; but for that extra 1½d you get a balanced ration which means:—
Better Egg Production,
Less Food Consumed,
Less waste through the feeding of foods with an excess of any one element.
Buy only in original packages.
Sold in 6d and 1/ bags, 28 and 56 lb Bags and Sacks. Obtainable at Anthony Hordern, Ltd., Nock and Kirby, Ltd., W. Harris, Snr., and all Produce Dealers and Stores. Pamphlets and Samples upon application.

It's a Merry Christmas for the one who gets a Kodak

There is a Kodak suitable for every member of every family. Old or young, male or female, studious or pleasure-loving, quiet or high-spirited—it makes no difference; there's always fascination in picture-taking the Kodak way. It appeals to every nature, all the year round.

There is no better time to begin picture-making than at Christmas, with its happy reunions and joyful holidays.

Brother, sister, uncle, cousin or chum will appreciate a gift that means a pleasure all the year—the pleasure of taking pictures and having a picture story of all the personal interest.

They are so wonderfully simple to operate that the one who gets a Kodak can start right away and make good pictures.

Don't waste your holidays this year: Take a Kodak.

When you pay for your railway ticket and for your holiday rooms, you are buying happiness. Naturally you are keen to get full value for your money, aren't you?

But what are you going to do with the happiness you buy? Are you going to leave it behind when you come home—or are you going to bring it back with you in the form of a hundred jolly little Kodak snapshots?

Surely your holiday happiness is worth saving! It will mean so much to you in years to come!

You can learn to use a Kodak in half-an-hour. There are Kodaks at all prices, from 30/- to £15/2/-. Here are the two latest:

No. 1 & No. 1a Kodak Junior

Easy to operate, and so thin and compact that one is pocketed without inconvenience. Equipped with new Kodak ball-bearing shutter, with cable release for time and bulb exposures.

No. 1—Takes pictures 2¼ x 3¼ inches, meniscus achromatic lens, £1/12/6; with Rapid Rectilinear lens, £2.

No. 1a—Size of pictures, 2½ x 4¼ inches, meniscus achromatic lens, £1/17/6; with Rapid Rectilinear lens, £2/7/6.

Two Very Popular Kodaks.

Vest Pocket Kodak takes pictures 2½ x 1⅝ inches, and fits the vest pocket or a lady's handbag. Price, 30/-.

3a Folding Pocket Kodak takes pictures postcard size (5½ x 3¼ins.) Price, 90/-

LIFE IN LONDON AND THEREABOUT.

(CHRONICLED BY SIR HENRY LUCY.)

Belated War Despatches—Preparing for the Worst—Culture of Barbarity—The Corn on Battlefields—Adventures of an M.P.—A New Duty for "Tommy Atkins."

WESTMINSTER, Oct. 22.

Fullest recognition is given to the administration of Lord Kitchener at the War Office, a business method that leaves no flaw in the systematic supply whether of men, guns, ammunition, food, or drink. All the same, the public are irritated at the ostrichlike futility that marks his policy in large matters and in small. At any turn of events he is prone to bury his face in the sand and think nobody sees him. The latest development of this unfortunate tendency is forthcoming in his treatment of Sir John French's anxiously awaited despatches. On Monday last, being the 19th October, they were published in the morning papers, occupying two complete pages. The reader observed with consternation that the first, covering the operation of the British Army from August 21 to August 28, was dated September 7. The second, describing the continuance of the retreat on Paris up to the momentous mid-day of September 6, when the signal was given to take the offensive, was dated September 17. On October 8 Sir John French, taking up his pen with new pleasure, gave a graphic account of the defeat and pursuit of the German army and of the battle of the Aisne up to the last day in September.

What the bewildered public want to know is why these pages of history should have been secreted in pigeon holes at the War Office whilst the country was hungering and thirsting for news, the dissemination of which from non-official quarters was rigorously forbidden? The only conceivable answer is that in accordance with his habit, Lord Kitchener was afraid of giving information that might be useful to the enemy. It is probable that long before the 19th October the Germans knew all about the halt in the prolonged retreat of the allied armies, and the sudden assumption of the offensive, which took place on September 6.

The War Office have within the last few days taken proceedings significant of the situation. They have addressed to the Urban and Rural Councils throughout the kingdom a circular marked "Urgent," requesting them to ascertain what labour would be available in their several districts in case of necessity for (1) digging trenches; (2) clearing away trees; (3) rough timber work. It is necessary, the circular states, to have a complete organisation, and to know the names and addresses of all men willing to undertake this work should emergency arise. The men, of whom a great number might be needed, would be engaged for three days, and would receive double the ordinary rates of pay. They will be required to assemble at a stated rendezvous within a few hours of receiving notice, and will forthwith proceed to the section of work allotted to the council in the immediate neighbourhood. The labour will be carried out under the direction of a Royal Engineer officer. Tools will be provided for those who do not possess them. It is added that "to prevent anything in the nature of a scare, it is well to mention that the contingency of the men being called upon is at present happily remote. But it is necessary to be prepared without delay." Forms were enclosed with request that they should be returned not later than Monday last.

Here are three quotations worth reading just now. The first is from General von Bernhardi, author of the famous book, "Germany and the Next War." It was written three years ago this month, was highly popular in Germany, and in this country is today found exceedingly interesting in the cheap editions that litter our railway bookstalls. "Our science, our literature, and the warlike achievements of our past," writes the patriotically ecstatic German, "have made me proudly conscious of belonging to a great civilised nation, which, in spite of all the weakness and mistakes of bygone days, must, and assuredly will, win a glorious future." The second quotation is from an equally authoritative and patriotic German, Herr Treitschke. "Depth of conviction, idealism, universality, the power to look beyond all the limit of a finite existence, to sympathise with all that is human, to traverse the world of ideas in companionship with the noblest of all nations and ages—this has at all times been the German characteristic; this has been extolled as the prerogative of German culture." The third is from a lady working among the Belgian refugees at Exeter. "There is," she writes, "a family, father, mother, and three children at the postmaster's who, when flying to the coast, saw a baby lying in a ditch. They took it up and brought it with them. They felt they could not leave it there. It is about a year old. Many little ones arriving here have hands and feet cut off."

Though painful, it is well to have this concrete example of the working of "culture" among "a great civilised nation with sympathises with all that is human, and prides itself on companionship with the noblest of all nations and ages." I have personal knowledge that this fiendish atrocity committed upon helpless babes is not an isolated practice. Spending a week-end in a district remote from Exeter, the head gardener, talking about the war, told me his sister, a hard-working, childless widow, moved by the stories of Belgian refugees flooding the neighbourhood, resolved to take charge of one of the superfluous little ones. Making application in the proper quarter, she in due time had delivered at her cottage door an infant not yet two years old with both its hands chopped off at the wrist. The tremor in the voice of the sturdy gardener, and the flash in his eye as he told his story were ominous for a group of Germans should he chance upon them spade in hand.

Reading day by day of the desolation and devastation of what but yesterday was the fair and fruitful field and garden of Belgium, one recalls a verse quoted by Stevenson in his delightful "Travels with a Donkey." Passing through the country of the Camisards, a little more than 200 years ago, the scene of butchery excelled in modern days by cultured Germans, he recites the verse:—

> We travelled in the prints of olden wars,
> Yet all the land was green;
> And love we found and peace
> Where fire and war had been.
> They pass and smile the children of the sword,
> No more the sword they wield;
> And, O, how deep the corn
> Along the battlefield!

Among a multitude of cases of petty revenge taken by the Germans against harmless and helpless Englishmen, a striking one is supplied by the experience of Mr. Yerburgh, the popular member for Chester. Three months ago, at the bidding of his doctor, he, accompanied by his wife, repaired to Nauheim, a German watering place extolled for its treatment of heart disease. When war was declared, he naturally proposed to return home, but found his way rudely barred. The normal period of the Nauheim "cure" is three weeks. Mr. and Mrs. Yerburgh were compelled to stay for nearly three months, their visit being prolonged amid circumstances, especially detrimental to folk suffering from a weak heart. A week ago announcement appeared in the London newspapers that they had arrived at Zurich, and people wondered that after their grievous experience they should not hurry home. Explanation is forthcoming in a letter received yesterday from Mr. Yerburgh. He writes that after repeated solicitation he and his wife were permitted to leave Germany only upon their giving an undertaking to proceed to Switzerland and remain there for three weeks.

Why this condition was imposed is beyond the range of average comprehension. It is explicable only as a means of inflicting fresh indignity and inconvenience on a couple of the hated English. Mr. Yerburgh, writing from Vevey, whither he removed from Zurich, says his parole will expire on Sunday, when he hopes to commence his return journey home. Meanwhile, the strain of his daily life during the last 11 weeks has told severely upon a state of health for whose recuperation he in a luckless moment sought the "cure" at Nauheim. Lord Joicey, trapper at Homburg, under analogous circumstances, managed to escape with briefer term of imprisonment. But he, too, has a moving story to tell of German arrogance and spite.

Among the latest war news is a message from the far East announcing that the Crown Prince of Japan has presented to the British troops, operating with the Japanese before Tsingtao, a supply of sake. It would be interesting to know what Tommy Atkins thinks of this form of liquid refreshment. My recollection of personal acquaintance made with it during a visit to Japan is that it tasted something like the washing-out of a sherry decanter. The sturdy farmer asked how he liked a nip of old brandy served in a liqueur glass, said he would "tak some more in a moog." The national Japanese drink would have to be served out to Tommy in a bucket before he realised the homely feeling of "getting forrader."

A WOMAN'S LETTER.

Fashions for the Autumn.

LONDON, Oct. 23.

It seems almost indecent to touch upon fashion while we are so occupied with sterner matters, but what will you? The colder weather and dark days are upon us, and our clothes have to be seen to, do it as economically as you will. I must say that in the matter of prices the large houses of fashion have all reduced them to a most moderate extent.

I see really well-made tailor suits from five to seven guineas. The papers every morning come out with fresh appeals for money to help this or that new scheme, so it is necessary to economise in matters of dress. This is all the more easy because practically there is no entertaining going on. Women wear the usual tailor-made coat and skirt with a simply cut silk shirt open at the throat, with a turndown collar. It is not considered smart to wear chiffon or dressy blouses except for an afternoon reception, or in the evening. The day shirts are so neat and so well designed that they are as any one wishes. I see some of them made of striped washing silk, looking wonderfully like pyjama silk, and wide stripes. The fronts are sometimes of inverted stripes, or there is a deep rounded yoke of striped silk, but a great many are made on simple lines, all fastening in front with some pleats set into the back yoke on the shoulder line, wide armholes with the sleeve set on and double stitched on the outside. Stitchings are still much used in all the severer aspects of tailor work.

In Paris the designers are giving attention to what one may term the Russian style of costume. I was looking at some pictures of Cossacks, and thought how wonderfully their long, full-skirted coats resemble the new designs for our winter wear. Sensible, too, when women are clad so lightly "below vision." I often wonder how they can feel warm enough. The skirts are narrow and short, and these full coats and long tunics give an air of being worn over full trousers. A smartly turned-out A.B., with all his kit flying in the breeze as the wind catches his full-bottomed trousers, differs very slightly from a modern lady emerging from a fashionable shop. Velvet will be worn all the winter, and as a choice of colour—black. These costumes are made up with a long tunic and narrow skirt, and a sleeveless bodice, which has long, full sleeves of black ninon, and a vest softened with folds of ninon over fine shadowy cream or white lace. With such a costume the only ornaments needed are a string of pearls with a diamond clasp, a pair of diamond or pearl eardrops, and a brooch fastening the cross-over of the bodice. Hats are much as you like; that is to say, if your fancy turns towards a wide-brimmed canotier of velvet, with a ragged feather edging, you may have one; or if you prefer a tiny military style of toque, you choose from the headgear of the armies in the field. Of these the Scotch cap and the Belgian fatigue cap are prime favourites, fitting the head well, comfortable, and light to wear. The Belgian cap has a closely turned-up brim, which is generally bound with ribbon, and just a tiny cockade made of quilled ribbon set jauntily at one side.

I saw a charming little toque worn by an Australian woman, who always seems to get the exact thing. It was of very dark blue velvet, with a turned-up brim bound with plain blue ribbon with a corded edge. The shape came to a point in front, and on each side of this was fixed a tiny bird of brilliant colouring, a made-up artificial bird (I may remark), with orange, red, and black, with a few touches of green. It was delightfully simple little toque, and fitted the head in the usual manner. The crown was soft, and was sewn on to a side piece of the velvet, hidden by the brim, the top of the toque was sewn on plainly. I mean by all this writing that there were no gatherings or pleats on the crown.

I have just been thinking that this letter will find you all in the lightest of summer toilettes. And that while I write of velvet you will require silk or satin. But really one of these little toques carried out in a nice make of satin would be very smart. Glace silk and moire are always well worn in the summer for millinery purposes. The Napoleonic style of hat is also very fashionable for a medium sized hat. It should have a touch of galon, either in old gold or oxidised silver to define its angles, and the trimming should be almost confined to this. You can place a little cockade at one side, while the hat itself may be made of black satin or even white, if you put a lining to the brim of black velvet. This style of hat suits a woman of 50 or so, who has retained her line of figure, and whose hair is turning grey. For her it is quite the smartest of the new shapes. Girls will be wearing sailors made in pique, straw, glace silk, with outer brims of wired net, and also the Dolly Varden hat, which was much liked all this summer, laden with lovely flowers and tied with beautiful ribbons.

Sashes are playing an important part this year in all manner of ways. You cannot do better than pay some attention to the waist adornments that are worn. Large bows in front set on to swathed belts. Long dangling ends of silk or ribbon toning with the costume. Those of cloth to match a gown look well finished with hanging fringes of the large ball-shaped buttons. This will bring a welcome touch of colour into a toilette. I did up an old [illegible] the other day with a row of these [illegible] in bright green down the edge of [illegible] front. And I made a dangle for the w[illegible] the same stuff, with hanging fringes of green balls. It looks quite smart, and is put on over a plain black satin waistband. You just slip it on and fasten the belt, the two things are not attached.

THE MACQUARIE OBELISK.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The proposal by Alderman Griffin to renovate the Macquarie obelisk commends itself to many who, taking an interest in the past, desire to see preserved the few remaining links of early Sydney. Visitors, and possibly residents unacquainted with our history, wonder why the obelisk occupies so obscure a position. Placed on the extreme eastern side of the reserve, its base is lower than the surrounding ground, while the massive Moreton Bay fig trees on either side help to make it inconspicuous. It should, however, be remembered that when the obelisk was erected in 1818 it occupied an elevated position in the very centre of the reserve. It has not changed, the surroundings have. Streets now run across what was part of this reserve, and the land round about filled up, thus altering completely the original configuration. When Macquarie erected this monument his long regime was fast coming to a close. He had effected many improvements in the infant town, and was no doubt busy planning many others, notably the straightening of George-street from Essex-street to Dawes Point. At this time the Tank Stream was still Sydney's main water supply, and the houses in Macquarie-place had a water frontage or backage according to the way they faced. But my purpose is not to describe Sydney in the teens of last century, but to suggest that the renovation of the obelisk shall include its removal to the centre of the present reserve. It is but fitting that it should be given the pride of place it formerly held. The removal may solve the question as to why it was placed there. If simply as a starting point from which to measure the roads, other parts of the town would have suited just as well; say, Dawes Point or Barrack-square. If, on the other hand, as is averred by some historians, it was put there to mark the spot where Phillip landed, we have an excellent reason for its erection there. To me it seems not only singular, but incredible, that if it were so Macquarie failed to record the fact upon the stone. I have failed in my reading to find anything confirming this theory, perchance beneath the foundation-stone something might have been placed that will throw some light on this matter. If the obelisk is removed to the centre of the reserve I would suggest that a small cube of stone be placed on the exact spot where the obelisk now stands stating that fact, and the date of the removal. I am, etc.,

THE WAR-TIME STREETS OF LONDON.

COLOUR AND CHARM.

(BY ARTHUR MASON.)

LONDON, Oct. 22.

With the war at its height, London is now, more palpably than we have ever seen it, a city of stern and sober aspiration. And yet a city of more infinitely varied charm than we have ever known. All day long there are sights and sounds about us that are quite outside our accustomed, and of a most moving and picturesque appeal. For one thing, the flags of the Allies float from hundreds of windows. That of itself gives an unwonted touch of colour to the streets of the great grey city. And there are many other touches of colour. Notably, there are the official proclamations, with their constantly repeated call to arms printed in reds and blues, and spread before our eyes wherever we walk. And there are the pictorial reinforcements of that grave demand upon us, in thousands of shop windows, on the sidewalks, in any place where effect may be had from colour, whether it be the colour of a Union Jack, a battle-picture, or a postcard, a print of allegorical figures for our remembrance of the past, or a tricolour buttonhole ribbon for our regard of the present.

Most of us who roam London know what an incredible number of little shops are devoted to antiques, piled up odds-and-ends, pretty, or beautiful, or merely quaint, hidden away in streets where they are content to be hidden, making no display, never advertising themselves, but often of imperishable value, and known in their last lane and alley by the people who are interested in such decorative flotsam of life. All these shops have suddenly flamed into war interest. From who knows what dust old pictures of the past have been dug for our present inspiration, prints and sketches and cartoons of Napoleonic times, portraits of be-muffled and bemedalled heroes of the Crimea, personages of the Franco-Prussian prelude to the day we now are celebrating, and other, indescribable motley of historic personalia.

Sea-fights of Nelson and his captains—swarthy prints, wherein impenetrable smoke-clouds belch from the half-obliterated wooden walls which then were battleships—jostle for place with highly-coloured battle-pieces that reveal the Balaclava charge as a stately, full-dress affair, and the Iron Duke and his guards as stiffly picturesque groups of haughty men for whom the warfare of modern times offers no counterpart. There are gravely dignified presentments of Indian Mutiny combats as to which one knows not whether to admire most the stoical calm of figures bloodily engaged hand-to-hand, or the unflecked faultlessness both of their own attire and that of the accoutrements borne by their untroubled prancing chargers,—and there are flatteries innumerable of bland or amiable, or grim or ferocious warriors who were the army leaders of that day.

But bad art or good art, these were the pictures that helped the sailors and the soldiers of our forefathers to the popular glory they deserved, and bad art or good art they are uplifted now in the antique shop-windows of London, not only as curiosities, but as vivid chronicles of the fierce fighting times of other days. Beside them, too, in those windows are ranged other treasures from the inexhaustible archives of London's past,—warlike bric-a-brac, oddments of the spoils of foreign fields, old weapons, images, figures for use and figures for ornament,—all of it touched in some or other measure with the battle history of Britain. Books, too, countless books, have lifted out of dusty oblivion for our present edification, heavily-bound tomes that enshrine this and that great campaign, or tell the story of famous regiments that are fighting once more for England and fighting as gloriously as ever—illustrated books the resplendent colours of which display the hussar or the grenadier in all the brilliant array of blue and scarlet that once was his battle equipment, and is so no longer. Marvellous, of a truth, these grimly gay shop-windows of London that blazon the story of the past—and hardly less wonderful the swarming pictorial of other windows whose ware is the topical literature of the present. War pictures, war emblems, war keepsakes, are about us by the million.

But the shop-windows of London are but a fractional part of us. Outside them thunder the streets of London, never less than a fascination, never more than at present the splendid expression of a world's metropolis. Emerson might have said to-day of London as he said once of England: "In storm of battle and calamity she has a secret vigour and a pulse like cannon." Truly they leap with life these war-time streets of London. Strength, the throbbing masterfulness of strength newly aroused, is a dominating force within them. The very traffic on the highways seems energised, invigorated, purposeful. The stern vehicular of war goes heavily lumbering amongst it, crammed with impressive paraphernalia, and the streaming tide of movement is for ever banking itself up to give passage now to a battery of guns, now to a procession of transport waggons, now to a line of motor lorries piled high with military equipment. Not an hour goes by in which the tramp, tramp of soldiers is not heard in the streets. Seasoned soldiers go marching to the oblivion of unknown destinations. Recruits by the thousand go marching here, there, and everywhere, and sing or whistle as they march, till the streets are a ringing rhythm of movement. Every open space of park in London is filled with detachments of men learning to march, men fiercely energetic in physical exercises, men who, studying an intricate business, wave signal flags by the score to each other; men who sit tapping out their first achievements in field telegraphy. And always there are spectators, and always upon those spectators is the weight of war, from early morning, when the newspaper placards cry the battle news with a thousand tongues, till far into the night, when the weird white flash of a dozen searchlights is a shooting restlessness above the darkened city.

Not less the metropolis of the world, too, this London, and not less a bewildering fascination its central streets, by reason of its new great role of asylum. It should be easy for a city of seven and a half millions to absorb a few hundred thousand strangers. It is not so easy. They are about us on every hand, these troubled refugees from Belgium and these wanderers from Northern France. By this time recovered well enough from the first shock, absorbed by London, received into its capacious, kindly lap, accepted with warmly hospitable arms, but for all that a strange new portent, and filling every street with such a chatter of foreign language that even polyglot London stands to listen to it. French newspapers are freely cried in London to-day. French newspapers are printed and published in London. The London newspapers print columns of French advertisements, and other columns of news in Flemish.

There is humour enough about us, despite the note of sadness that is inescapable. The unaccustomed sight of Belgian uniforms arouses in the Cockney breast an unfailing quick sympathy, as genuine as the cheers that greet the Belgian pictures in the cinemas. But the sentiment of the Londoner is never far removed from laughter. There is plenty of wit still to be had in the streets. The toy-merchants on the kerbstone sell to-day, inconceivably, the penny Blue Book, and more than once I have heard them fiercely denouncing Governments for their neglect of Lord Roberts's warnings. "Ain't 'e told 'em abaht it years ago?"—was the burden of their bitterness. But they still possess a merry word for the Kaiser as they distribute his last will and testament, or sell, for twopence, his Iron Cross—and thus they epitomise the mood of London—as changeful as an April day. But London itself cannot be epitomised. It is at a wonderful height of its life. It was never so lifted out of itself. It was never more crowded with activity, more turbulent, more majestic. There is no anxiety in London, but much determination, and calm consciousness of latent strength. It is not the frivolously irresponsible city it was. Something of its effervescence has gone from it. But more than ever it is the great heart of that Britain of the secret vigour and the pulse like cannon.

THE NOVEMBER REVIEWS.

DR. DILLON ON THE WAR.

In the November number of the "Contemporary Review" Dr. E. J. Dillon remarks that the French army in the field has shown itself to be immeasurably superior to the French army as delineated in German staff reports, whilst Russia, too, has emerged from her obscurity transfigured, her generals respected, and her troops no longer called mobs or hordes. But the great German army machine is a tremendous thing to fight. Among Germany's assets is the marvellous mobility of her troops. Thanks to a network of strategic railways, she is able to throw 500,000 men from Russia into France, or vice versa, as they may be required. The Germans have special machines for digging trenches; while the Allies' forces have to delve laboriously in the slow, old way. The German spy system is another great asset. Germany is a nation of spies, and by way of encouraging espionage a German may become naturalised abroad without losing his nationality at home. As for Britain's part in the fighting, magnificent work is being done, but the size of our army is too small. Some time in the first half of the coming year we shall have a million men in the field, but they will be of much less relative value then than half a million thrown into the line to-day would be. The most favourable time for energetic exertion is the present. Dr. Dillon suggests that we should invite Japan to send troops to France. "It will hardly be gainsaid," he says, "that 500,000 thoroughly trained Japanese soldiers would turn the scale at the present conjuncture."

WOULD THE JAPANESE TAKE PART?

In an article on "The Full Value of the Japanese Alliance" in the "Fortnightly" the question of inviting Japan to send troops to France is discussed by "En Vedette." The Germans, he says, have not accomplished all that they expected, but they have succeeded far better than is sometimes admitted, and to turn the scale against them promptly and completely in the western theatre of the war the immediate presence of an additional army of 250,000 men is required. There is only one country that can send such an army of trained soldiers to the front at once, and that country is Japan. As reward, it is suggested that Japan could be assured the reversion to German East Africa, which would give her vent for her activities in a scene far removed from Australian and American susceptibilities.

WILL THE WAR SPREAD?

"Wars resemble conflagrations. Both have a natural tendency to spread, unless they are kept under strict control." These are the opening sentences of an article in the "Fortnightly," by "Fabricius." He suggests that the Germans, having taken Antwerp, will endeavour to seize the Flushing fortifications by a coup de main, pleading necessity; and as Holland cannot lose Flushing and yet maintain her neutrality, this would mean that she would be dragged into the war. Then there are indications that the force of public opinion will lead Italy to occupy the Italian territories of Austria-Hungary. Roumania is in a position similar to that occupied by Italy, and if she wishes to advance a claim on the unredeemed Roumanian provinces in Hungary, she must do so before it is too late. So Roumania may come in shortly. Then there is Bulgaria—she may be expected to follow a policy which promises to be most profitable to her, and she is not likely to be found on the losing side. An attack on Turkey by Greece is very probable. Before long, the armies of Holland, Italy, Roumania, Greece, and perhaps of Bulgaria also may be drawn into the war. All nations, it is added, are vitally interested in Germany's failure, and the United States may at last be forced to intervene in the interests of humanity, and of their own security.

RUSSIA AND THE WAR.

The greatest figure in Russia to-day, says "Anglitchanin," in the "Contemporary," is that of the Russian peasant, though hitherto he has counted least in the actions of the country as a whole; and with the more representative government that is promised Russia by the events of the past few months his word in the councils of the State will have a weight it has never had before. But the Russian peasant is not a warrior by instinct, and when this war is over he will throw his weight on the side of the peace-loving nations. There is no ground for the fear that Russia, if she wins, will become a swashbuckler among the nations, nursing such ambitions as those which, since 1870, have made Germany a menace to the peace of Europe. As in England and France, so in Russia, there has been a sudden unity of all parties, and to-day we find much of the Red Cross organisation in the hands of revolutionaries, who were in the habit of having their houses continually searched by the police. It is a changed Russia.

HOW BELGIUM SAVED ENGLAND.

Writing in the "Nineteenth Century," Mr. D. C. Lathbury says that if Germany had decided to respect the neutrality of Belgium, subordinating military to political considerations, in order to avoid giving England any direct cause for offence, the result would have been disastrous to us. Germany would have gone on with her design to defeat or win over France and Russia as a prelude to humbling England, and France and Russia, feeling that England had betrayed them, would have been angry enough to join in the project. To those who take this view of the war and of its origin, it is scarcely possible to overrate the obligations we are under to Belgium. The continuous and repeated sacrifices made by this heroic little nation have gone far to save England from a similar fate, and it will be for us to bear this in mind when the conditions of peace come to be settled.

AMERICA'S DIFFICULT PART.

Discussing the difficulties of American neutrality in the "Fortnightly," Mr. James Davenport Whelpley says Americans can be forgiven considerable perplexity at the present moment, for few of them are students of foreign politics, and whilst England is motherland to many Americans, Germany, France, Belgium, Austria, Servia, Russia, and other countries are the fatherlands of ten times as many. Notwithstanding the remoteness of America from the scene of battle, the American trading community, which in the twelve months preceding the war did a foreign business of nearly a billion sterling, now finds itself practically bottled up. The trade with England is partially guaranteed by her fleet, but even here there is a big drop, while that of other countries in Europe, neutral as well as belligerent, is in a fair way of extinction. Neutrality for a producing country like America is as costly as war, but if any country in the world remains neutral it will be America.

PERSONAL EXPERIENCES.

The "Nineteenth Century" contains two articles recording personal experiences at the war—the one by Mr. J. H. Whitehouse, M.P., who went over specially to study the conditions in Belgium, and the other by Dr. William A. Brend, who assisted in the removal of thousands of Belgian wounded from Ostend to England. According to Mr. Whitehouse, who is Parliamentary private secretary to the Chancellor of the Exchequer, the pictures of the cruelty practised and the devastation wrought by the Germans in Belgium are in no way overdrawn. The whole life of the nation has been arrested, and the food supplies which would ordinarily reach the civilian population are being taken by the German troops. No factories are working, no trade is done, and the bulk of the people have fled to other lands. Those who remain are without the necessaries of life, and the conditions of starvation grow more acute every day. Mr. Whitehouse refers to the courage, the genius, and the splendid heroism of King Albert—a revelation even to the Belgians themselves, and the inspiring factor in the national action. Dr. Brend's account of the sufferings of the Belgian soldiers is heartrending. Up to the time he wrote some 20,000 or more wounded Belgians had been brought over to England from Ostend and Dunkirk.

This artistic book of 228 pages measures 8½ by 6½ inches. It contains five full-page illustrations in colour, and six in black and white. Handsomely blocked in gold, and attractively boxed. Price 5/ (5/4 post free).

This is such a book as is rarely met with, and one which is rapidly making new friends. Australian children will welcome "The Spirit of the Child" because it will amuse and interest them. It was written for them by an Australian father and is sure to please. Read this Review, and judge for yourself:—

"This is a beautiful book. Not merely in printing and binding and general effect. The thought is beautiful, and the expression of the thought moves with beautiful grace. Here is nothing patronising or adroitly shallow; not the easy confidence of the expert, but the serene deep confidence of ripe comprehension that has realised itself untarnished. The book purports to be a collection of letters written to his children by a father on his travels. He writes naturally, with an unfailing tender reverence. His love of nature is a real thing, that glows on every page. There is nothing namby-pamby about the letters. They are written to intelligent children who can think in good English. The genuinely bewitching illustrations help the story. The good effect of the opening pages is delicately sustained throughout. There is nothing that jars in the book. An amazing thing.

"The book is delightfully fresh and singular and sweet, and I am enthusiastic about it. Get it for your children if you do not want it for yourself."
—The Triad.

CURRENT LITERATURE.

THE NEW FRANCE.

Abbe Ernest Dimnet has reason to congratulate himself. "France Herself Again" was written before the war had broken out, before even there was any whisper of war. The author's object was to show that of late years France, who too long had lived in dreams and wasted her energy in trivialities, had at last awakened, that she had passed through a sort of spiritual renascence, and that now her people, her army, and her national character were fitted to play a worthy part in any crisis that fate might bring. M. Dimnet did not imagine that his theories were so soon to be tested in the shock of war, but the soundness of his conclusions has been proved by the events of the past few months; and while the book was in the press he has been able to add a chapter in which he takes the opportunity of saying "I told you so" in the most graceful and inoffensive manner possible. Abbe Dimnet divides his subjects into two portions, he first deals with the degeneration of France, the second with her renascence. The turning point is the Tangier incident and the fall of Delcasse in 1905, which showed France whither she was tending. "We shall see this ... dually corrupted by false ideals and low morals, suddenly realising that while she stayed idle at home, wasting the precious hours in mere talk, others were scouring the world and gathering power whereby her independence appeared to be threatened. It is the story of an error and of the awakening from it with all the astonishments, hopes, and uncertainties which generally attend such a crisis."

The seeds of deterioration existed in the second Empire, but they first began to bear their poisonous fruit in the later 'Seventies. They showed themselves in a general slackening of national fibre, reflected in literature, art and politics. The aspiration of "La Revanche" was little by little forgotten, because forsooth it was vindictive and unworthy of an enlightened people. A spirit of scepticism, materialism, and pessimism was abroad; religion decayed and the admitted hostility of the authorities to the Church hastened the process. The so-called 'humanitarian" ideas of a succession of Governments deluded by fine sounding phrases, proved disastrous for the army. The army was under a cloud, military service became unpopular, the Dreyfus scandals brought further discredit on it, while both branches of the service were starved and lost tone. Socialists of the type of M. Combes, denied the possibility of war, because there had been 30 years' peace. The length of the training was reduced, and "as it was not a preparation for war, it had to be a training for something else." Since the soldier will never have to fight, let him learn a useful occupation. "Regiments became sorts of schools, while the officers were expected to teach their men all the arts of peace. Lectures were given to them frequently, some of which—on bee-keeping, pigeon-raising, or rabbit-breeding, for instance—would have been much better if they had been the work of experienced privates instead of the random effort of their chiefs to be useful, according to the new formula."

Delcasse was the man who was indirectly responsible for the awakening of France. He had deliberately initiated a policy of foreign alliances and understandings, which would inevitably lead sooner or later to a conflict with Germany. Thus, while the politicians were sedulously cultivating peace, the Foreign Minister was laying a train of gunpowder. It was an impossible situation, and it came to an end in 1905, when, as a result of the Tangiers affair, France had to choose between war with Germany, and the dismissal of Delcasse in submission to Germany's demands. It was an alternative only in name, for war would have spelt absolute ruin in the then state of the French army, so Delcasse was sacrificed. But the sacrifice was not in vain. France was moved to the very depths by this "unprecedented humiliation," as M. Clemenceau described it. Forgotten were the specious words of the Pacifists. "The veil was indeed lifted up, and the French had a clear view of the situation," says M. Dimnet. "The universal feeling was the consciousness of an immense absurdity. Pacifism had been a ridiculous farce. Because modern people too nervous to think of blood had thought of commerce and money instead, because a few dozen socialists in France and Germany had bragged that no fratricidal duel would henceforth be suffered, when they had their word to say; because Monsieur X. had been admired at a Congress of Peace, and Monsieur Y. meditated writing a crushing letter to the first monarch who should call his people to the flag, war had been regarded as an impossibility. But war at present was near at hand all the same. It mattered little that France had not wished for it, had never given a thought to it—there it was. One ship, half pleasure boat, half iron-clad, one man in a helmet not only meant it, but also meant the preposterousness of planning any resistance. Behind the yacht were scores of men-of-war built in a few years' time according to a single plan carried out by the same man, and provided with every modern improvement; behind the Monarch in a helmet there were all the German nations with their unique military training, their millions of men, and their formidable armament. How thoroughly foolish the anti-militarist doctrines appeared. If the French arsenals were empty, if the French officers were demoralised by espionage and petty molestation, if the army had been persuaded that it had every object except war, it was because those extraordinary leaders had been taken in by shallow paradox, of which many a plain farmer glancing at the newspaper had seen at once the futility."

So France, roused from her fool's paradise, resolved to alter her national mode of life, and France does nothing by halves. M. Dimnet comments on the remarkable speed with which she has adopted utterly different ideals and observes the symptoms of rejuvenation in every branch of national activity. Thus foreign affairs, from receiving scant attention in the press, have now become one of its principal features. The tone of literature is more healthy. Throughout France a spirit of bracing optimism has replaced the cynical scepticism of a decade ago; the appeal of the Bergsonian philosophy is significant in this connection. The French youth is also a very different person. He no longer aspires to be the dilettante trifler or the spoiled darling of the boudoir; he has taken up sport of every kind with a wholesouled enthusiasm, and his pose is now that of the strong, silent man of action. Most of all is the change reflected in the army. The dormant military spirit revived; all ranks began to take an interest in soldiering. The technical conclusions of the Russo-Japanese War, which emphasised both the necessity of giving the men habits of decision and initiative, and the superiority of offensive over defensive tactics peculiarly suited the French temperament. "The yearly manoeuvres which reservists had formerly been glad to shirk were accepted as treats. Garrison towns like Toul, Verdun, and Luneville, and the lonely parts in the vicinity—places the very names of which used to sound disagreeably in the ears of the recruits—became in great demand." The officers unite in saying that the men they have commanded since 1905 are utterly different from those prior to that date, while the men's attitude towards their officers has also changed. "Their impressions used to be confined to trivial or merely funny remarks about the officers' personal disposition, and its effect upon daily barrack life. Now the soldiers would discuss their chiefs entirely from the professional point of view, and in most cases their appreciations applied wonderfully to the military—not the parade ground—value of their officers. Once more the army was a school for war, not peace."

NAPOLEON THE GAOLER."

"Napoleon the Gaoler," by Mr. Edward Fraser, possesses a topical as well as a historical interest. He tells us how Napoleon treated his prisoners of war, and if report speaks true, the Germans are repeating those methods, which a century ago were so bitterly condemned in the French. Between the years 1803 and 1814 some half a million of men passed the frontiers of France as captives. Of these less than 12,000 were British, a remarkably low figure when one remembers that throughout that period Britain was continually at war with Napoleon, both on sea and land. More remarkable still, comparatively few of these had been taken in fight. A third were civilians, the crews of merchantmen who had been captured by French frigates and privateers. Of the naval men who fell into Napoleon's hands nine-tenths were the victims of shipwreck off the coast of France or Holland or of strandings under fire while on blockade duty, or when chasing French vessels in-shore. Practically the only British prisoners of war who were neither non-combatants nor castaways were stragglers, taken during Sir John Moore's disastrous Corunna campaign, and the ill-fated Walcheren expedition.

The British captives had hardships to endure, but they were reasonably well treated on the whole. Their sufferings were nothing at all compared to those of the Continental prisoners. The reason of this was not far to seek. Napoleon had no special tenderness for the British, but he feared reprisals. For every Briton in France there were a dozen Frenchmen in Britain, and in these circumstances considerate treatment was a wise policy. However, no such scruples weighed with him in the case of Prussian, Austrian, and Spanish prisoners. There was small chance of reprisals from countries shattered at Ulm, Austerlitz, and Jena. "These prisoners have cost me dearly," said Napoleon to his director of public works. "See that you make use of them." Certain of them were given the opportunity of forswearing their nationality and taking service in the French foreign legions. The remainder were condemned to servitude as hewers of wood and drawers of water for their captors. They had to toil as field labourers and in the employ of municipalities for their keep, and miserable keep it was. Gangs of them were sent round the country to get in the harvest. But the supply was in excess of the demand, and to save the keep of the surplus Napoleon sent them in large batches to Spain and Holland. Many thousands were forcibly enlisted in the Spanish and Neapolitan armies. If any one objected, he received a very short shrift. "It's a bad joke to say that prisoners won't work," Napoleon used to say on these occasions. An order was issued that all strikers were to be treated as convicts sentenced to penal servitude, used for the roughest and most arduous work obtainable, and shot down if they still proved recalcitrant.

The British fared much better. At first Napoleon had tried to enlist them in his own armies, but he found that the majority of them promptly deserted back again to their own flag, so he gave this up, and interned them in various fortresses or depots. Many of them suffered abominably, but their treatment was, generally speaking, fairly lenient. Where the contrary was the case it could usually be traced to the personal malice of some tyrannical and ill-conditioned commandant. Mr. Fraser's book contains a series of narratives culled from the diaries and memoirs of some of these prisoners. They describe life in the officers' depot at Verdun and in the dungeons of Bitche and Sedan, attempted escapes which sometimes succeeded, but more often failed, the diversions with which they relieved the tedium of captivity, and the whole makes wonderfully vivid and interesting reading. (Methuen and Co.)

AUSTRALASIAN BIRDS AND BEASTS.

"Friends and Foes in the Australian Bush" is a delightful book by Mr. E. S. Sorenson, who is doing for the fauna of this land what Seton Thompson has done for that of America. Others can claim faithfully to have observed the habits of the denizens of the bush, and to possess as thorough a knowledge of our natural history as Mr. Sorenson, but the attraction of his book lies in the human interest with which he has invested the subjects. These birds and animals are not simply "specimens" to the author, but sentient creatures with joys and sorrows of their own. He gives the life stories of some eighteen of them, life stories in which humour and pathos are to be found in equal proportion. We are told how Spotty, the bower bird, the collector of the bush, indulges his hobby and arranges his museum; how Narran, the lyrebird, the bush-entertainer, gives his wonderful impersonations of well-known identities on a leafy stage; how Jack, the jovial kookaburra, plays cup and ball with the snake; how Warrigal, the dingo, reverts to type after an interlude of civilisation; how Kojurrie, the goanna, defies the venom of Nurai, the black snake. But most of these stories have a tragic ending. Nature is still red with tooth and claw, and pursues her ruthless cycle of revenge. The greater prey upon the less in their turn to be destroyed by one greater still. Bluey, the wren, is slain by the butcher bird, but is avenged by the eagle. Kojurrie makes a meal of Quiyan, the 'possum, but he meets death at the hands of man. Indeed, the most terrible foe of the inhabitant of the Australian bush is that unaccountable creature homo sapiens, who kills now for food, now to rid the land of vermin, now for "sport," and very often for no reason at all. A feature of the book is the admirable illustrations by Mr. E. E. Barker. (Whitcombe and Tombs.)

In "Mutton Birds and Other Birds," Mr. H. Guthrie Smith gives the fruits of his observations in Stewart Island and elsewhere in New Zealand. The author belongs to that new type of sportsman whose weapon is not a gun but a camera. Armed with this he stalks his prey. Before he comes into range he must summon up all the resources of patience, skill, and perseverance required of one whose object is to kill. At last he has his reward in a favourable chance of a snapshot, and while he rejoices in the possession not of a corpse but of a photograph, it may be gathered that this arrangement suits the quarry excellently. In this way he was able to observe and record the habits of all the varieties of birds which go to make Stewart Island and other "sanctuaries" provided by the New Zealand Government, and has embellished the book with a series of pictures which are probably quite unique of their kind. We can see the preposterous kiwi engaged in his favourite pastime of digging a hole in the ground, or the weka indulging his passion of curiosity, which often makes a thief of him, of skua gull nestlings, which resemble a platypus more than anything else, or a male fern bird assisting his wife to hatch the eggs all unconscious that their domestic intimacies had a witness.

Mr. Guthrie Smith makes an eloquent plea for the more systematic protection of bird life. Where a thing possesses commercial value it is jealously guarded from extinction, whether it be animal or vegetable. But birds have received less attention. The author is not a mere sentimentalist. He admits that there is no more cruelty in the killing of humming birds than in the slaughter of turkeys, but there is this difference: "In the one case there is the possibility of the annihilation of a species, and in the other no likelihood of such an event." No doubt humanity can survive without the rarer and more recluse birds, but man does not live by bread alone—it is impossible to acquiesce in their extinction on that ground. Humanity could also survive without art, music, and literature, and any of the graces of life. (Whitcombe and Tombs).

CLASSICAL LITERATURE.

After reading Dr. W. Warde Fowler's "Roman Ideas of Deity" it is not difficult to understand why the faith which sprang up in an unimportant colony and found its disciples at first among the humble and the outcast should have so speedily dominated the whole of the Roman Empire. The Empire had religions, but it had no religion. It had no creed which stood as a principle of existence. The old philosophical conceptions inherited from Greece had lost their appeal. The old beliefs, which had embodied ethical standards, had proved powerless against the growing materialism of the age. Whatever men may say or think, they must have a religion of sorts to satisfy a deep-rooted instinct of humanity. Neither the outworn beliefs of the past nor the polychromatic forms of worship which world conquest had brought to Rome satisfied this instinct in the Roman, and hence neither mockery nor proscription could prevent the Roman from accepting the Christian doctrine, which promised to give him what he needed.

Dr. Warde Fowler deals with Rome during the last century, before the Christian era, when it was becoming "the sink of nations" to which all people flowed, bringing with them their foreign esoteric creeds. Vesta, Penates, and Genius, the domestic deities, were still worshipped among the austere and old-fashioned, but side by side with them flourished Isis, Mithras, Cybele, and others, who had introduced an Oriental and alien element into contemporary religious thought. Out of all these it is difficult to disentangle what conception the average Roman possessed of "deity" in our sense of the word. The author comes to the conclusion that there were at least four ways in which by conviction and practice the Roman and Italian of the last century B.C. seem to have dimly realised this idea. The first of these was in the worship of the family, personified in the hearth, the head of the family, and so forth, which "continued to express in some degree the inheritance of traditional animism passing at one or two points into something near akin to what we call divinity." The second was the worship of the State as an abstract tutelary deity. Thirdly, there was a growing habit in that age, so full of uncertainty for life and property, to reject the old ideas of some protecting power, whether of family or State, and to recognise only the principle of blind chance or irresistible fate, which eventually were looked on as deities. And finally, most universal of all, there was the tendency to apply to men of exceptional position, talent, or benevolence, the outward forms of religion, as though they were indeed deities, and gradually to elevate them into the place once held, as helpers, and protected by the old State gods, regarding them with faith and hope as the saviours of society." These various aspects of Roman religion are discussed at length by the author, and his book is a monument of scholarship and research. (Macmillan and Co.).

In "Demosthenes," the latest addition to the "Heroes of the Nation" series, Mr. A. W. Pickard Cambridge has written an admirable biography of the great Greek statesman. Though Demosthenes flourished more than twenty-two centuries ago, the part he played in the political life of his time seems curiously modern. He saw Greece proper divided into cliques and coteries of mutually jealous States, while in the north a great power was arising in the shape of Macedonia. He knew that the time would come when Macedonia would menace the very existence of Athens, and he set himself to make his fellow citizens realise their peril. In season and out he attacked Philip in words which remain masterpieces of oratorical invective; he impeached Athenean Macedonophiles in the law courts; he besought Athens to send aid to sorely pressed buffer States; he finally persuaded Athens into war.

As we know, it was all in vain. The tide of Macedonian invasion was not to be stemmed, though all that human man could do was done by Demosthenes. The verdict of history is divided. Some see in him the victim of a delusion, the magnificent champion of a lost cause, who tried Canute-like to stay the progress of the sea, and did not grasp the truth that the political centre of gravity of Greece had now set definitely and permanently to the north. To others Philip suggests Napoleonism and Demosthenes its ideal opponent. Mr. Pickard Cambridge is of their number. In his eyes Demosthenes may claim to be ranked among the heroic men of the past, and his claim rests upon "the constancy and sincerity with which he defended the noblest thing known to the Greeks—that of Hellenic liberty." (Putnam and Co.; Melville and Mullen.)

SOME NEW NOVELS.

"Sylvia Saxon," by Ellen Melicent Cobden, is a clever study of the Nemesis which eventually overtakes egotism. For the fate of her daugher Sylvia's mother is in a measure responsible. Rachel Saxon is a wealthy woman of considerable force of character and self-sufficiency. Sylvia is the child of her widowed middle-age, and the apple of her eye, for whom everything must be sacrificed. Sylvia wants a playmate; then Anne, one of a large and necessitous family, is adopted to minister to her desires, though Anne must clearly understand in her childish way that she is not Sylvia's equal. So Sylvia grows up a thoroughly objectionable young person, with a tremendous idea of her own importance, and a hearty contempt for the vulgarity and materialism of the provincial society in which she finds herself. Her awakening comes in the shape of an Apollo, whom she marries, and her love for him leads her to forget her selfishness, and to subordinate herself entirely to him. Had he been anything of a man he might have made a woman out of Sylvia, but unfortunately this Apollo develops the qualities of a Silenus, and Sylvia's regeneration is nipped in the bud. She finds her affinity in one Lessingham, a rising politician, thereby shattering the dreams of the gentle Anne, whose only fault is that she wears her tender little heart on her sleeve. But in Lessingham Sylvia also finds one who is a match for her in selfishness and egotism. He professes an ardent passion for her, but he is not prepared to sacrifice his career by running away with her openly. If she will wait a few days until he has fulfilled some important engagements, and made the necessary arrangements, they will drink deep of happiness in France, but not till then. Sylvia's pride will have none of this, so they part, he to his carefully cherished successes, she to face the dreary vista of the blank years which stretches before her. Her punishment is not too hard when we think of the tragedy of Anne. The story is a clever one, and the characters, good, bad, and indifferent, are skilfully drawn. (Fisher Unwin.)

Australia can boast quite a number of authors who can always be relied upon to write excellent stories of Australian life for children, both Australian and further afield. One of these is Miss Mary Grant-Bruce, whose "Gray's Hollow" will add to the list of her admirers. We are introduced to a country doctor and his offspring, upon whom is inflicted a visit from three small cousins from the city. As a rule, it is the country cousin who shows to disadvantage in local fiction, but Miss Grant-Bruce gives us the other side of the picture. The young metropolitans have many lessons to learn. It is only after they have been pulled out of various tight corners by their more experienced relations that they begin to reveal the better side of their natures, and agree to settle their mutual differences. The author writes with a thorough knowledge of the youthful character, and her story is sure to be popular. (Ward, Lock, and Co.)

"Jetsam" is the title of a collection of readable short stories by Mr. Victor Bridges. The author has some favourite types. For instance, there is the young, exquisite, who frequents races, parades Bond-street, and generally imitates the lilies of the field, but is able to rise to the occasion and meet disaster with a smiling face. Another figure in his gallery of characters is the rolling stone, who returns from the wild places of the earth to find the chains of convention rather galling. Fortunately for his peace of mind he meets a kindred spirit of the opposite sex, and jointly they contrive to make the trammels of civilisation more bearable. The author has a soft place in his heart for a resourceful rogue. Two of the most effective stories in the book deal with escaped convicts. One of them finds a clergyman's costume in a box of theatrical properties and does himself extremely well at the local hostelry (incidentally he astonishes the proprietor and staff thereof), before he voluntarily surrenders himself. Another owes his freedom to a proficiency at football, acquired in happier days, which helps him in a most unexpected maner. The stories are told in a workmanlike fashion, and Mr. Bridges possesses a vein of humour which is distinctly refreshing. (Mills and Boon; G. Robertson.)

In "The Wall of Partition," Mrs. Florence L. Barclay makes a somewhat exiguous plot do service for a substantial novel. The book tells of certain incidents in the life of a man and a woman who have loved and parted on account of the usual "misunderstandings." After ten years of separation they unknowingly take adjacent flats in a building, where the telephone is the unconscious instrument of bringing them together, for their conversations through "the wall of partition" eventually led to their happy reunion. In order to eke out the thinness of the motif she introduces rather irrelevant complications and characters, the latter of which are remorselessly killed off when there is no further need for their services. In view of the success of "The Rosary," the "Wall of Partition," will doubtless enjoy a wide vogue, but it is rather difficult for the ordinary person to see why. (Pearsons: G. Robertson.)

MUSIC AND DRAMA.

In London, where revivals are all the rage, there was, nevertheless, a new four-act play produced at the Lyric Theatre on October 29, under the title of "The New Shylock," by Herman Scheffauer. The action is laid in the home of Simon Ehrlich, an East-end New York Jewish pawnbroker. Sorrows overtake him. His daughter accepts a Gentile lover, his son is ruined in Wall-street, and robs his father's safe, and the stern old man's young second-wife leaves him through weariness of his hard and narrow uprightness. The last act sets all right. The young lovers are happily married, the son takes to hard work on the Canadian wheatfields, with a fortune in sight, and the girl-wife returns to her grim lord and master with the news that she is about to bear him a child. The attraction of the play consists in the Mosaic grandeur and genuine nobility of the aged Ehrlich, finely suggested by Mr. Louis Calvert. The essential idea is that of a Shylock turned into a Russian Jew, pawnbroking in the New York ghetto in this year of grace, and what will he be like? According to the London "Daily Telegraph," Miss Madge Titheradge realised with startling truth the look of the slightly-faded Jew pawnbroker's daughter, and there was a pathetic beauty in her acting. Mr. Lionel Atwill was breezy as the Christian lover, and Miss Edyth Olive played with force and significance as the young wife. The "Pall Mall Gazette" complains of the behaviour of a considerable section in pit and gallery, whose silly laughter had to be hushed down by their neighbours. Powerful acting of a serious subject did not touch "those gigglers," and the writer declares that such behaviour has become frequent at London theatres. The general reception of the new piece was enthusiastic.

Mr. Harry Whaite, the well-known scenic artist, returned here by the Ophir on Wednesday, after an eight-months' visit to the old country. The traveller at once rejoined his partner, Mr. George Dixon, in painting a tableau of the exterior of Haddon Hall for Nellie Stewart's appearance on Boxing Night (Theatre Royal), in the romantic drama "Dorothy o' the Hall." Mr. Whaite was in Paris during the third week of the war, travelling there from Bordeaux, and showing his passport at every stop. As an ally, he heartily shared in the anxieties of his French friends at finding the Germans only 40 miles from their capital. Back in London he visited an encampment near Tilbury, where he saw a great many German prisoners of war smoking, playing cards, and singing in great contentment. On his way back to Australia Mr. Whaite had his last glimpse of the great war in the romantic vision of 27 transports in charge of two cruisers entering the Gulf of Suez at sunset with Indian troops, all silhouetted against the golden sky in an enchanting manner. As regards scenic art, the most interesting improvement since his last visit to London was the revolving stage at the Coliseum, which moved round at the touch of a lever with three complete sets on it, and the artists in place. Mr. Whaite also spent some time in the studio of Mr. Joseph Harker and his son, Philip, who were painting wonderful scenery for Oscar Asche's South African drama, "Mameena"; and he was present at the first night. He found Mr. Ernest Collins, last in Australia for George Musgrove, managing at the Queen's Theatre, where "Potash and Permutter" was much enjoyed. Mr. Whaite and his wife also saw "My Lady's Dress" at the Royalty, showing the scenes surrounding the weaving and making of a dress "from the cradle to the grave," so to speak, all highly artistic. Many other theatres were visited with pleasure, and some fine scene-painting, much passable, and less that was poor, greeted the travellers.

When the Gilbert-Sullivan Repertoire Company begins at Auckland the Christmas tour of New Zealand it will be under the genial care of Mr. Richard Stewart, who will then make the round of the Dominion for the 99th time as business manager for J. C. Williamson, Ltd. Middle-aged playgoers remember "Dick Stewart" as a capable actor. He and his sister Nellie were boy and girl together in "Rainbow Revels," with two other sisters (Maggie and Docy) under their parents' direction, and this smart entertainment took them to London and all round the world. Young Stewart was known as "Dick" to distinguish him from his father Richard Stewart, who after his retirement from the stage was esteemed as a business manager with the Williamson firms. It was during Essie Jenyns' Shakespearean seasons that Dick Stewart made his mark as the Clown in "Twelfth Night," Mercutio, Don Pedro, and Jaques. He then appeared a great deal in melodramas with the big firm, on various occasions he supported Maggie Moore, and was frequently engaged for the Julius Knight seasons, more especially for the duel in "Under the Red Robe," in which his skill as a swordsman was of service. In New Zealand he became treasurer of the Julius Knight Company, and his first managership was with "A Trip to Chinatown," with Harry Conor and Hugh Ward as principal comedians. Since then Mr. Stewart has resided much in the Dominion, with occasional visits to his many friends in Australia. He was in Sydney for the first night of the "Mikado," and he takes a particular interest in "Patience," in which he was the original Major Murgatroyd for Adelaide, a character previously played in Melbourne by John Forde.

Mr. H. N. Southwell, whose letters from Milan, Rome, and Paris, were so vivid in their joyous observation, followed by first impressions of England which keenly interested his many friends on this side, seems to be prolonging his stay in London. He writes under date October 30, upon the great pulsating life of a metropolis that seems almost independent of wars. "The great centres of London, commencing with the Bank, are just as thronged as ever, and even Leicester Square, so different, and yet so flashing, with its characteristic life, does not seem much duller. Though the musical critics aver that concerts are comparatively few in number, I am amazed at the choice available, and have not time to go to more than two or three a week. Frequent visits to the Queen's Hall, Promenades, excellent orchestral concerts given nightly for 10 weeks, satisfied me that business was good. Yet a professional musician assured me that the players' salaries had been much reduced. If this be true, I should consider it, on my own experienced valuation of the houses, not justified. Last Saturday afternoon I went to a Patriotic Concert at the Royal Albert Hall, and heard some of London's best singers, who could not redeem a programme in which the old numbers were distressingly worn, and the new ones distressingly poor. The massed bands of the Brigade of Foot Guards (Grenadiers, Coldstreams, Scots, and Irish), proved splendidly imposing, and an audience of nearly 10,000 joined in the National Anthem, and in "Tipperary." However, I really went, as doubtless did many others, for the sake of Adelina Patti. I had never heard her, and was surprised at her still wonderful singing—so much purity and comparative strength of tone in "Voi che Sapete," and "Home, Sweet Home." She must be a very considerable age, I suppose, though I forget the exact date." Mr. Southwell's favourable comment, and he is a good judge, is certainly unexpected, since Mme. Patti was born in Madrid as long ago as February, 1843. Records show that she electrified London audiences in Royal Italian Opera as Amina, in May, 1861, and sang through the season in all the light opera roles. This would make her an accomplished debutante at 18 years of age, which, as the daughter of operatic artists, is credible. One thing is clear—that the diva is not less than 71 years of age, and that her voice has lasted far beyond the period of other great singers. Mmes. Albani and Nordica showed failing powers in Australia more than a decade earlier in life, and such in usually the case. The London press is very kindly to old favourites, and righly so. Visitors are correspondingly impressed. Two years ago we were reading that Santley "sang as well as ever" on this or that occasion; yet the veteran baritone was 55 when he gave the first concert in the Sydney Town Hall (newly-opened) in 1889!

CHAPTER XXI.—Continued.

The man pressed back amongst his fellows. "You were one of the leaders just now in the rush upon this dais, but you are evidently a man of action, not of words," she said a little contemptuously. "Come, there must be some among you who know why you have rioted."

"Your Highness——"

"Are you their spokesman, Cousin?" she asked, turning to the Prince.

"I am Captain of your Guard, your Highness, and speak in that capacity. Crowds will press in the streets if there is a procession through them. At certain points the pressure may grow great and inconvenient, but that is no excuse for drawing swords upon the citizens. There may be other grievances to deal with—I am not a Burgomaster; but this was the reason for the riot to-day. I accuse Captain Saxe and the troopers he has bribed to obey him. I accuse the men brought into Metzburg by the Elector, who himself stands at this moment with naked weapon in your Rathaus."

"When did you draw your sword, Cousin?" and she pointed at the weapon in his hand.

"A moment before you came, and it was drawn against the traitors who hold this dais."

"In a Captain of the Guard too much diplomacy savours of weakness and neglect of duty," the Duchess answered. "It was the duty of the escort to defend his Highness the Elector. You will not try to persuade me that he was not in danger?"

"There would have been no danger but for those who stand about him now," Karl answered. "The Guard was there to do its duty, not to attack a peaceful crowd."

A loud murmur of approbation came from the hall. Saxe watched the crowd keenly, and the trooper with the bandaged head shifted his position. He was strangely alert the Elector noticed, and watched the Duchess as though he expected her next words would precipitate the danger.

"A peaceful crowd!" exclaimed the Duchess. "How comes it then that I see so many armed?" And she pointed in the direction of the man who had drawn back from being spokesman. "Did they come out peaceably, only intent on watching a passing procession?"

"I have said there may be other grievances," said Karl.

"And you are no Burgomaster. Come, Burgomaster, can you tell us what these grievances are?"

Von Lehmann made an effort to pull himself together, but before he could speak a man had stepped forward from the crowd.

"Your Grace, may I say a word?"

The Duchess motioned to the Burgomaster to stand back.

"Speak, friend. You look an honest man."

"A smith, your Grace, and not one to push myself forward," answered the man. "I have waited for those who know more than I do to speak, but since no one will, why——"

"Andreas the smith! Speak up, Andreas. We're with you, Andreas."

The cries of encouragement came from various parts of the hall.

"Common consent makes you spokesman," said the Duchess. "Speak plainly and without fear."

"I carried no arms to-day, your Grace," he said, spreading out his hands to show they were empty, "but there have been hints and whispers in the market-place and in workshops that there was dissatisfaction in the city. I looked not to see any fighting in the streets, but I did think there might be groaning instead of cheering. It was said your Grace would use the Feast of St. Winifried to carry through some purpose which would not be for the city's good, for the people's good. I know nothing of that purpose, for we of the workshops take things as they come—grumbling sometimes maybe, but loyal for all that. But there was another whisper, which it seems had some truth in it. What was he of Brandenburg doing in our city of Metzburg? That was the question. We have heard enough not to love him overmuch, and hold that, but for Your Grace, we should have been crushed under Brandenburg's heel by this time. What does he here then? And there have been plenty to answer that question. He was here to have his will of us, to bribe or force us under the yoke, to show his power in Metzburg. The people would stop that. The people would show their teeth because Your Grace had let him come and were to blame."

"Aye, Andreas speaks the truth," said the crowd.

"Some of it seems true at any rate," said the smith, "or why have those who are with the Elector killed Metzburg citizens? Isn't that proof enough? Had we known there would be fighting in the streets more of us would be carrying weapons. That's our grievance, Your Grace, and we want justice of the men who stand there with you, ready to cut us down."

"And give us that devil first," shouted a voice from the back of the hall.

The Duchess did not know who was meant, and she took no special notice of the man with the bandaged head whose back was towards her as he watched and waited for the first sign of renewed attack.

"I know not who set going these hints and whisperings," she said. "Andreas the smith has spoken like an honest man, and we would answer him just as honestly. It is true that I would use the Feast of St. Winifred for a special purpose this year. I thought it was well known to you all what that purpose was. Maids plight their troth on St. Winifred's Day, and your Duchess would be one with the maids of Metzburg and name her a husband then. She may not choose quite as other maids can—and in this matter would be just a woman and no duchess were that possible—but at the feast she will choose and ask her people's acceptance of her choice; and this she swears: that no man who does not love Podina, or who is hateful to her people, shall have her hand in marriage."

There was a shout of acclamation.

"Andreas the smith has heard whisperings of some other purpose," she went on slowly. "I believe he speaks no more than the truth; but whoever started such a whisper has lied. If we find him presently I promise—from this chair in the Rathaus I promise that justice shall be done to him."

She seemed so certain of her power that those who had heard the whispers, and had helped to spread them, instinctively sought to be inconspicuous.

"Also it is a lie that His Highness of Brandenburg is in Metzburg to aid me in any unlawful purpose, or to cause dissension amongst my people," she continued, still in a calm voice, as if she were totally unconscious of the stormy passions about her. "He is our honoured guest, and to-day should have been received by you with acclamation, for he goes southward to war against the French, our enemies as well as his. It is true that in the past there have been differences between Podina and Brandenburg, hard words between us, but they are forgotten. Had His Highness not known that the quarrel was a thing of the past, would he have dared to enter Metzburg with a dozen men? Would he have been fool enough, think you, to trust his safety to a dozen men—eight men now since he has used four of them to carry despatches to Berlin and towards Alsace—if he were here for the purpose of raising riot?"

"Why is he here?" came the question from the back of the hall.

The Duchess's eyes quickly sought the speaker, but he was content to shout the question without revealing his identity.

"He is here as my guest, at my invitation," she said, a note of anger sounding for the first time in her calm voice.

"Then how dare he draw sword against us?" came the quick question.

"Aye, that's what we should know, Your Grace," said Andreas, who still stood apart from the crowd.

With a sudden fury which hushed the crowd to silence again, the Duchess pointed to the armed men who were grouped together, only waiting for the opportune moment to storm the dais.

"Do you, Andreas, and you who are honest men here, associate yourselves with this rabble? Look at them! Have they toiled in the shops with you? Have you bargained with them in the market-place, or drunk wine with them in the tavern? Look at them! Is not the mark of their calling upon them? You may meet them prowling the streets in the night, looking for a victim; you may meet them on a lonely road outside the city, ready to attack an honest traveller; or you may find them lurking in the forest bent on plunder. What do they here in Metzburg? Where are your eyes, Burgomaster, that you have not known how these men have crept into the city to be the tools of those who have lied to my honest people, those who have attempted to undermine their loyalty? It was against such a rabble that the sword was drawn, drawn in defence, by these few brave men. Why the Guard failed in its duty and left the sword in the scabbard, we shall inquire presently."

It was an intense moment; the issue hung on a single thread which might snap at any instant. The Duchess had thrown down the challenge to divide honest men from villains.

"Ready!" whispered Saxe, and the man with the bandaged head moved a little nearer to the Duchess that he might the more easily spring forward to defend her.

IN THE GARDEN.

VERONICAS.

The genus Veronica includes a number of species, consisting for the most part of hardy evergreen shrubs and herbaceous perennials, many of them being indigenous to New Zealand and Australia. The shrubby kinds grow from 2ft to 6ft high or more, and the herbaceous ones from 1ft to 3ft. The flowers, which are produced on the upper branches and branchlets, are variable in colour even in the same species, but the prevailing hues are blue, bright red, rose, purple and white. The season has been favourable for the growth of both the shrubby and herbaceous kinds and many of them have been flowering profusely for some time, and are still freely producing their pretty flowers. The popular name of these plants is "speedwell," but they are better known to amateur and professional gardeners under the generic name Veronica. Both the shrubby and perennial Veronicas can be successfully grown over a great part of the State, the exceptions for the former being the dry, hot districts, and the very cold ones, and for the latter the arid parts. All these plants are easily cultivated, doing well in almost any situation, in deep, friable, fertile soil, but they respond to liberal treatment. Veronica decussata with white, and V. diosmaefolia, with lavender flowers, are two New Zealand species with short, narrow leaves, and make capital hedge plants. With a little care they grow very dense, and can be clipped into any desired shape. All the shrubby kinds are admirably adapted for growing in the shrubbery, and if judiciously planted produce a pleasing effect when in bloom. The dwarf perennials may either be planted at intervals near the margin of the shrubbery, or in the herbaceous border. The best time to plant the shrubby kinds is in early autumn, and the herbaceous ones in late winter or early spring. Some good shrubs are: V. andersonii, blue and violet flowers (there is a form of this plant with beautifully variegated leaves, but it should be grown in a rather shady situation); V. buxifolia, white; V. formosa, pale blue; V. hulkeana, lavender; V. kermesina, mauve; V. lindleyana, purple or white; V. lobelioides, blue; and V. speciosa, blue and purple. There are two very beautiful varieties of the last species—Imperialis, with flowers of a brilliant amaranth red, changing to magenta, and Rubra, with rose-coloured ones. Some good herbaceous perennials are: V. derwentia, blue and white flowers; V. longifolia, lilac, V. perfoliata, blue and violet, streaked with purple; V. spicata, bright blue; and V. teucrium, intense blue.

FEATHERED COCKSCOMBS.

The feathered cockscombs are highly ornamental, easily cultivated annuals, well worth a prominent position. They grow from 3 to 4 feet high, and on their numerous branches produce elegant plumes, varying in colour from rich golden yellow to brilliant crimson. The plumes of some varieties are erect, whilst in others they have a graceful pendulous habit, but all of them are singularly attractive when in flower. Although the feathered cockscombs attain perfection only in the coast districts, they can be successfully grown in the open in summer and early autumn in favourable positions in the cooler parts. Now is the season to plant the first batch of seedlings, which thrive in deep, well-worked, light, rich soil, in a sunny and sheltered situation. They produce the most gorgeous effect when grown in masses, but they show to great advantage when planted singly at intervals in the borders. Whether grown in large or small groups the seedlings should be planted from 3 to 4 feet apart to allow room for perfect development. It will be advisable to plant two seedlings near each other, so that if anything should happen to one of them, there would be no blank spaces. Should all the seedlings grow it will be an easy matter to thin out the weaker and less promising ones when they are a few inches high. Beyond keeping the young plants clean of weeds, and giving them an occasional good watering at the roots and overhead in dry weather, no attention in the way of cultivation is necessary. Seedlings of the tall, crested cockscombs may now be planted and treated in a similar way to the feathered ones. The dwarf-crested varieties may also be cultivated in the open, but they do not require nearly so much room. The dwarf cockscombs can be grown in pots for the decoration of the bushhouse.

NOTES.

The different varieties of Hibiscus, especially those popularly known as the "Chinese rose," are now freely producing their brilliantly-coloured single, semi-double, and double flowers, and forming an attractive sight. One of the newer varieties named "Peachblow" with semi-double flowers, of a salmon-pink colour, with dark centres, is much admired for its very beautiful blooms.

Evergreen and deciduous hedges that were formed last winter and spring, should have their leading shoots cut well down in order to ensure a dense growth at the base, for, without that a hedge soon becomes unsightly.

Established hedges that have not been attended to since the winter trimming have made considerable growth, and should now receive attention. Those that are composed of plants with small leaves, as, for example, the duranta, may be clipped into shape with a pair of garden shears. But those with comparatively large leaves, like the common laurel, should have their shoots cut with a knife or a pair of secateurs, to avoid disfiguring the foliage. This trimming does not apply to floral hedges, for the plants of which they are composed should not be cut until they have ceased flowering.

The foliage of anemones and ranunculuses having now withered, the plants should be carefully lifted, their stems and leaves removed, and the tubers cleaned of any soil adhering to them. Store the tubers in a cool, dry cellar, until the planting season comes round again. Hyacinth bulbs should be lifted, cleaned, and similary treated. If the different varieties of narcissus are occupying the ground required for other plants, or the bulbs are overcrowded in their present position, they should also be lifted, cleaned, and stored.

Bougainvilleas, whether trained to walls or over arbours, or grown as floral hedges, or cultivated as shrubs, should now receive attention. For at this season coarse, succulent growths are often developed on the principal branches, and if these are allowed to remain they will greatly interfere with the flowering shoots, and, of course, mar the floral effect. Late summer and autumn flowering climbing plants should have their growths regulated, and, if necessary, tied to whatever supports they are trained on, so that their flowers will be displayed to the best advantage.

FRUIT GARDEN.

It is the season for summer pruning fruit trees, and when that is skilfully performed its advantages can hardly be overestimated. In young trees it conduces not only to their longevity, and the more early formation of symmetrical heads, but to a much earlier development of fruit-bearing wood. In general practice the right time to summer prune apple trees and those that produce most of their fruit on spurs is when the young wood becomes partially ripened for about half its length, and it should be shortened there or a little higher up, according to the vigour of the tree operated on. The summer pruning of peaches and nectarines, which usually do not bear their fruit on spurs, will consist only of shortening gross growths in young trees, and cutting out whatever young wood is useless in older ones, and encouraging healthy shoots for bearing next season's crop.

At this season suckers often develop from the roots of established fruit trees, particularly pear and plum trees. Those undesirable growths should be carefully pulled up whilst they are young, for if left to grow they will not only take much of the nourishment that ought to go to the development of the fruit, but also interfere with the proper working of the land.

Budding stone fruit trees, such as peaches, may now be begun any time when the bark separates easily from the wood. Any healthy established stone fruit trees that are not bearing satisfactorily may be improved by inserting on their branches buds taken from well-tried superior varieties that are suitable to the soil and district.

American blight or woolly aphis is now attacking certain varieties of apples, and if prompt attention is not given to the pest it will multiply and do considerable injury to the trees. A simple remedy for keeping this insect in subjection is to brush the affected parts thoroughly with kerosene emulsion, diluted with two parts of water.

Where bandages are used on the trunks of apple, pear, and quince trees, to trap the larvae of the codlin moth, they should be examined at least once every ten days, and any caterpillars that are found should be destroyed and the bandages replaced.

For ants that are troublesome near fruit trees thoroughly mix in equal proportions plaster of Paris, powdered borax, and fine sugar, and place a little in shallow saucers near their workings. Ants greedily eat the mixture, which kills them. As the mixture becomes useless after being exposed to rain it should be renewed as occasion requires.

As soon as the fruit is gathered from the early varieties of strawberries, allow only as many of the best runners to grow as are required to provide plants for future requirements.

LAW REPORT.

HIGH COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice, Sir Samuel Griffith, Mr. Justice Barton, Mr. Justice Isaacs, Mr. Justice Duffy, and Mr. Justice Rich.)

PURCELL v BACON.

Argument was concluded in this case, which is a Queensland matter, and relates to an alleged breach of contract to give delivery of a herd of cattle. The Court reserved judgment.

(Before Sir Samuel Griffith, C.J., Mr. Justice Barton, Mr. Justice Isaacs, and Mr. Justice Duffy.)

MINER'S CLAIM FOR DAMAGES.

Hampden-Cloncurry Copper Mines, Ltd., v Huddy.

Mr. Blackett, K.C., and Mr. T. Power, instructed by Messrs. Norton, Smith, and Co., agents for Messrs. Thynne and Macartney (Brisbane), acting for Messrs. MacDonnell, Hannam, and Hamlyn Harris, of Townsville, appeared on behalf of the Hampden-Cloncurry Copper Mines, Ltd., in an appeal from the Queensland Full Court, in the case of Alfred Henry Huddy, a miner, who claimed £5000 damages for permanent injuries. Mr. Knox, K.C., and Mr. Chubb, instructed by Mr. F. W. Walker, agent for Messrs. Roberts, Leu, and Barnett, of Townsville, appeared for the respondent Huddy.

The action was brought in the Queensland District Court at Cloncurry, before Judge Jameson, and a jury. Huddy, a miner employed by the company, claiming £5000 damages for injuries received. Whilst working in the Duchess mine, near Friezland, on July 1, 1912, he was injured by a fall of stone, alleged to be due to the negligence of the company's servants, and owing to the nonobservance of the provisions of rule 11 of part 2 of the schedule to the Mines Regulation Act of 1910. Plaintiff's injuries were of a very serious and permanent character, consisting of two compound fractures of the skull, of both upper and lower jaw, crushing of left hand and wrist, necessitating amputation of the forearm, fracture of left ribs, and compound fracture of the left leg. The jury found for the plaintiff on all clauses of his declaration of claim, and awarded him £2500 damages. The case was taken to the Queensland Full Court, composed of Sir Pope Cooper, Chief Justice, Mr. Justice Real, and Mr. Justice Chubb, on the grounds that the verdict was against evidence; that the damages were excessive; and that the requirements of the Mines Regulation Act had been complied with. Their Honors unanimously declined to interfere with the verdict, and dismissed the appeal. The appeal to the High Court was based on the same grounds.

After the case had been opened, it was explained to counsel that a Full Bench was required to decide the matter. As it would be impossible to get another Full Bench this term the parties would be asked to confer together, with a view to a settlement. Otherwise the case would have to stand over till next term.

COMMONWEALTH ARBITRATION COURT.

(Before the Deputy-President, Mr. Justice Powers.)

WATERSIDE WORKERS' FEDERATION v N.C.S.N. COMPANY, LTD.

This was an application by the Waterside Workers' Federation for a variation of the award, with a view to the payment of overtime by the North Coast Steam Navigation Company, Ltd., at certain ports on the northern rivers, and that the order, if any, be made retrospective as from the date of the original award.

Mr. Watt and Mr. Cohen, of Melbourne (instructed by Mr. J. B. Moffatt) appeared for the applicants; and Mr. McDonald for the respondent company.

His Honor said he proposed to vary the award by making it apply to Lismore and the other ports on the basis applicable to all other ports. That he understood would mean that at Lismore the rate for overtime would be 2s 1 1-5d per hour. He proposed to make the award apply as from September 1, 1914. He, therefore, amended the award, by adding the following sub-clause (b1): For overtime, so-called wages, shall be paid from September 1, 1914, at Lismore, Ballina, Coraki, and Byron Bay, at the rates bearing the same ratio to the minimum rate hereinbefore prescribed as the overtime rates paid at the ports mentioned respectively bear to the minimum rates paid at the same ports at the date of the award. Special cargoes at the ports mentioned: His Honor did not make any order as to these.

WATERSIDE WORKERS' FEDERATION v STEVEDORING AND SHIPPING CO.

This was an application by the Waterside Workers' Federation of Australia for an order for a penalty against the Stevedoring and Shipping Company, Ltd., for a breach or the non-observance of certain terms of an award, viz., that they did not pay waiting time to certain wharf-labourers.

Mr. J. Woods appeared for the applicants, and Captain Tadsen for the defendants.

The evidence for the applicants disclosed that the wharf-labourers were called at 8.30 a.m., on June 17 last, to start at 10 a.m., on the steamer Freiburg at Woolloomooloo, that she did not berth until just before 2 p.m., and that the men did not turn to until 2 p.m.

The defendants called their foreman, who stated he had picked the men at 8 o'clock, but had said they were to start when the vessel came in.

His Honor found that the men were engaged by the foreman to start work at 10 a.m., and that as they did not start until 2 p.m., and had to remain about the wharf, they were entitled to be paid waiting time, and he ordered the waiting time to be paid by the defendants.

MUSICIANS' DISPUTE.

In the matter of the Professional Musicians' Union against J. C. Williamson, Ltd., and the Union Theatres, Ltd., Mr. George Williamson (Messrs. John Williamson and Sons), mentioned that Mr. Justice Higgins had referred the matter as far as the dispute with the Union Theatres, Ltd., was concerned to the Court. He was pleased to announce that a settlement had been effected.

SUPREME COURT.

BANCO COURT.

(Before the Chief Justice and a jury of four.)

CLAIM FOR COMMISSION.

Daly v Richardson.

Mr. Windeyer and Mr. Watt, instructed by Messrs. Sheehy and Murray, appeared for the plaintiff; and Mr. Loxton, K.C., and Mr. Monahan, instructed by Messrs. Harold T. Morgan and Morgan, for the defendant. This was an action brought by James Joseph Daly against S. D. Richardson to recover the sum of £500 claimed to be due by defendant under an agreement which be carried out to obtain for defendant the sublease of an hotel.

Defendant pleaded not indebted, and that plaintiff did not perform the condition precedent, which would have rendered him (defendant) liable.

After a portion of plaintiff's case had been heard, counsel consulted together, and it was announced that the matter had been settled.

NO. 1 JURY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Pring and a jury of four.)

ACTION ON A RESUMPTION.

Murray v Minister for Public Instruction.

This case is still part heard.

NO. 2 JURY COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Sly and a jury of four.)

ASSESSMENT OF LAND RESUMED.

Mackay v Railway Commissioners.

The evidence in this case is not yet concluded.

IN EQUITY.

(Before the Chief Judge, Mr. Justice Simpson.)

A TENTERFIELD NEWSPAPER. MOTION TO AMEND DECREE.

Judgment was delivered in respect of the application on behalf of Gordon Cumming Stevenson, defendant in the suit of James Francis Thomas v Gordon Cumming Stevenson, for an amendment of the decree on admissions made by his Honor on November 13 last, in default of appearance on the part of the defendant.

In the decree, his Honor declared that Stevenson had no interest in the "Tenterfield Intercolonial Courier" or "Tenterfield Courier and District Advocate;" restrained him from removing from plaintiff's premises certain books, documents, and type in connection with plaintiff's newspaper or printing business; and ordered inquiries to be made by the Master in Equity with respect to certain accounts. It was asked that the decree be amended by eliminating from the reference to the Master the inquiry in respect of certain accounts.

His Honor said the application was based on two grounds, (1) that the decree had been obtained in breach of faith, viz., fraudulently. That was purely a question of fact, and failed utterly; and (2) that the relief given went outside the statement of claim, and could not be granted on a motion for decree on admissions in default of appearance. He thought two of the clauses were not open to that objection, but a third one appeared to his Honor too wide. It extended to sums owing by any person to the newspaper. The statement of claim did not set out that defendant, acting as manager of the newspaper, was bound to keep an account of all sums due by third persons to the paper, but asked that he might be ordered to render that account. He thought, therefore, that that particular clause should be struck out, but the statement of claim might be amended, so as to obtain the relief. The amendment must be served on the defendant. No doubt, that would give an opportunity of prolonging the litigation, but if the defendant could only raise technical objections, he ran some risk of having to pay the costs.

In the matter of the application on behalf of Thomas, for an injunction to restrain Stevenson from proceeding in an action at common law to recover wages, alleged to be due to him for work done in conducting plaintiff's newspaper, his Honor granted an injunction, as asked.

Mr. H. H. Mason, instructed by Mr. A. C. W. Hill, appeared for Thomas in both matters; and Mr. Bonney, instructed by Mr. R. Harris, agent for Messrs. Harris and Stuart, of Tenterfield, for Stevenson.

A BONDI SUIT.

Buchanan v Lamrock and others.

Mr. R. H. L. Innes, instructed by Messrs. John M'Laughlin and Son, appeared on behalf of Joseph Barracluff, ostrich farmer, of South Head, one of the defendants in the suit of Buchanan v Lamrock and others, and moved to dismiss the suit as against him for want of prosecution.

It appeared that in May last John Buchanan, solicitor, instituted a suit against Leslie James Lamrock, William Lamrock, Edward Henry Turner, John Frank Cox, Frank Arthur Hall, Harry D. M. Morton, and Joseph Barracluff, who, plaintiff alleged, had formed themselves into a syndicate and entered into partnership for the purpose of obtaining an option to purchase certain land at Bondi, and obtain a publican's license for premises to be erected thereon. Plaintiff claimed, among other things, that the affairs of the partnership might be wound up under the direction of the court, and that accounts be taken of all dealings and transactions between plaintiff and the defendants, and in particular of the amounts which defendants were liable to pay to plaintiff, or in respect of which they were liable to indemnify him. It was stated that defendants having filed their defence plaintiff failed to set the suit down for hearing, hence the application.

His Honor made an order, dismissing the suit against Barracluff for want of prosecution.

DIVORCE COURT.

(Before Mr. Justice Gordon.)

CLARK v CLARK.

His Honor granted a decree nisi, returnable in six months, in the case in which Lizzie Gray Clark (formerly Provest) sought a dissolution of her marriage with John Thomas Clark, labourer, on the ground of desertion.

Mr. F. J. Tanner appeared for the petitioner.

MAIN v MAIN.

Mr. R. W. Fraser, appeared for Archibald Edward Main, baker, who petitioned for a divorce from Lily Main (formerly Rickard) alleging misconduct by her with Alfred Henry Rowlands, who was joined as co-respondent.

Mr. Perry (instructed by Mr. J. W. Abigail), appeared for respondent, who filed a number of counter charges against petitioner, but abandoned them.

The parties were married at Perth in May, 1905.

Counsel for respondent said he did not intend to produce evidence on her behalf as she was desirous of petitioner obtaining a divorce in order that she might marry co-respondent. He had married her previously, believing her to be a widow.

His Honor reserved his decision, and said in view of the fact that co-respondent had openly gone through the ceremony of marriage with respondent, believing her to be a widow, no moral guilt attached to him, and consequently costs would not be given against him.

WEEKS v WEEKS.

Henry Weeks sought a divorce from Charlotte Isabel Weeks (formerly Barnes), on the ground of misconduct.

On behalf of the respondent, issues were raised of misconduct against petitioner, whether he deserted or wilfully separated himself from her before the misconduct (if any) alleged against her; whether he had been guilty of such wilful neglect or misconduct as conduced to the misconduct (if any), charged against her; whether he had been guilty of unreasonable delay in presenting his petition; and, whether he had, without just cause, deserted her.

Mr. Cowan (instructed by Mr. B. Keith Cohen, of Messrs. Braye and Cohen, Newcastle), appeared for petitioner, who said he married respondent at Sydney in October, 1903.

His Honor granted a decree nisi, returnable in six months.

IN BANKRUPTCY.

(Before the Register, Mr. F. H. Salusbury.)

HEARING OF CREDITORS' PETITIONS.

DISTRICT COURT.

(Before Judge Backhouse.)

CLAIM IN RESPECT OF SHARES.

Homeward Bound Consolidated Tin Mines, v Toohey.

The Homeward Bound Consolidated Tin Mines, Ltd., sued John Thomas Toohey, of Toohey's Brewery, Elizabeth-street, Sydney, for the recovery of £50 in respect of application of allotment fees with regard to five shares in the plaintiff company, which, it was alleged, had been allotted to and accepted by the defendant.

Mr. Clive Teece, instructed by Messrs. Dodds and Richardson, appeared for the plaintiff company; and Dr. Coghlan, instructed by Mr. T. J. Purcell, for the defendant, who pleaded never indebted, and that he did not apply for the shares.

The defendant stated that he had had business transactions with J. Earle Hermann, whom he saw in April, 1913, about £100 that was owing to him. Hermann asked him not to press him just then for the money, as there was a financial drought. Hermann then asked him why he did not go into the Homeward Bound Tin Mines Company, which, he said, was "a splendid thing." He replied that he did not care about it, and that it was over-boomed. Hermann made some remark about what it mattered as long as defendant made some money out of it. Respecting the £100, Hermann said he could not pay him then; but he would give him 10 shares, paid up to £10 each, in the Homeward Bound Company in liquidation of the debt. Later on he called for the scrip, and Hermann said he could only give him five shares just then. A man named Crawford was called in, and Hermann told him to give defendant scrip for the five shares. It was arranged that the remaining shares were to be handed to Mr. Ward, stock and share broker for defendant. When he signed the receipt for the scrip he was not aware that any money was due in respect of the shares, nor was he aware until recently that the shares had been applied for in his name. He would not have taken the shares if he had known they had not been paid for. He took the shares in payment of the £100 which Hermann owed him.

His Honor reserved his decision.

QUARTER SESSIONS.

(Before Judge Docker and juries.)

Mr. Herbert Harris, Crown Prosecutor.

SALE OF SAMOAN STAMPS.

Milan Ritchevitch, described as a Servian, was charged with falsely pretending to Alfred Henry Pettifer, on November 12, that four stamps, which were sold to Pettifer for 16s were genuine Samoan stamps, which had been properly and authoritatively over-printed and endorsed with the letters "G.R.I." Mr. E. R. Abigail appeared for the accused, who pleaded not guilty. It was stated that the stamps were originally German stamps, in use at Samoa, and issued by the German Government at the Samoan post-office. When the New Zealand Expeditionary Forces took possession of Samoa all the German stamps were collected, and were printed with the letters "G.R.I.," and then re-issued as British stamps. It was alleged that this process, being unique, increased the value of the stamps amongst collectors of stamps. The allegation was that the stamps sold to Pettifer by Ritchevitch, who is a dealer in stamps, had not been properly so over-printed. Accused had represented that he had purchased the stamps from a member of the Expeditionary Force. He could not guarantee the genuineness of the issue.

His Honor directed the jury to acquit Ritchevitch of the charge of false pretences. Ritchevitch was then indicted on a charge of forging a postage stamp purporting to have been issued by the British Government of Samoa. He was remanded for trial, and admitted to bail on his own surety of £40.

AN ARMED FUGITIVE.

Frederick Roberts, 28, was charged with shooting at William Jones, at Annandale, on August 13, with intent to commit murder. A second count of maliciously shooting with intent to do grievous bodily harm was added to the indictment.

The jury returned a verdict of guilty of shooting with intent to do grievous bodily harm. Roberts was remanded for sentence. Both the jury and his Honor complimented Jones on his attempt to stop the flight of an armed fugitive from justice.

CONVICTED OF ARSON.

Charles Levy, 34, was charged with maliciously setting fire to a dwelling-house at Auburn, the property of Samuel King, while in possession as a tenant, on October 26. Mr. Hawkins appeared for accused, who pleaded not guilty. It was stated that King let the house, a two-roomed weatherboard cottage, to Levy, who said he was going to start poultry-farming. On the same day the house was completely destroyed by fire. The Crown alleged that Levy and King were in collusion to destroy the place, and divide the insurance money, £200. Three years previously the property was purchased for £170. Two neighbours said they saw a man setting alight to the house. Accused left the house after the fire started. The alarm was not given in time to save the house. The evidence of identification was conflicting. The defence was a denial of the charge. The fact of occupancy was admitted.

The jury convicted Levy, and desired to add a rider about another person's complicity in the crime, but were advised by his Honor not to do so.

Levy was sentenced to two years' hard labour in Goulburn Gaol.

ALLEGED CONSPIRACY.

Herman George Davies, 33, company manager, Edward Ernest Hind, 58, a clerk, and William Henry Carlyle, 23, accountant, were charged with conspiring to defraud Samuel Gray and others of divers large sums of money.

On the application of the Crown Prosecutor, the hearing was postponed till next sessions. Each of the accused was allowed bail in £200.

BENCH WARRANT ISSUED.

The case of William Edward Wright, late secretary of the Farmers' Export Company, who was committed for trial on a charge of embezzling sums of money, the property of that company, was called. Wright did not appear. The police report was that his wife had stated that he had gone recently to South Australia. The recognisances were estreated, and a Bench warrant issued for Wright's arrest. The total amount of defalcations was alleged to be about £1400.

SENTENCES.

Arthur O'Neill, 24, who had been convicted on December 8, of assaulting Sydney John Edward M'Carthy, on November 21, was sentenced to three months' imprisonment at Long Bay Penitentiary.

William Henry Jupp, 57, convicted on the 10th of breaking and entering a grocer's shop at Rockdale and stealing a quantity of tinned provisions, and recommended to mercy on account of previous good character, was sentenced to six months' hard labour in the Long Bay Penitentiary.

Alexandra Rozamari, 50, an Italian reservist, who pleaded guilty to assaulting John Podesta on October 29, was liberated on his own recognisances to be of good behaviour for twelve months, on the payment of £5 compensation.

William James Sheridan, 23, convicted on the 7th instant of stabbing Walter M'Donald with a penknife at Rockdale on October 10, was sent to Goulburn Gaol for six months with hard labour.

William Bacott, 47, who had pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the shop of T. M. Alcock and Co., George-street, and stealing 60 watches, was sentenced to three years' hard labour in Bathurst Gaol.

James Martin, 54, and William Thompson, 48, convicted of stealing from the person of Edward Egan, on November 15, were each sentenced to three years' penal servitude.

David Vincent, 26, convicted on the 4th inst of stealing from the person of Cornelius Mulligan, was sent to Goulburn Gaol for twelve months, with hard labour.

Arthur John White, 16, and Arthur Clive Goodwin, 17, who had pleaded guilty to damaging the windows of business premises to the value of £10 10s, were both liberated on recognisances to be of good behaviour for twelve months, and on payment of £5 5s each in restitution.

Robert Charles Thrower, 75, who had pleaded guilty to assaulting two young girls, was sent to the Long Bay penitentiary for two years.

Percy Hannan, 27, convicted on the 7th inst of stealing a watch, was sent to Bathurst Gaol for 18 months, with hard labour.

Frederick Roberts, 28, convicted earlier in the day of shooting with intent, and who had also pleaded guilty to breaking and entering, was sentenced to ten years' penal servitude. His record included six years' penal servitude in Victoria for sending a letter through the post threatening murder.

APPEALS.

(Before Judge Scholes.)

Mr. C. A. White appeared for the Crown.

William Richard Barnard and Alfred Long, for whom Mr. J. W. Abigail appeared, appealed against their conviction by Mr. Macfarlane, C.S.M., at the Central Police Court on October 1, on a charge of having apples in their possession reasonably suspected of having been stolen. They were fined £2 each, or one month's imprisonment. His Honor upheld the appeals, and quashed both convictions.

Two other appeals were dismissed.

ON THE ROAD TO BERLIN!

British Soldiers are Eating Australian Meat!

Sir Thomas Robinson (Agent-General for Queensland), who has returned from a week's visit to France, states that the government officials informed him they were greatly pleased with the Australian meat, of which the army and navy were consuming large quantities.

(CABLE.)

If it's good for the British soldiers to eat Australian meat, it ought to be equally good for Australians to reciprocate and drink British tea.

We venture to say that the British soldiers at the front are not drinking foreign tea!

New Zealand imposes a duty of 2d per pound on foreign tea, but the Australian Government allows it to come into this market DUTY FREE!

THE REMEDY.

The remedy for this unpatriotic state of affairs is in the hands of the public.

Refuse to take Foreign Tea and Insist on British Tea!

If every lady who buys tea insists on being supplied with Ceylon or Indian tea, the foreign tea will soon be off the market! Bettter still—if every lady buys Lipton's Tea she will not only be absolutely certain of doing something to help the British Empire, but she will get a superb tea with a delicious flavour.

The British tea duty—chiefly on Indian and Ceylon tea amounts to £8,000,000—eight millions sterling—enough money to build several Dreadnoughts! Therefore, every pound of British Tea you drink helps the Empire. Every pound of foreign tea you drink helps the enemy! Do YOUR little bit for the Empire and shun foreign tea!

DRINK LIPTON'S TEA!

TRY THE LIPTON FLAVOR IN ANY OF THE FOLLOWING BLENDS—

Lipton's Red Label Tea . .	1/3 lb.
Lipton's Yellow Label Tea .	1/6 lb.
Lipton's Green Label Tea .	1/9 lb.
Lipton's "At Home" Tea .	2/- lb.

A 5lb, 10lb, or 20lb Box makes a much-appreciated Xmas Gift.

It is ALL BRITISH!

Lipton's is a British tea. It is grown and cultivated on British soil by Britishers, and when it comes to Australia, it is packed by Australians.

Thousands of people in Australia regularly drink Lipton's Tea, and thousands more will drink it when they have tasted its delicious flavour — when they know its economy—when they find that 1lb of Lipton's goes nearly twice as far as ordinary teas sold at the same price.

NERVE BREAKDOWN

= Insomnia = Debility =

This is the time of the year when the nerves go to pieces, when the oppressions of war and climate operate on the nervous systems of men and women, and create acute conditions of ill-health; people lose appetite, become dull, listless, spiritless, sleep poorly, and feel too run-down to face their daily duties.

The Untold Value of Health and How to Keep It.

THE DAILY SAFEGUARD OF GOOD HEALTH IS

CLEMENTS TONIC

Some of the finest laws drafted for human good have resulted from healthy men. Our English and Australian statesmen are reputedly healthy men. In England it is safe to say Mr. Asquith, Mr. Lloyd George, Mr. Winston Churchill, or, in fact, any Cabinet Minister, has not taken Clements Tonic to maintain health, but it is safe to assume that many of our leading political men here may have done so, for it is testified to by thousands of men and women in all ranks of life, as a medicine that keeps the nerves sound in times of peace or war, or oppressive heat waves, and creates restful sleep in cases of insomnia or mental strife. This means a lot to the nervous or out-of-health man or woman, who, when they get this medicine, get health at the same time.

It is the nerve and blood medicine especially suited for the Australian constitution; its action on the weakened nerve system is immediate; it makes the blood rich and strong, the appetite keener, regulating the bowels and banishing constipation. The cures it has created are remarkable. It is as good for women as for men.

Remember, all Chemists and Stores sell this Magical Medicine Everywhere.

YOU CANNOT DO BETTER THAN KEEP CLEMENTS TONIC IN YOUR HOUSE DURING SUMMER. IT COOLS THE BLOOD.

Be careful and do not accept or be put off with any substitute or "just as good" remedy recommended at any price. If you do you may regret the purchase. There is only the one real Clements Tonic, which is the Advance Agent of Health.

"Xmas Snaps for Home Seekers!"

Easiest of Terms.

Only £1 down and 10/- monthly (which includes interest at 5 per cent. per annum), for every £25 purchased.

REAL ESTATE.

NOTES OF THE WEEK.

The real estate market showed a much improved tone this week. In fact, there was a good deal more activity than had been enjoyed for some time. The words of a leading auctioneer were: "We have been doing all right this week; if it will only continue we shall be very pleased." But the real estate market is at all times most susceptible to financial changes, taxation questions, and war prospects. These have all combined of late to influence the mercury. But real estate, being on a solid foundation for investment purposes, becomes the attractive needle to the investor, who realises the safety of putting his earnings into houses and land investments accordingly.

For actual business, Messrs. Richardson and Wrench occupied first place this week. Their weekly sale yesterday was largely attended. It was unusually so for a season like this. Mr. Gregg had a first-class lot of properties to offer. There were 15 items on the catalogue, comprising city and suburban residences and a mountain home. The list included the whole of the properties in the estate of the late Mrs. Robert Steele, consisting of a number of houses in Paddington, a cottage at Randwick, another at Killara, and a cottage and furniture at Hazelbrook. Mr. Gregg had the satisfaction of receiving bids for every one of the 15 properties he offered. In most cases the bidding was close up to the reserve, and in some cases, where sales were effected, it exceeded that amount. He sold the first lot offered, viz., three small dwellings in Holt-street, Surry Hills, for £1150, subject to approval. He then sold four houses in Gordon-street, Paddington, for £2750, three houses in Paddington-street for £1225, a residence at the corner of Hargrave and Elizabeth streets, Paddington, for £1225; a house, Glenmore-road, with a small house at the rear, for £1300; and a block of land at Bondi at £4 5s per foot. For two houses in Oxford-street, Paddington, £1450 was offered, and £1135 was refused for two houses in Gordon-street, Paddington; a residence at the corner of Hargrave and Elizabeth streets was passed in at £1100. For a residence at Stanmore £1150 was refused, and a cottage at Randwick was passed in at £1200. For a cottage at Killara £950 was the highest bid, while for the cottage and furniture at Hazelbrook £275 was refused. Privately the firm this week sold 17 acres of land at Sandringham for £1800, and 9 acres in the same district for £817; also a lot in the 12th subdivision of the Vaucluse Estate at £4/10/ per foot. An allotment at Springwood was sold for £260, three lots in the Royal Estate, Willoughby, changed hands at £131, and one allotment in the Austenlee Estate, Enfield, was sold at £3/5/ per foot.

There were several other indoor sales this week. Most of them were well attended, but while there was good bidding for many of the lots submitted, very few of the properties offered found new owners. In several instances the prices offered were close to the reserves, but owners would not reduce values, not even where the property was knocked down subject to approval.

Messrs. Stanton and Son, although unable to dispose of any properties under the hammer on Tuesday last, managed to sell some of them privately during the week. A residence known as The Bungalow, in New South Head-road, was sold for £2200; a residence at Neutral Bay changed hands at £920; and another cottage in the same suburb was sold for £850. A cottage residence in O'Connor-street, Haberfield, was disposed of for £1065, and another residence at Haberfield realised £1365; while at Punchbowl a cottage brought £450.

Messrs. Arthur Rickard and Co. had a fairly busy week. There was a good demand for suburban allotments on the easy payment system. These have become very popular amongst the workers, many of whom by this means are now living in homes of their own. There was also a good inquiry for farm lots at Glen Innes. One farm of 147 acres brought £1327, and another farm of 56 acres was sold for £420.

Messrs. Raine and Horne included in their sales this week four allotments at Northbridge at £2 10s per foot; also seven blocks at Deewhy at from 18s to 22s per foot, and a block at Huntley's Point at £3 per foot.

Mr. C. H. Crammond included in his sales for the week a brick villa in Herbert-street, Dulwich Hill, known as "Highfield," which brought £1500.

Messrs. Hugh Duff and Co. sold a cottage at Enmore this week for £550.

SUBDIVISION WORK.

There are several sales fixed for this afternoon. One that is almost sure to prove attractive is at Punchbowl, on the Bankstown railway line, where Messrs. Arthur Rickard and Co. will offer the Mayville Estate, which has been subdivided into nice handy poultry and fruit blocks, from three-quarters of an acre to an acre and a half each; but the man or woman who wants larger lots can easily obtain them by taking adjoining lots. There are several large, roomy home site lots, 66 feet by 328 feet, which will enable an enterprising man to have a good garden space for growing his own vegetables, poultry, etc. There is also the importance of the Punchbowl and the Bankstown districts as the huge centre and junction of the railways of the future. What a block or two of land in this district will be worth in a few years is worth consideration. Nearly the whole of the land at Bankstown has already been taken up, and Punchbowl is making rapid advance.

Messrs. Richardson and Wrench have a sale this afternoon at Mays Hill, Parramatta, adjoining the local park. There are only 16 allotments in the subdivision. The land is in an excellent position. Eight of the lots overlook the park, and all of them are handy to the railway station. Water, gas, and electric light are on the estate.

Messrs. Hardie and Gorman have arranged a sale for this afternoon at Thornleigh, which is in the Strathfield to Hornsby health-giving district, the dry air of which is so strongly recommended by the medical men of Sydney. Thornleigh is 13 miles from Sydney, and is served with a fast train service. This subdivision consists of 11 building sites right in the heart of the district. It is some of the best land obtainable.

A sale which is likely to prove attractive this afternoon is to be held at Freshwater, Manly North. Those who love the invigorating sea air and at the same time reside handy to tram and steamer, will have an opportunity on this occasion of having the choice of 77 elevated allotments on top of the plateau from which splendid views of sea and land are obtainable. The land has an easterly aspect, and the proposed tram to Freshwater will pass the property. The terms are very easy. Messrs. Raine and Horne are the auctioneers.

There is to be a sale this afternoon at Woy Woy, where Messrs. Chapman and Cansdell, Ltd., will offer the Lochaven Estate at the waterside. There are over 80 lots, which will be submitted on easy terms, and cash purchasers will receive their deeds free of cost.

Enfield will provide another sale this afternoon. The West End Park estate will be submitted by Mr. Arthur Blackwood. There are 60 lots facing good metal roads, with water and gas laid on to the estate. There is practically no reserve and the terms are exceedingly easy.

Messrs. Batt, Rodd, and Purves have a sale this afternoon at Belmore, on the Bankstown line, where the Panorama Extension estate will be submitted. This is beautiful elevated park-like land, with extensive frontages to Sharpe and Homer streets, the spot selected as the terminus of the new tram from Undercliffe.

The progressive suburb of Auburn will provide a sale this afternoon. Messrs. W. H. Horning and Co. will submit the Berala station estate, on the new line from Lidcombe to Regents Park. There are 112 cottage sites siutated in a healthy district to be offered.

WAR AND WAGES.

RAILWAY COMMISSIONER'S APPLICATION.

REMITTED TO A BOARD.

The application of the Chief Commissioner for Railways for the variation of a number of awards by suspending certain clauses providing for the regular increments in the salaries and wages of railway workers, was again before Mr. Justice Heydon, in the Industrial Arbitration Court yesterday.

The grounds of the application were that the war had caused a large falling-off in the revenue of the railways and tramways, rendering it imperative for the department to retrench. The application was opposed by a number of industrial unions which held that the falling off, if any, was caused by the drought and not by the war.

Mr. J. S. Cargill, solicitor for railways, appeared for the Chief Commissioner for Railways and Tramways, Mr. Mocatta (instructed by Messrs. M'Coy and M'Coy) represented the Amalgamated Railway and Tramway Association, the Locomotive Enginedrivers, Firemen, and Cleaners' Association, and Tramway Employees' Union. Mr. Crawford (instructed by Mr. F. S. Moore) appeared for the Railway and Tramway Officers' Association; and Mr. Stuart Robertson, for the Railway Workers and General Labourers' Association.

Mr. T. R. Bavin watched the case on behalf of the Minister for Labour and Industry.

Mr. Crawford said that the question had been raised as to whether the Court could criticise the management of the railways.

He thought the Court was entitled to a full disclosure on all material points concerning the management. His Honor said he would put an embargo upon an inquiry of that kind, which would run into months and, may be, years. In fact, it was a subject for the Legislature and not for the Industrial Court.

Richard Bourke, assistant chief accountant, examined by Mr. Crawford in regard to the railway estimates, stated that the railway revenue varied from day to day. There had been an improvement of approximately £5000 during the last days of November. A later estimate showed that the working expenses would be £10,000 less than in the original estimate for the period July 1 to November 21. From July 1 to October 31 the decreased earnings in general goods traffic had been £145,000, in "coaching" traffic (passengers and parcels) there had been an increase of £81, in mineral transit a decrease of £18,000, live stock an increase of £90,000, and in miscellaneous traffic a decrease of £50.

Mr. Mocatta: That is an all-round increase of £8000.

Mr. Bourke explained that the figures represented "earnings," and not "receipts." On that account they varied from those of the Treasury.

In answer to a further question from Mr. Crawford, Mr. Bourke stated that £17,640 per annum would be required to meet the increment in salaries of officers. Of this amount £600 only would be required for the tramway services.

After further evidence and argument, his Honor decided that the case in the aspect it had assumed was proper at that stage for a wages board investigation rather than a Court inquiry, and with the consent of the parties and Mr. Beeby, chairman of the boards sitting alone, he remitted the inquiry to him, asking for a report embodying the finding, which can then be made an award of the Court. In the meantime, his Honor amended the awards by inserting a provision that the payment of all increments not now actually paid, whether now due or hereafter accruing, shall be suspended until the ultimate decision of the application.

THE J. E. HERMANN CASE.

FURTHER APPLICATION FOR POSTPONEMENT.

An application was made in Chambers yesterday to Mr. Justice Ferguson for a further postponement of the trial of Joseph Earle Hermann, who is under committal on a charge of forgery and uttering. Mr. Wise, K.C., and Mr. Perry, instructed by Messrs. H. Richardson Clark and Fitzgerald, appeared in support of the application; and Mr. Wilfred Blacket, K.C., instructed by the Crown Solicitor (Mr. J. V. Tillett), for the Crown to oppose. In support of the application a lengthy affidavit by W. J. P. Fitzgerald, solicitor for the applicant, was read, in which it was stated among other things that accused was committed to take his trial on November 23 last at the Central Criminal Court on a charge of forging and uttering promissory notes. On December 3 at the Criminal Court a postponement was granted till the 16th of this month. The accused had been an epileptic for many years, and in the present year his fits had increased in frequency and severity; and during the greater part of this year he was suffering from epileptic insanity, the characteristic of which was intermittency. Between the fits the sufferer might be sane, while for two or three days after a fit he might be insane. It was a matter of great importance to the accused to establish the dates on which he suffered from fits, and on this point a witness named Aubrey D. Woolland, who was accused's chauffeur, could give material evidence. It was of equal importance for the accused to show that there was no motive for the alleged forgeries. To this end investigation was now being conducted by a firm of accountants of high standing, who informed deponent that the work could not be completed before the end of the present year. Accused had also informed him that when the investigation by the accountants was concluded it would show that he himself had not benefited by the discounting of the promissory notes, and it would also be shown that the accused could have retired from business with a substantial sum to his credit at any time during which the alleged forgeries were committed. Some documents had already been discovered among the papers which had an important bearing on the case, and he believed that more would be found as the investigation proceeded. Deponent further stated that it was desirable that accused's counsel should have full conference with the medical men who would be called as witnesses to the medical history of accused. One of these medical men resided in Brisbane, and, with another witness, who lived in Melbourne, had volunteered his testimony. The preparation of the case for accused had also been delayed by the necessity of contesting the proceedings in Bankruptcy brought against accused. He expected to be prepared to go to trial at the Quarter Sessions in January next, but not before.

Mr. Blacket submitted the objection that such an application could not be made to a Judge sitting in Chambers.

Mr. Wise asked that the trial should be postponed till January 14 at the Quarter Sessions, and said that the Attorney-General had ample power to change the venue. Cases had been decided which showed that where there was no reason to suspect mala fides an application of this kind was always granted. Here there could be no such suspicion, and the affidavit filed in support of the application proved conclusively that it was bona fide. The Crown did not rely on any allegation as to material facts, but appeared to assume accused's guilt, and for that reason opposed a postponement. The medical evidence required would go to show accused's condition at the time of the transactions involved in the case, and it was evident when medical testimony on the point was looked at that epileptic fits were frequently followed by insanity. What his client wished was a complete investigation, and the Crown ought not to be allowed to prevent him from bringing forward fresh and essential features in his case.

Mr. Blacket, on the other side, contended that the onus of proving that a postponement should be granted rested upon accused, who had failed to discharge that responsibility. Between December 3 and now ample time had been allowed to him to prepare any fresh evidence, and no justification had been shown for a postponement for a month. It had not been shown that his case would be prejudiced in any way by the case coming on on Wednesday next, and no additional facts had been placed before the Court to justify another postponement.

The case stands part heard.

SOCIAL.

All contributions and accounts of weddings or other social entertainments intended for the "Social" Column in Saturday's issue should reach this office not later than Friday morning, and be fully endorsed.

The marriage of the Rev. Kenneth E. Maclean, son of the late Mr. C. H. Maclean, and of Mrs. Maclean, of Napier, New Zealand, with Daisy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Palmer, of Amalfi, Longueville, was solemnised by the Rev. J. H. Maclean, of Christchurch, North Sydney, uncle of the bridegroom, and assisted by the Rev. J. H. Best, of Greenwich, on November 13. The ceremony was held at St. Aidan's Church (Longueville, which was beautifully decorated with ivy and arum lilies. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in ivory white Duchesse satin, the corsage and double tunic being of Limerick lace, with court train of tulle, trimmed with orange blossom and ropes of pearls hanging from the shoulders. She also wore a tulle veil, embroidered with daisies and true lovers' knots, and wreath of lilies-of-the-valley. Her gifts from the bridegroom were a bouquet of water-lilies and a gold turquoise bracelet. The Misses Tela and Nellie Palmer were bridesmaids, and wore white crape-de-Chine dresses, with pink sashes and pink crepe-re-chine hats, trimmed with daisies and forget-me-nots. They carried white sunshades, decorated with pink carnations and sweet peas, and wore turquoise wishbone rings, the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. H. R. Palmer acted as best man, and Mr. Dennis Rock as groomsman. The bride's mother wore a gown of navy satin charmante, with hat of navy silk with ostrich feather. She carried a bouquet of Saxe blue delphiniums. Mrs. Maclean, (mother of bridegroom) wore a costume of black silk, trimmed with heliotrope, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of heliotrope delphiniums. A reception was held at Amalfi; refreshments were served in a marquee on the lawn. There were about 100 guests present. Later the bride and bridegroom left for the Mountains, the bride wearing a coat and skirt of nattier blue crepe de Chine, white ostrich feather boa, and white silk hat trimmed with white ostrich feathers.

A musical evening was given by the committee of the Drummoyne Friendly Societies' Patriotic Procession and Carnival on the 2nd inst. at the Town Hall, Drummoyne, when a presentation of an enlarged photo, and views of several displays in the procession was made to the Mayor (Alderman Graff) and the council of Drummoyne. Mr. Geo. M'Knight, the president, made the presentation. The secretary, Mr. R. W. M'Master, read the report and balance-sheet, and added that the Patriotic Fund would benefit by the sum of £83. The programme was contributed by Mr. W. Murden, Miss Thelma Henderson, Miss Gwen Foulcher, Miss Phyllis Small, Miss Connie Dyson, Mr. C. G. Small, "Rosetti" (an illusionist), Mr. W. M'Kinnon, and Mr. R. Anderson. Mr. Lindley Evans acted as accompanist.

A promenade concert was held on the 28th ult. in the grounds of Linwood College, Marrickville. The grounds were decorated with flags and magic lanterns for the occasion, and presented a very gay appearance. The concert was organised by Miss M. E. Colvin, the principal of the college, Miss Davison, and Miss M'Nicol, and reflected great credit on them and the pupils who participated in it. The Christmas carols rendered by the pupils proved one of the most enjoyable features of the evening. Other artists who kindly gave their services were Dr. Campbell, the Misses Martin, Miss Marshall, and Miss Ahearn. The proceeds are to be devoted to patriotic purposes.

A wedding took place at St. James's Church on October 31, when Gladys Winifred, only daughter of Mr. Chas. Taylor, of Paddington, was married to Oscar, eldest son of Mrs. Harvey, Birmingham, England. The Rev. Wentworth Sheilds officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore white crepe de Chine, trimmed with silk shadow lace and pearls; her court train of charmeuse was veiled in ninon and orange blossom, and lined with pale pink ninon. Her embroidered tulle veil was worn over a wreath of orange blossom, and her bouquet and a dressing case were gifts of the bridegroom. She was attended by two trainbearers, each carrying dark red horseshoe bouquets. Miss Eileen Hendal (cousin of the bride) and Miss Elsie Turner were bridesmaids, and wore pale pink crepe de Chine, and mob caps of pale pink tulle. They carried shower bouquets of dark red carnations and asparagus fern, which, with gold bangles, were the gifts of the bridegroom. Mr. Fred. Pearce acted as best man; and Mr. Milton Whittle was groomsman. After the ceremony a reception was held at Sargent's. Later, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Harvey left for the Mountains. The bride's travelling dress was a golden brown silk poplin coat and skirt, and white crepe de Chine hat wreathed with ostrich feathers.

At the Hamilton Methodist Church on November 28, by Rev. W. Pettipger, Hilda Lillian, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Curley, was married to Roy Henry, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Allen. The bride, who was given away by her father, was attired in ivory satin charmeuse, trimmed with Chantilly lace, pearls, and orange blossom, the usual wreath and veil being worn. The bride was attended by two train-bearers, Doris Curley, cousin of the bride, and Olive Fennell. They wore cream silk dresses trimmed with Torchon lace, each carried a shepherdess crook, with poppies and red streamers, and wore a ruby pendant, the gifts of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were Miss Elsie Curley, sister of the bride, and Miss Dulcie Allen (Richmond), cousin of the bridegroom. Both were attired in cream striped silk mousseline de soie, trimmed with shadow lace and shell pink ninon scarfs, draped on the skirt. They carried bouquets of pink heath, carnations, and bouvardias, which with handsome amethyst and pearl pendants, were the gifts of the bridegroom. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. George T. Percy (Town Clerk, Hamilton), as best man, and Mr. William Robinson (Adamstown) as groomsman. Subsequently a reception was held by Mr. and Mrs. Curley at the Masonic Hall. The bridegroom's presents to the bride were a bouquet of white carnations, bouvardias, and gardinias, a gold wristlet watch, and a pretty pearl and amethyst brooch. The happy couple left by the 6.55 p.m. train for Goulburn and Crookwell, where the honeymoon is being spent. The bride travelled in champagne silk chamois crepe. Hat of royal blue crepe de chine and tulle.

A pretty evening wedding was celebrated on December 2 by Canon Bellingham, St. Philips' Church, when the bride, Enid Turton, daughter of Mr. E. J. Turton, Clifton Gardens, was married to Neville Read, son of Dr. and Mrs. Read, Coolebah, Wahroonga. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a white satin gown, with a court train of Limerick lace. The veil, which fell in graceful folds from a Dutch bonnet, was lent by her sister, Mrs. Gardiner. Her bouquet of white roses and a diamond ring were gifts of the bridegroom. Misses Barrington, Syme, and Marjorie Allison, of Coomoo Coomoo, bridesmaids, wore gowns of pale pink satin with soft frills of ninon, and large picture hats. They carried bouquets of mauve sweet peas, and wore the gifts of the bridegroom, which were diamond brooches and diamond rings. Messrs. MacKellar, Turton, and Minter attended as groomsmen. The reception was afterwards held at Petty's Hotel. During the supper the health of the bride, proposed by Dr. Barrington, was responded to by Mr. Neville Read, and Mr. Eric MacKellar, in a happy speech, responded for the bridesmaids. The bride left in a coat and skirt of white meteor. The guests included Dr. and Mrs. Read, Mrs. John Lyne, Mr. and Mrs. John Gardiner, Mr. and Mrs. James M'Master, the Hon. F. E. Winchcombe, Mr. Kenneth Winchcombe, Mr. Robertson (Hay), Mrs. H. Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Radford, Miss Dight, Mrs. Norman Read, Mrs. R. Read, Miss Madge Hardy, Misses Kiss, Mr and Mrs. Hain, Miss Hain, Mr. and Mrs. Vero Read, Miss Munro (Moree), Mr. and Miss Scrutton, Miss Nora Phillips, Mr. Malcolm MacKellar, and Mr. C. Allen.

The fete held on Saturday afternoon in the grounds of Mr. E. Lufft, Turramurra, was brought to a very successful issue. The sum required for purchasing the house linen for the Twilight House was about £100, and this was secured. The stalls, which were presided over by the ladies of Turramurra and other districts, were very tastefully arranged, and the afternoon being a fine one over 300 people were present, all doing their little to help in this worthy cause.

A wedding took place in the Presbyterian Church, Gordon-street, Petersham, on Saturday, November 7, when W. Montgomery, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Montgomery, Spit-road, Mosman, was married to Eveleen Jones, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. Jones, of Livingstone-road, Petersham. The Rev. G. A. Gordon, B.A., officiated. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a becoming gown of ivory crepe de Chine, trimmed with Honiton point lace and pearls. The bridal veil of Limerick lace worked by her aunt, Mrs. E. J. Smith, of Ipswich, was worn over a wreath of orange blossom, and she carried a bouquet, which, with a gold bangle, was the gift of the bridegroom. The Misses Winnie Bates and Gladys Montgomery (sister of the bridegroom) acted as bridesmaids. They wore shell-pink crepe de Chine, and carried bouquets, which, with a gold bangle and gold pendant, was the gift of the bridegroom. Mr. N. Dewhurst acted as best man, and Mr. A. Jones (brother of the bride) as groomsman. The church was very prettily decorated, and the service was choral. Mr. G. L. Reid presided at the organ. Messrs. Judd and V. B[illegible] acted as ushers. After the ceremony the bride's parents entertained 90 guests in the Empire Hall, Petersham. In the evening the happy couple left by motor for their wedding tour, the bride wearing [illegible] de Chine and hat en suite.

A wedding was celebrated at the Chatswood Methodist Church on October 21, when [illegible] Emily, twin daughter of the late Frederick Bonfield and Mrs. Bonfield, of Chatswood, was married to Alexander J. M'Intyre, third son of Mr. James B. M'Intyre, of Paddington. The Rev. Silas Bembrick officiated. The bride, who was given away by her mother, wore a gown of ivory crepe-de-Chine trimmed with hand-made bebe roses, the skirt being finished at the foot with ninon frills. The corsage of shadow lace was studded with brilliants and pearls and finished with a Medici collar. The court train, which was perfectly plain, fell from the shoulders held by brilliant buckles, and an orange blossom wreath and veil completed the toilet. She carried a bouquet of roses, stock, and carnations, the gift of the bridegroom. The chief bridesmaid was Miss Eva Bonfield, twin sister of the bride, assisted by Miss Nellie M'Intyre, sister of the bridegroom, who were daintily dressed in cream silk seafoam crepe, prettily trimmed with shadow lace. They carried bouquets of pink roses and asparagus fern with pink streamers, which, with their gold bangles, were presents from the bridegroom. Mr. Donald D. M'Intyre acted as best man, and Mr. C. Bonfield as groomsman. The bride's mother held the reception in the Chatswood Town Hall. Later Mr. and Mrs. M'Intyre left for the Jenolan Caves, where the honeymoon was spent. The bride's travelling dress was of a nattier blue silk poplin, with a white Tagal hat and white ostrich feather.

A bazaar was held at the residence of Mr. E. M. Perdriau, Endora, Lindfield, on the 5th inst., and organised by the Misses Alexander, Bond, Callaghan, Flecknoe, Henley, Perdriau, Reid, Stansell, and Boehme, in aid of the Royal Alexandra Hospital for Children. The bazaar was officially opened by Mr. Clarence Moss, the secretary of the hospital. The hospital will benefit to the amount of £[illegible] 14s, with which it is intended to endow a cot.

A garden fete, organised by a number of the ladies of Willoughby, was held in the grounds of Mr. Charles Nott, Milton, Penshurst-street, Willoughby, on Tuesday afternoon and evening, in aid of the Royal Alexandra Hospital for Children. The grounds were decorated with flags, and at night were festooned with lanterns. Mrs. C. P. B. Clubbe declared the fete open. Mr. Moss, the secretary of the hospital, stated that last year there were over 630 little ones received at the institution from Willoughby and the northern suburbs. It was announced that the result of the fete amounted to £36, and that it was the intention of the ladies to maintain annually a cot at the hospital, to be known as the "Willoughby" cot. The following were the members of the committee:—Mesdames Nott, Thomas, Forsyth, Quiggin, Moss, and the Misses Parsons (2), Phillips, MacLean, and Ore (2).

A gift tea was held at the Patriotic Club, Ltd., on Thursday afternoon for the French soldiers from Noumea. Miss Margaret Harris, president, was the hostess. A very good musical programme was arranged by Miss Summerbelle, whose song, "So Long" was sung by Miss Gertie Cremer. The attendance of club members was large.

Miss Nina Campbell gave an illustrated lecture, "Rome," on Thursday night, in aid of the Red Cross fund, when the large attendance at the Queen Victoria Club included Dr., Mrs., and the Misses Bennet, Mrs. G. C. Phipps, Mr. and Mrs. Scammell, Mrs. Oliver Jones, Miss Isabel Hay, Miss Leontine Marks, and Miss Channel.

Yesterday afternoon a meeting of the entertainmnet committee of the Millions Club movement for giving a Christmas treat to soldiers and sailors' children was held at Penzance-chambers, Hunter-street. The date for the treat was fixed for December 21.

At the final meeting for the year of the committee of the Health Society of New South Wales a resolution was passed that each woman member of the society should be asked to make during the recess (and perhaps collect) some article for use in connection with the war; something for soldier, hospital use, woman or child, and bring or send such donation to the annual meeting at the end of March.

The Neutral Bay Red Cross Circle held a very successful cafe chantant on Thursday afternoon and evening. Lady Cullen, in declaring the cafe chantant open, remarked that the Neutral Bay Red Cross Circle was the first work started on this side of the water. The president, Mrs. Edgley, gave a report of the work done since the start of the circle on August 11. £215 13s received, and £209 15s 8d spent, balance in hand £5 17s 4d. Total number of articles 2046; also envelopes, letter-pads, pencils, cigarettes, playing cards, from the Neutral Bay Public school children. The Mayor of North Sydney moved a vote of thanks to Lady Cullen and Rev. Mr. Waugh, seconded it, and little Miss Moseley presented Lady Cullen with a bouquet of Christmas bush, tied with the Empire's colours. The heads of the stalls were Mesdames Anderson, Beatson, Broughton, Lewis, Bean, Randal, Wey, Wilkinson, Hall, Robinson, C. Moseley, Misses Gaden, Rowntree, Mack, and Bath, and assisted by many girls. The stall decorations were the flags of the Allies, the hall was gay with bunting, and Mosman and Neutral Bay Public schools played selections on the fife and drum band. A programme of music was arranged, and contributed to by Mesdames Pearson and Holroyd, and the "Little Navy" delighted the audience. The Palais de danse was well patronised, Miss Mann assisting as pianist.

At Holy Trinity Church, Orange, on November 19, in the presence of a large gathering, the Rev. H. Walker Taylor, M.A., married Owen Kemmis, son of the late Mr. Kemmis, of the Armidale Grammar School, and Mrs. Kemmis, of North Sydney, and Olive Gladys, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Percy Griffiths, of Cook Park. The church was decorated, and the choir assisted in the service. Miss Gwen Griffiths and Miss Clarrie Bryant were bridesmaids. Mr. Claude Kemmis was best man, and Mr. Thos. Kemmis groomsman. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of ivory uncrushable satin, trimmed with silk shadow lace, tulle roses, and orange blossoms. The square court train was caught at the shoulders and lined with kilted tulle and lace, and trimmed with tulle roses, kilted lace, and orange blossoms. She also wore an embroidered veil and coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet with satin streamers was the gift of the bridegroom. Miss Gwen Griffiths (sister) wore a frock of shell pink crepe de Chine, Magyar bodice, and shadow lace vest, draped skirt trimmed with kiltings and floral bow. Miss Bryant was attired in a frock of shell pink crepe de Chine, Magyar bodice, trimmed with floral ninon. Both bridesmaids carried sheafs of pink and cream roses, with shell pink satin streamers, gifts of the groom, and both wore pink tulle headdresses and wreath of pink roses. After the ceremony the party adjourned to the bride's residence, where the reception was held and breakfast served. Included in the presents was a silver teapot, the gift of Holy Trinity choir and Sunday School teachers. The bride's going-away dress was a mole crepe, trimmed with floral ribbon. Her mole hat was trimmed with pink roses. The honeymoon is being spent in Sydney and the South Coast. The bridegroom's present to the bride was an aquamarine necklet; a tourmaline necklet to Miss Griffith, and a topaz diamond necklet to Miss Bryant.

A wedding was celebrated on September 9 at St. Andrew's Cathedral, when Milton James, second son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Arey, of George-street, city, was married to Ruby, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Clarke, of Plumstead, St. Peters, the ceremony being performed by the Revs. C. H. Clarke (brother of the bride), and E. N. Wilton, B.A., Precentor of the Cathedral. The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a dress of soft white merveilleux trimmed with shadow lace and orange blossoms, and a wreath and veil of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of lilies of the valley and white carnations, which was the gift of the bridegroom. The bridesmaids were Miss Pearl Clarke (sister of the bride) and Miss Nellie Arey (sister of the bridegroom). They wore white crepe de Chine and carried bouquets of pink sweet peas which, with gold pendant brooches, were the gifts of the bridegroom. The train-bearers were little Misses Millie and Ruby Heesh (nieces of the bride), and were dressed in white embroidered voile and white silk hats, and carried wands of lilies of the valley which, with gold brooches were the gifts of the brirsgroom. The bridegroom was attended by Mr. Robbins and Mr. Blackler, who acted as best man and groomsman, respectively. After the ceremony a reception was held at the A.B.C. Cafe, Pitt- were the gifts of the bridegroom. The bride's travelling dress was nattier blue silk, with white Tagal straw hat, trimmed with white ostrich feather.

ENGAGEMENTS.

The engagement is announced of Roy Edward Gordon O'Halloran, of Glebe, Sydney, youngest son of Edward White O'Halloran, solicitor, Adelaide, to Miss Jessie Hyem, only daughter of Mr. R. Hyem, Moonee Ponds, Victoria.

The engagement is announced between Lieut. F. N. Eardley Wilmot, R.N., H.M.A.S. Encounter, second son of the late Colonel Sir William Assheton Eardley Wilmot, Bt., and Lady Eardley Wilmot, of 83 Cromwell-road, London, and Dorothy, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Little, of Brooksby, Double Bay.

About 6.15 p.m. on Thursday three horses attached to a drag owned by Messrs. Wood, Coffill, and Co. came into collision with a tram at Miller-street, Pyrmont. One of the horses was killed, and the other two were severely injured.

THE TRIUMPH

OF THE

DAIMLER ENGINE

Following the great engine test of 1909, a challenge was issued to the world.

The terms of the challenge issued by the Company were that they were prepared to wager the sum of £250, duly deposited with the Royal Automobile Club, against a like amount with any motor manufacturer that he could not obtain from the Royal Automobile Club, within a period of three months from April 5th, 1909, a certificate for an engine of the tappet valve type excelling in merit either of the two certificates which the Company would receive from the Royal Automobile Club in respect of the motors then under test.

THERE WERE NO ACCEPTANCES.

At a later date the challenge was renewed, and AGAIN THERE WERE NO ACCEPTANCES.

THE DAIMLER CO. are prepared again to renew their original challenge, and it will be interesting to see whether the tappet valve engine of TO-DAY is considered competent to secure a certificate excelling in merit either of those obtained by the Daimler engine FIVE YEARS AGO.

LAMB MARKERS.

(BY E. S. SORENSON.)

Life on a big sheep run is rather monotonous, but it has two welcome breaks in the year that are among the most picturesque features of the bush. Shearing time, which is the annual show to residents in a locality like the Paroo, and lamb-marking, which does not last so long, but presents much that is equally interesting to visitors. Not so many men are required for this as for shearing, but as neighbouring runs operate about the same time, instead of following one another, it offers employment to hundreds of men for a short period. So the unemployed of all ages from 15 to 75 make for the homesteads when the time of starting draws near, just as they converge from all quarters, when sheep work is over, towards Mildura and thereabouts for the fruit harvest.

On the particular run where I had the pleasure of a round with the operators, the first yard was 12 miles from the homestead. The roll was called early in the morning, and the cook, who was provided with a waggonette and pair, received the rations, campware, and tents for the trip from the store. These and about a score of swags made a big load. A start was made after breakfast; the musterers, who comprised about half the number, rode ahead, driving a few spare horses with them. The rest of the contingent followed on foot behind the waggonette. As several of them were old men, the cook good-naturedly regulated his pace to suit them. That means he spent nearly all day on the way out.

They halted for lunch at a halfway tank where a couple of hours were spent in the shade of a clump of trees. About an hour before sundown the depot was reached. The camp was pitched in a patch of scrub, a spot that was simply swarming with mosquitos. A big fire was made with gidgee and mulga logs, the tinware and tucker were laid on bags on the ground, and the men sat around them at their evening meal. After tea pipes were lit, and the group sat by the fire yarning and slapping at mosquitos till bedtime.

Blankets and rugs were spread about on the ground, some of the campers first gathering bunches of green leaves or an armful of grass to make the bed more comfortable. An odd one had a square piece of mosquito netting, which he rigged over his head on stakes. The rest made smoking fires close beside them. The mosquitos did not wholly disappear with the morning light; in the scrub the pest recognised no regular hours. That special haunt was chosen for the camp because it was nearer to water, and afforded shelter from dust-storms, which were likely to blow up at any time and make things unpleasant. The yards, built of logs, stubs, and brush, stood just on the outside of the scrub.

Horses were brought up about sunrise. By that time the men had finished breakfast, and within half an hour they had ridden away to muster the first paddock, which was about five miles square, mostly hills and hollows, the sort of sheep country that takes a lot of time to get over. And while the musterers collected the woollies and brought them slowly in, the other men busied themselves repairing the yards and building log and brush wings out from the main gates. Yards constructed of that sort of material are always needing repairs. The assistants find an hour or two's work in them after each draft has been put through.

When the mob drew close to the yard the men on foot met the musterers, and helped to get the sheep into the enclosure. Then commenced the shepherds' dance, to the accompaniment of an ear-splitting din. While some swung bags and bushes, others beat a tattoo on a kerosene-tin with a stick, rattled pebbles in a jam-tin, or anything that would make a surprising noise when it broke out suddenly against the ears of a half-drowsing mass of sheep. No animal drops so quickly into a drowsy mood, and so soon becomes oblivious to its immediate surroundings when its persecutor temporarily retires from its vicinity, as a weary sheep.

Half a dozen dogs add to the pandemonium, those that make most noise being the most valued at such times. A couple are sent across the backs of the shrinking sheep to the corners, where a few sharp yelps loosen the packed mass of wool; a man creeps along inside the yard, and hauls in a few of the stubborn creatures; then the mob streams in under a smothering cloud of dust.

That is only the entrance gate. There are four or five more, opening into smaller and smaller yards, until the race is reached; and the same wild corroboree is repeated at every one of them. The small yards empty quickly, and have to be kept filled from the big receiving yard. The men are now distributed behind the various gates, so that there will be no break in the operations from start to finish. The boss takes charge of the drafting gates, a couple of men or boys stand outside the race with long sticks in their hands, prodding the sheep up when they stop running, and another works continually in the small feeding yard behind. When the yards containing the drafted sheep are full, a halt is made while the lambs are marked. This does not take long, and at its completion the men rush to their places again, and as some of them have packed the small yards in the meantime, the flow of woollies through the race re-commences straight away.

At the 12-mile camp there were six markers—three with clips (for marking the ears) and three with knives. All were dressed in overalls, which in two instances took the form of old white shirts, worn loosely; the rest were chaff bags with arm-holes slit in the corners. Half a dozen men were in the yard catching the lambs, which were dumped in a sitting position on two long, smooth rails, the catchers holding a fore and hind leg in each hand. Some of these were also in fancy dress, to save their ordinary clothes from getting blooded from the nicked ears. The markers were ranged outside the rail. The final operation on each lamb was the docking of the tail. Immediately following the slash of the knife, blood squirted over the operator, reddening his face, neck, and dress. On this fresh blood the ever floating dust from the yards settled thickly, so that by the time the drafting was done it was hard to tell Bill from Jim.

Each day's draft was completed with the counting of the lambs' tails. Most of the sheep were returned to their own paddock in the evening or next morning. A mob that had been drafted out to be shifted elsewhere were shepherded by the men on foot until the next draft was brought in. When the work was finished at that yard the camp was shifted to the next, which was nine miles away. There were three yards in all, the round occupying a fortnight. Constant, dusty work, but lively and interesting throughout. Throats suffer most from dust and shouting. The old shepherd spares his own lungs, making his dog do the barking. Youths who are new to it revel in the work, and are consequently knocked up when the old shepherd has still got a lively kick in him. To the experienced it is a round of howling picnics that makes hard fare very palatable, and hard beds very comfortable.

CLAIM FOR WAGES.

DUBBO.—A case of considerable interest to farmers and farm labourers was heard in the Small Debts Court by Mr. W. F. Robertson, P.M., when John Biffin sued J. R. Craig for £1 12s, said to be due as four days' wages as a bullock driver. Complainant stated that he was employed to drive bullocks for hay drawing at 8s per day, and that on the fifth day defendant sent him to the far end of the paddock for hay, instead of giving him close drawing, as arranged. He complained to Craig, and refused to go on with the work, stating that he should come in his proper turn with other teams, which were also drawing hay. He asked for his wages, but defendant replied that as he had suited his own convenience about leaving, he would be paid at the convenience of the employer. Defendant cross-summoned complainant for unlawfully leaving his employment. He deposed to the manner in which Biffin had left at a moment's notice, in consequence of which he (Craig) had to leave other work and drive the bullocks himself. His worship dismissed Biffin's claim for wages, and ordered forfeiture of the £1 12s. Biffin was ordered to pay £1 1s costs in each case, and also costs of court.

THE WOOL TRADE.

UNCERTAINTY OF EXPORT.

When auctions were resumed in the Sydney market on Monday, after a week's recess, to admit of public sales in Brisbane, there was a stronger tone and selling conditions were more favourable to growers. That is, to owners having suitable wools to offer, compared to the close of the week prior to the adjournment for the Brisbane series, when the market was disorganised through an embargo on export to Japan. The two favourable factors influencing the position at the opening this week were the lifting of the temporary embargo on export to Japan, and a cabled report from London to the effect that the Imperial Government was prepared to lift the embargo on the export of wool to America, conditional on buyers furnishing satisfactory assurances that the staple would not be used to assist the enemy. Exactly what the guarantees would have to be was not mentioned in the cable; they probably had not been submitted to the United States Government. Doubtless, the British Government is insisting upon something more than mere promises, for it was stated in our cable from Washington yesterday that the United States of America Ambassador in London had furnished the United States Government with the British regulations under which the embargo on wool export would be lifted; and that Mr. Bryan had indicated that the regulations were unsatisfactory. This later phase of the American export position presumably affected the local wool market as the week wore on; and also influenced the sales in London from the opening, where the situation was probably more defined.

Even with this uncertainty with regard to export to America, the market held fairly well; there was sufficient buying power by Yorkshire, Japan, and the local mills, to maintain rates for all good, sound, well-grown wools—both merino and crossbred. On Monday, when all the factors seemed favourable, there was, in fact, an occasional improvement with values in sellers' favour. This hardening tone, however, was not maintained to the close. With regard to faulty, short, and inferior wools, the weakness became more pronounced; and such descriptions, particularly burry wools, in the catalogues in many cases failed to elicit bids. The cabled news from London of the opening there did not tend to improve matters here on Wednesday and Thursday. Certainly, crossbreds were par to 5 per cent. higher, but with good, shafty merinos 7½ to 10 per cent. and medium merinos 10 to 15 per cent. lower, while short and faulty merinos were neglected the tone was not an inspiring one. If really the embargo on export to the United States had been lifted that weaker tone would have been less pronounced as far as the better classes of merino were concerned. But the trade there had the fact in view that the Board of Trade on Saturday announced that it was unable to remove the prohibition on the export of wool from the United Kingdom to neutral countries for at least two months. The British Government has to combat the machinations of the enemy in wool as in every other economic necessity in connection with the war.

ENEMY'S TEXTILE TRADE.

At the outbreak of the war in August, direct trade with the enemy was shut off, but wool and tops were finding their way to Germany by indirect routes for two or three months afterwards. Nearly 50 per cent. more of worsted tops was shipped to Sweden from the United Kingdom in September than in the corresponding month last year. The trade and navigation returns also show that British wool to the Netherlands doubled in that month, and that the export of foreign and colonial wool increased 70 per cent. This does not deal with the United States; but is given as showing some of the difficulties that have to be overcome as a means of successfully fighting the enemy in the war. The Germans at an early period commandeered the wool at the textile centres in Belgium, and in those portions of France that they were successful in overrunning. They also secured it at Lodz, and other places in Poland. In America there are large German mills, and every obstacle that can be placed in the way of these concerns supporting the Fatherland in its infamous war should be fixed with the grimmest determination. War whoops come from Germany regarding the ideal economic conditions prevailing there; and one of the semi-official telegrams from Berlin to the "Cologne Gazette" in October with reference to the textile industry said that: "Economic life in Germany pursues its regular course, and Germany's foreign trade has for the most part been maintained. German industry, and especially the textile industry, continues to work with almost undiminished strength. Of unemployment, which in England has set in in almost all departments of trade, there is in Germany no question. Notwithstanding the shutting out of German shipping, there is no lack of means and ways for Germany to convey her products to foreign customers undiminished and of the customary quality."

TRADING LEADING TO EMBARGO.

Such a statement carries its own obvious refutation. Still, the fact stands that raw supplies get through, and the more they are diminished the speedier the war will come to an end in our favour. These are the considerations that weigh with the Government in connection with wool export to America, as well as other neutral countries. In connection with the export from the United Kingdom of tops and yarns to Scandinavia, already referred to, the "Textile Mercury," of October 17, said:—"Business also with Norway was remarkably good, and shipments both of woollen and worsted tissues in September were better by some 30 per cent. Sweden and Norway are Scandinavian countries, and so is Denmark, and the buoyancy of their trade contrasts rather oddly with that of the third-named. The exports to Denmark in these classes were fully 80 per cent. less than a year ago. Even with Holland business in worsted yarn fell by one-half, and in woollen cloth by two-thirds. In the absence of precise information, it is difficult to agree that, in the natural order of things, Swedish and Norwegian totals should be so little affected. At all events those whose business it is to supervise the export of goods and to send out officials to trace shipments to their real destination will know the better where to look and what to suspect. The September business is a mere preliminary to that which might be done. The mischief has been checked before it has gone very far, but there is not the slightest reason for dealing tenderly with those who have committed themselves to underhand dealing with the enemy. By all means let the culpable undergo their richly earned public disgrace."

CLOSING AUCTIONS NEXT WEEK.

The foregoing are some of the side-lights on trade, and trading with the enemy in wool, that influence the Government in lifting or continuing the embargo to neutral countries. Fortunately, we have in addition to the buyers from the United Kingdom, the Japanese and our local mills. Support from America, if no risk is run of indirectly supplying the enemy, would be gladly welcomed. Possibly Mr. Bryan may be able to suggest some means by which the British Government can see its way to lift the embargo without prejudice to Empire affairs at this critical stage. In any case, the Sydney selling brokers are of the opinion that the prospects are sufficiently good to catalogue 25,000 bales instead of 20,000 next week. This series will close the first half of the selling season.

SYDNEY WOOL RECEIPTS.

There has been a fair increase in the receipts of wool, by rail and boat, during the week, compared to the corresponding week last year. The decrease for the season to date, however, continues to be a substantial one, owing to the war, on the one hand, and to the drought on the other. The figures for the week and for the season compare as follows:—

Thursday, December 17.—(1), Hill, Clark, and Co., Limited; (2), John Bridge and Co., Limited; (3), Dalgetty and Co., Limited.

FIVE MONTHS' EXPORTS.

The Customs return, showing wool exports oversea, from Sydney and Newcastle for the five months ending November 30, compared to the corresponding period last season, is as follows:—

Destination.	Seasons, 1914-15. July-Nov. 5 months.	1913-14. July-Nov. 5 months.
From Sydney to United Kingdom and foreign ports	161,870	418,476
From Newcastle to United Kingdom	14,405	10,364
From Sydney to New Zealand	715	15
Total	176,990	429,055

Decrease from the State, 252,065.

WOOL SHIPMENTS.

Exports have been on a very fair scale during the week, considering the extraordinary conditions entailed by the war; six vessels clearing the Sydney Customs for the United Kingdom with wool aggregating 32,026 bales. On December 2 a transport shipped 751 bales at Newcastle for London, making a total from the northern port since July 1 last of 15,156 bales, as compared with 10,564 during the corresponding period last year. The vessels with quantities for the week, and total for the season to date, compared to last year, are as follows:—

	Bales.
Clan Sutherland, December 4, for United Kingdom	5,100
Nigaristan, December 4, for United Kingdom	9,084
Indralema, December 5, for United Kingdom	5,009
Orontes, December 5, for United Kingdom	859
Manica, December 5, for United Kingdom	8,150
Marathon, December 7, for United Kingdom	3,725
Total from Sydney since last review	32,026
Total from Sydney and Newcastle from July 1 to date	209,787
Corresponding period last season	468,517
Decrease	258,730

MEETINGS OF FARMERS.

CULCAIRN.—At a meeting of the Germanton Farmers and Settlers Association a resolution was carried unanimously, protesting against the action of the Government in interfering in the matter of regulating the prices of products grown by farmers. The secretary was instructed to place the resolution before the Minister for Agriculture, through Mr. J. J. Cusack, M.L.A. This branch has forwarded to the Chamber of Commerce Food Fund the sum of £27 5s and 79 bags of oats. A resolution was also carried, advising the Railway Department that the association did not intend to use the grain shed this year.

MUDGEE.—The Mudgee Wheatgrowers' Association strongly urges all wheat farmers to get in their wheat as quickly as they possibly can. It is pointed out that it is impossible for anyone to say with any degree of certainty that the district will have a wet Christmas this year, but the present indications are that there will be bad harvesting conditions. Farmers are advised to work late and early to get their hard-earned harvest under cover. "As soon as your harvesting is finished," writes the association, "which should be not later than the end of December, start to plough your land. The earlier the ploughing is done the better. After ploughing, keep cultivating the top, either with a cultivator or heavy harrows, always keeping the surface soil loose. This will have the effect of conserving the moisture, and in improving and sweetening the land. Keep doing this until seeding time, which should not be later than April. Above all, get your crop in early. Adopt the right methods of farming, and you will be quite certain of getting your crop. If you do not get grain, you will certainly get hay."

DAIRYING.

BEGA.—Some farmers have a deep-rooted idea that the grade Jersey as a butter producer is superior to the pure bred, but the results from Mr. A. L. Manning's pure-bred Jersey cow Annette (imp.), by Noble of Oakland, from Hopetoun, disprove this theory. This cow, which was imported from the Island of Jersey by Mr. Manning, was tested under the rules of the Jersey Society and the United Breeders' Association, the conditions being anything but favourable, and the test for the 12 months, just to hand, shows that in the 363 days she produced 525.59lb butter, of 7618lb milk. This cow, which is now six years old, gained the championship prize at the last Bega show.

STARVING STOCK.

COOMA.—Large numbers of starving stock, principally from Riverina, continue to arrive in the Manaro district, totalling, during the past three months 190,000 sheep, 700 cattle, 360 horses. These are showing much improvement in condition.

DISTRICT ITEMS.

BEGA.—The Warragaburra Estate has shipped 3½ tons of cheese; the Ritchie Estate (Jellat Jellat), 4 tons; and Mr. D. A. Gowing, 1 ton, which is to be exported to England. Other shipments to follow will include 5 tons from the Kameruka Estate. This will help to relieve the Sydney market.

DUBBO.—Mr. G. Bowie, a newcomer to the district, who purchased Greengrove, on the Cobocoro-road, about seven miles from Dubbo, from Mr. W. Brown, knows how to make farming pay handsomely. This year he sowed 400 acres, half of which has already been stripped, for an average of 22 bushels to the acre, calculated at three bushels to the bag. The remaining 200 acres are now being harvested, and on the returns obtained Mr. Bowie feels confident that the yield will be from four to five bags per acre.

AGRICULTURAL EDUCATION.

The Department of Agriculture advises that arrangements are being made for Mr. F. Wigan (Dairy Instructor) to deliver a lecture on "Dairying" on Wednesday, December 16, in the Church of England Hall, Scotch Creek, Miller's Forest, commencing at 8 p.m. The lecture has been arranged under the auspices of the local branch of the Agricultural Bureau.

SCHOOL RESULTS.

CONSTITUTION OF BOARD.

Numerous inquiries have been made as to when the results of the recent certificate examinations held by the Department of Public Instruction will be available.

The Minister for Public Instruction yesterday pointed out that the department was only responsible for marking the qualifying certificate papers and the Superior Public School papers, since the intermediate and leaving examinations were under the control of the examiners' board. The examiners' board consists of four representatives of the department and four University professors.

"I notice," said Mr. Carmichael, "some comment has been recently made as to the constitution of this board, a suggestion having been put forward that the secondary schools should be represented upon it. A moment's thought will show that practically every secondary school in the State sends candidates for these examinations, and it would be unfair to any of them to place them in the false position of setting papers, or assisting to set papers for which their own pupils would sit. A special effort is being made this year to have the results out before the close of the vacation, but I do not think it is possible to have them ready before the last week in January. The Superior Public school results may be out a little before then, but the intermediate and leaving certificate examinations are entirely in the hands of the board of examiners."

DENTAL BOARD.

The Dental Board of New South Wales considered the result of the recent Dental Board examination (practical section), held on November 23 and following days, at a meeting held last night, students obtaining a pass being: William Robberds, Arthur Goodwin, Eric Phillips, S. Livingstone. Those obtaining a post examination were: Vernon de Boos, F. Golsby, Eric Woolcott, J. L. Hogg, W. Low, H. Arnott, J. Cox, L. Medlicott.

HANDS CRACKED AND PEELED.

"Coo-ee" Chirnside-street, Footscray, Vic.—"The affection from which I suffered is, thanks to Cuticura, quite cured. It first appeared around my knuckles and finger joints. I first noticed it by my hands constantly itching. On putting my hands in water the burning feeling would nearly send me distracted. The palms of my hands were all cracked and the skin completely peeled off them, and on awakening during the night the continual itching would keep me awake for hours. I would rub and scratch them until the backs of my hands would look like raw flesh. I determined to try the Cuticura Remedies, and having Cuticura Ointment in the house, I bathed my hands with Cuticura Soap and then applied Cuticura Ointment. I suffered with this dreadful affliction for six weeks but persevered with Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment and am now quite recovered. I always use Cuticura Soap as a toilet soap and would not be without the Cuticura Ointment." (Signed) Miss C. Florence Daley, October 1912.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a sample of each, with 32-page Skin Book, will be mailed free on application to R. Towns and Co., Dept. T., Sydney, N.S.W.—Advt.

"WATSON" ELECTRIC MOTORS ARE AS GOOD INSIDE AS OUT.

They are free from freakish ideas or frail parts which cause an endless amount of trouble. They are cool running and sturdy, economical in work, and both our Alternating and Direct Current Motors are giving the best of satisfaction to hundreds of Plant Owners throughout the State.

THESE ARE THE POINTS THAT GIVE WEAR AND WORTH TO "WATSON" MOTORS.

IN ALTERNATING CURRENT MOTORS

we use the best types of Bearings. They are absolutely dustproof and the risk of Rotor Stator fouling is reduced to a minimum, whilst Oil throwing and Creeping are entirely obviated. We guarantee "Watson" A.C. Motors free from hot bearings.

IN DIRECT CURRENT MOTORS

We are prepared to guarantee our Motors to run without sparking at any load within their rated capacity, and the temperature rise of the protected type will be at the minimum, even after running for six hours at full load.

We have Technical Bulletins dealing with each type of Motor. We should be pleased to send YOU a copy if interested.

PIONEER YOUR DRIVES, and obtain the best results, "Pioneer" giving lasting service, as witness the following unsolicited testimonial:—

"Failford Saw Mills.

"My main Driving Belt is 14in wide, double and thong (lace) sewn; it drives the whole of my Mill Plant, Engineer's Fitting Shop, and Blacksmith's Shop. The Mill cuts 2,000,000 feet of logs in the year, so by that you will see it is no small plant. I have had the Belt working 22 years—six years back I got a new one, thinking, as it was getting old, it might break any day—BUT IT IS RUNNING ON YET.

ARTICLES OF ROAD PLANT REQUIRED.

TENDERS are invited for the SUPPLY of the following items, new or second-hand:—

1 PORTABLE STEAM or OIL ENGINE, or Light TRACTOR, to drive a 10in x 8in Hadfield Crusher.
1 COMPOUND TRACTION ENGINE, to weigh about 8 tons. Preference to one capable of being converted into a 10-ton Steam Roller.
2 ROAD METAL TRUCKS, either HOPPER TYPE, with regulated bottom discharge; END TIPPING, or SIDE TIPPING, to carry about 6½ tons each.
1 WATER BALLAST ROLLER, 5 tons empty, to weigh up to 7½ tons.

Prices should be stated for each item independently, as the Council reserves the right to select any item or items out of any Tender.

Tenderers to supply complete specification of each article, and state where same can be inspected, preferably at work. In case of second-hand articles owners to state how long they have been in work, and on what work and where they have been in use.

Prices to include cost of delivery OFF TRUCKS AT BURROWA.

The Lowest or any Tender will not necessarily be accepted.

Tenders close on THURSDAY, 17th DECEMBER, 1914, at 4 p.m., with the Engineer, who will visit Sydney on 21st to 23rd December to make inspections.

Any further information desired can be had on application.

CONCERNING STEAM PIPE AND BOILER INSULATION.

As you want your Insulation to last at least as long as your Steam Plant, why not put in the best at first? It must pay in the long run.

The efficiency of

NEWALL'S MAGNESIA SECTIONAL STEAM PIPE AND BOILER COVERINGS

is exceptional, saving as much as 80 per cent. waste heat over other forms of Coverings. It also possesses this advantage, that should you at any time decide to remove your plant, this Covering can be taken down and re-erected elsewhere without loss of efficiency. Another feature which should recommend it is its neatness. You will appreciate this.

May we send you Samples?

J. WILDRIDGE and SINCLAIR, LTD., ENGINEERS AND MACHINERY MERCHANTS, 82 Pitt-street, Sydney.

A 8IN x 8 PLY DICK'S BALATA BELT travels 100,000 miles in a Flour Mill in 5 months, and is not worn out, pulleys 3ft to 4in., 6ft centres. Superior quality quickly becomes apparent in such drives, while on drives where the life is reckoned in years, it may take a long time before Dick's overwhelming superiority is proved. Save time and money by using only Dick's. Trade Mark every few feet to protect you from imitations.

READ THIS:—

"From September to April I had continuous trouble with belts (of which I tried four different makes). It was not till I had given Dick's a trial that I was free from continuous trouble of stretching, joints breaking, slipping. I consider that to get five months' work from belt travelling at 4000ft per minute over a driving pulley 3ft diameter, and driven pulley 4in diameter, with 6ft centres, almost vertical, is more than satisfactory considering further that it was constantly running nearly 100 hours per week in a dusty atmosphere.

"Yours Faithfully,

THE CHURCHES.

AUSTRALIA AND PATRIOTISM.

"I have been privileged," declares the Rev. J. D. Jones, D.D., writing in the "British Weekly," "to see in Australia the outbreak of a passion of patriotism and loyalty almost overpowering in its fervour. The suggestion has been made that the great dominions were in the Empire just because it suited them, but that they would refuse to embroil themselves in the quarrels of the mother land, and would leave her to fight her battles alone. Well, as far as Australia is concerned that slander has received its coup de grace. The time of England's peril has come, and Australia has let the world know that she means to stand by the old mother land to her last sovereign and her last man. The patriotism of the Australian has a touch of passion in it which surprises the more phlegmatic and restrained Englishman. It is exuberant, excited, almost fierce. It has about it something of the fervour of the Australian climate. When I go out into the streets, one of the things that strikes me—in contrast with England—is the prominence of the flag. The Union Jack (with the addition of the Australian stars) floats everwhere. I have sung the National Anthem oftener, within a given space of time, in Australia than I have ever done in England. Australia means business. She is prepared to contribute both of her treasure and her blood.

"I confess," continues Dr. Jones, "to being thrilled by the way in which Australia has rallied to the old country's side. Australian patriotism is not mere froth. It is a deep, serious, sacrificial thing. Australia has troubles of her own. She is threatened with the most serious drought that she has known for many years. Sheep are dying; wheat crops have failed. The war itself has closed the European markets against her, and she finds the bulk of her wool left on her hands. But she has forgotten her own troubles in her concern for England. To see the mother land safely through this colossal conflict—that is Australia's care just now. So, from every rank men are volunteering for service. Doctors are offering their services for hospital work; ministers are volunteering as chaplains; members of Parliament, even, are serving in the ranks; while the women are busy providing all sorts of comforts and garments for the troops and also the necessaries for the grim and tragic work of the Red Cross Society. Altogether, Australia at the present time is a great place for the Briton to be in."

Dr. Wright, Archbishop of Sydney, will induct the Rev. H. G. Howe to the charge of the parish of All Saints, Leichhardt, on Monday evening, December 14.

The Bishop of Newcastle has arranged to take a holiday at Blackheath for two months, from January 6.

The Rev. T. A. Cato, of Braidwood, New South Wales, and Canon Eccles, of New Zealand, have effected a temporary exchange.

Archdeacon Lewis, who has been appointed Dean of Ballarat, Victoria, will resume his duties as vicar of Armidale during January. The new vicar, Archdeacon Johnstone, of Tamworth, will begin work at Armidale on February 1.

A retreat for members of the Brotherhood of the Good Shepherd was conducted at Dubbo last week by the Rev. Horace Crotty, rector of St. Thomas', North Sydney.

The old parish of Lochinvar, in the diocese of Newcastle, has recently been divided into two, one retaining the old name, the other being entitled Branxton, to the charge of which the Rev. H. H. Hobart, of Weston and Abermain, has been appointed. Presentations were made to Mr. and Mrs. Hobart by their former parishioners.

On Sunday, December 20, the ordination sermon at Armidale Cathedral will be delivered by Dr. Radford, Warden of St. Paul's College.

An invitation from the Auckland diocese has been received by Alderman Betts, Mayor of Goulburn, and a grandson of the Rev. Samuel Marsden, to attend the Marsden centenary in New Zealand. Christmas Day will complete 100 years since Marsden visited New Zealand and preached to the Maoris.

The Rev. C. J. Armstrong, of Grafton, left by the Ulimaroa yesterday on a visit to New Zealand.

The Rev. Canon Fairbrother, who has been in charge of the Inverell parish for the last 14 years, has accepted the charge of Tamworth parish. His appointment will take effect from February next.

About £200 was realised by the Allies Bazaar, held recently in St. Thomas' Hall, Rozelle, for the purpose of raising funds to place a new roof on St. Thomas' Anglican Church.

The Rev. C. E. Hughes, B.A., Anglican rector of Rockley, has been offered and accepted charge of the Narromine parish, and leaves for his new sphere early in January.

To-morrow afternoon the foundation stone of the new school church at Maroubra will be laid and blessed by Dr. Kelly.

A Reception of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Mount-street, North Sydney, was held yesterday morning. Dr. Kelly presided over the proceedings.

A garden fete was held recently in aid of the Sisters of St. Joseph, Lidcombe, the sum of £79 being realised.

A successful mission was recently conducted at St. Nicholas' Church, Penrith, by the Rev. Fathers Morgan and Joyce, of the Redemptionist Order.

The Rev. Father Galvin, recently appointed to Granville, has reason to feel gratified with the welcome accorded him by his new parishioners.

A recent arrival from Ireland is the Rev. Father Coholan, who is to take up work at Lismore.

Dr. P. V. Dwyer, Bishop of Maitland, returned to Sydney on Wednesday, after having paid visits to Rome, France, England, Ireland, and America. Whilst in France he attended the Eucharistic Congress, which this year was held at Lourdes, the procession being participated in by 80,000 persons.

Bishop Carroll, of Lismore, who accompanied Bishop Dwyer round the world, broke his return journey in New Zealand, in order to visit Rotorua. He will arrive in Sydney from Auckland in a few days.

Rev. Father Sheridan, of Nowra, who has been seriously ill, is now convalescent, and is progressing satisfactorily towards complete recovery.

Dean Tobin, who has had charge of the Roman Catholic community in Inverell for the last six months, was, on Saturday afternoon last, presented by his male parishioners, with a substantial cheque in recognition of his services, and on Monday by the ladies with an address and a silver soup tureen and cheese bowl.

Plans and specifications of the new Presbyterian Church at Murrumburrah are in preparation, and will probably be submitted to the church trustees and the presbytery of the Hunter at an early date.

The Rev. J. A. Craigen, of the Presbyterian Church at Urana, who is at present on a visit to Ireland, expects to leave for Australia about the end of the present year.

A memorial service will be held in the Glebe Presbyterian Church to-morrow afternoon, at 3 o'clock, when a tablet to the memory of the late Professor T. E. Clouston, D.D., who was minister of the church for many years, will be unveiled. Professor R. G. Macintyre, B.D., will preside, and representatives of several churches will take part.

This afternoon a large attendance is expected at the ceremony of laying the foundation-stone of the new Presbyterian Church in Upper Lane Cove.

Mr. E. L. Slade Mollen was ordained and inducted at Gloucester on Thursday last.

The Wagga Wagga Presbytery at its quarterly meeting unanimously nominated the Rev. Alexander Gould, of Lismore, as Moderator of the General Assembly for the year 1915.

The Rev. A. McClinchie, who was for many years Presbyterian minister at Culcairn, has gone to South Africa to visit his daughter, but intends to return to New South Wales and take up church work again, which he relinquished through ill-health.

Reasons of ill-health have recently compelled several Methodist ministers to take a temporary rest, among them the Revs. A. Cooper, of Summer Hill, and T. Davies, of Merewether, both of whom are suffering from nerve-strain, due to over work. The Rev. W. H. Rogers, who has also been ill, is now gradually improving.

The Rev. Herbert M. Woodhouse, of the Wagga Wagga circuit, who was recently operated upon for appendicitis, is now making satisfactory progress.

Rev. Charles Stead, who has been absent for some time owing to ill-health, was warmly welcomed at the meeting of Methodist ministers on Monday.

The anniversary of the Methodist Church at Dubbo was successfully celebrated, the financial return of £149 establishing a record.

The death occurred in Melbourne on Wednesday of the Rev. J. P. McCann, an ex-president of the Victorian Methodist Conference.

On Monday night the president of the Methodist Conference left Sydney on an official visitation to the circuits of Junee, Narrandera, Leeton, and Hay.

The Rev. F. P. Joseland has accepted a call to the Richmond (Vic.) Congregational Church in succession to the Rev. Edward Taylor.

Owing to the pressure of his academic duties, Mr. C. B. Cockett, B.A., student pastor of the Willoughby Congregational Church, has resigned, and has arranged to minister at Rockhampton for a month from the middle of January.

The appointment of the Rev. Gordon Robertson, B.A., to the Second Australian Expeditionary Force, left a vacancy in the pulpits of the Congregational Churches at Croydon and Epping. The Rev. R. A. Thompson, B.A., has undertaken to step into the breach.

The dedication of the new pipe organ, which has recently been installed in the Manly Congregational Church, took place on November 18, when a recital was given by Mr. G. N. Barnett.

The Kogarah Congregational Sunday school held recently a successful competitive exhibition and sale of gifts, for the funds of a new school-hall. The sale realised £120.

The following appointments have been made by the Baptist Home Mission committee:—Rev. W. Higlett, to Haberfield; Rev. G. S. Cox, to Lismore; Rev. E. J. Rogers, to Woonona; Rev. H. A. Pyke, to Drummoyne; Rev. R. Pickup, to Concord; Pastor J. Hunter, to Maclean; Rev. J. Cowling, to Cessnock. The following students will supply during college vacation:—R. Melville, at Ingleburn; T. McDougall, at Leichhardt; P. Lanyon, at Sans Souci; H. Cubis, Granville.

Tenders are being called for the erection of a Baptist Church at Lismore.

A site has been secured at Dungog for the erection of a Baptist church.

At the Drummoyne Baptist Church on Sunday morning last, a tablet to the memory of the late pastor, Rev. A. J. Hannah, was unveiled at a special service, at which the Rev. R. Goodman officiated.

Members of the Church of Christ at Erskineville recently resolved to build a school hall within the space of a single day. At 6 a.m. last Saturday the work began, headed by the Rev. P. J. Pond, B.A., and proceeded vigorously till the hall was completed up to eleven at night. The building was in use next day, and was officially opened last Tuesday in the presence of a large gathering. Over 250 new pupils, it may be added, have been gained by the school in the last five months.

The Sydney Y.M.C.A. will place an equipment in the garrison camp now in training on the Randwick Rifle Range, when it will be possible for the trainees to write letters and spend the time in a social way.

The religious work committee of the Y.M.C.A. has reported the formation of a new Bible circle, and a fine attendance at the lectures delivered by the Rev. N. J. Cocks, M.A. The Sunday afternoon meeting showed an average of 75 for the month, and that during the year 346 visitors were welcomed at the strangers' tea, these men coming from all parts of the world.

DATE OF HEARING FIXED.

REMARKS BY JUDGE.

The application made by William Wilson Killen, of Merribee, near Barellan, grazier, calling upon the Australian Workers' Union to show cause why its registration under the Commonwealth Arbitration Act should not be cancelled, was again before Mr. Justice Powers in the Commonwealth Arbitration Court yesterday.

Mr. Knox, K.C., Mr. Lamb, K.C., and Mr. Pitt, instructed by Messrs. M'Lachlan and Murray, represented the applicant; and Dr. Brissenden and Mr. Armstrong, instructed by Mr. A. C. Roberts, appeared for the union.

In adjourning the application to March 1, 1915, his Honor delivered the following statement:—

"I have fully considered the question as to the date to be fixed for hearing and deciding this application to cancel the registration of the organisation. The application was in the first place brought on out of its place in the list, because the organisation was entitled, by its place in the list, to an early hearing of its plaint. An application has since been made to adjourn the hearing of the plaint until September next, which disposes of the urgency previously existing, to have the application dealt with immediately. Mr. Knox, however, pressed for an early hearing, unless an undertaking on behalf of the organisation was given to insert a certain notice in the 'Worker' newspaper, which Dr. Brissenden, on behalf of the organisation, readily gave. Although it was not necessary to say so at the time, if that undertaking had not been given I proposed to hear the application in vacation in January, but I do not now see why hearings fixed for February for parties entitled to their place on the list to a hearing before the application should be further unnecessarily displaced or delayed, and I therefore fix March 1 as the date of hearing. I may add that I hope that before that date counsel for the parties will arrange, as far as possible, to avoid the attendance of witnesses by making admissions of facts as far as they can see their way to do so, to allow the Court to decide the important questions raised by the applicants with as little loss of time as possible. The officers of the organisation concerned in the meantime should, as far as is possible in this time of drought and war, at least prevent its members pressing any practice or rule which is seriously attacked as sufficient to cause a cancellation of the registration pending a decision of this Court. I also wish the applicants to note that, although I propose to deal with the whole matter in March, I repeat that I am of opinion at present that a breach of the provisions of the Act by the organisation or by its members, for which a specific penalty is provided in the Act, is not a ground for cancellation of registration. The first two grounds of the application are based on alleged contraventions by the organisation of section 8 of the Commonwealth Conciliation and Arbitration Act. I do not propose to decide on this application whether it is or is not guilty of those offences, for two reasons:—(1) The organisation can, or at least should, only be prosecuted for such an offence in accordance with the provisions of the Act; (2) if an organisation had been convicted of such an offence it would have to pay the specific penalty fixed by the Act, and not, in addition thereto, suffer the cancellation of its charter. Ground 3, and some other grounds of the application, are based on the commission of criminal offences, triable by a Judge, or by a Judge and jury. I do not propose to decide on this application whether the organisation or its members are guilty of criminal offences. It might prejudice their trial, and I do not find in the Act the commission of an offence as one of the reasons why the registration should be cancelled, or one I should act on in exercising my discretion under section 60 (a). I have already stated that I am of the opinion that acts done by organisers or agents of the organisation not in accordance with the rules of the organisation, or the instructions of the organisation, which are not proved to have been authorised, or adopted, by the corporate body would not be a ground for cancellation of registration of the organisation. I mention this because of the evidence contained in some of the declarations submitted, numbering over 250, and to avoid, if possible, witnesses being called unnecessarily, and to avoid any misunderstanding through the reference at the end of yesterdays proceedings to 'boycotting.'"

SHOP HOLIDAYS.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR.

The attention of shopkeepers is directed to an advertisement in this issue, setting forth the closing hours to be observed, in terms of the Early Closing Acts, during the Christmas and New Year periods. Provided the shops are closed during the whole of Christmas Day or Boxing Day and New Year's Day, and the shop assistants are not employed during any portion of those days, shops which usually close at 1 o'clock on Saturday must close at that hour on Saturday, December 19, but may remain open until 10 p.m. on Thursday, December 24 (Christmas Eve), and Thursday, December 31 (New Year's Eve), and until 6 o'clock (hairdressers' shops until 7.30 p.m.) on Saturday, January 2, 1915.

Shops which usually close at 1 o'clock on Wednesday must close at that hour on Wednesday, December 16, but may remain open on Thursday, December 24 (Christmas Eve), Thursday, December 31 (New Year's Eve), and Saturday, January 2, until 10 p.m., and until 6 p.m. (hairdressers' shops 7.30 p.m.) on Wednesday, December 23, and Wednesday, December 30.

EMBARGO ON A SENATOR.

Senator Blakey, of Victoria, arrived in Sydney yesterday by the express from Melbourne, with the object of leaving to-day for the Solomon Islands on a health trip. He presented himself at a shipping office to book, but was told he could not make the trip, as he had not been vaccinated. The Senator, who is opposed to vaccination, thought of the trunks and bags he had packed, and relatives and friends to whom he had bade good-bye, but he was obdurate. He would not be vaccinated.

BROWN.—A loving tribute to the memory of our dearly loved and only child, William Edward (Eddie), who was accidentally killed December 12, 1912, aged 12 years 11½ months.

A blank is in our home, sorrow is our lot,
The love that was our own will never be forgot.
But he has found a life untouched by pain or sin,
While we, oppressed by care, have still our crown to win.
Left behind, we wait in trust
Till the resurrection day.
Father, in Thy gracious keeping,
Leave we now our darling sleeping.

Sadly missed by his lonely parents, W. M. and T. E. Brown.

BROWN.—In loving memory of our dear grandson, Eddie, who was accidentally killed December 12, 1912, aged 12 years and 11½ months.

Dear little Eddie, gone to the clime,

BROWN.—In loving memory of our dear nephew and cousin, Eddie, who was accidentally killed December 12, 1912, aged 12 years and 11½ months.

Safely, safely, gathered in,
Far from sorrow, far from sin.
No more sadness, no more tears,
No more childish grief or fears.
For the life so young and fair
Now has passed from earthly care.
God Himself the soul will keep,
Giving His beloved sleep.

Inserted by his loving uncle and aunt, F. and M. Brown, and cousins, Arthur and Hazel.

BROWN.—A tribute of unfading love to the memory of our dear nephew and cousin, Eddie, who was accidentally killed in Redfern, December 12, 1912, aged 12 years and 11½ months.

Sweet to memory, dear to our hearts,
Our love to your memory never shall part.
We know that our years, by they many or few,
Will be years of remembrance, dear Eddie, of you.

DELOHERY.—A tribute of love to the memory of our dear sister, Gertie, who passed away on December 13, 1913, at Pyrmont, aged 24 years.

We saw her suffering day by day;
It caused us bitter grief,
To see her slowly pine away,
And could not give relief.
Not dead to us—we loved her dear;
Not lost, but gone before.
She lives with us in memory still,
And will for ever more.

Inserted by her loving sisters, Florrie and Tittie.

DOBBIE.—In loving memory of my dear sister, Mary Ann Dobbie, who departed this life December 11, 1913.

The flowers we placed upon your grave
Will wither and decay;
But the love for you who lies beneath
Will never fade away.

Inserted by her loving sister, Kate Gillard.

JACKSON.—In sad but loving memory of our dear father, Charles Jackson, who departed this life December 13, 1913, aged 71.

Still I mourn thee, still I miss thee,
Deep within my heart enshrined
Lives the memory of my father,
Always faithful, true, and kind.
Just as the evening sun was shedding
On the earth its beam of love,
Angels softly bore my father
To their heavenly home above.

Sadly missed. Inserted by his loving wife, Jane Jackson, and son, Charlie.

LANDES.—In loving memory of our dear beloved mother, Henrietta, who was accidentally killed on Saturday, December 13, 1913.

A precious one from us is gone,
A voice we loved so dear is stilled;
A place is vacant in our home
Which never can be filled.
God in His wisdom has recalled
The boon His love has given,
And, although the body slumbers here,
The soul is safe in Heaven.

Inserted by her loving children, Bertha, Ben, and Sam, and son-in-law, Abe.

LANDES.—In loving memory of our dearly beloved mother, Henrietta Landes, who departed this life on December 13, 1913. You will never be forgotten. Inserted by Rose, Sam, and Emanuel.

MEADES.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Clara Ada Meades, died December 12, 1913, aged 63 years.

So calmly she sleeps in God's holy acre,
Released from all sorrow and pain,
For ever at rest in the arms of her Maker,
And humbly we pray we may meet again.

Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, and granddaughter, Leah, Rich., and Myrtle.

MEADES.—A loving tribute to the memory of our dear mother, Clara Ada Meades, who died December 12, 1913. Rest in peace. Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hallam.

NOAKES.—In sad but loving memory of our darling mother, who departed this life December 12, 1911, after a short but painful illness, aged 40 years. Sadly missed.

Rest, dearest mother, sweetly rest,
Thy loving hands shall toil no more.

Inserted by her ever loving daughter and son-in-law, A. and S. Eldridge, Victor-street, Lidcombe.

NOAKES.—A tribute of love and respect to the memory of our dear mother, who passed to a higher life December 12, 1911. Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, Isabella and Will Sugden.

NOAKES.—In sad but loving memory of our darling mother who departed this life December 12, 1911, after a short but painful illness, aged 40 years.

We, who loved you, sadly miss you,
A true, kind mother and faithful friend.

Inserted by her ever loving daughter and son-in-law, W. and E. Stubbs, Lidcombe.

NOAKES.—In loving memory of our dear mother, who departed this life December 12, 1911. Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law, C. and J. Eldridge. They miss you most who love best.

OLDHAM.—A sacred tribute of love to the memory of my darling, my brave soldier son, the late Trooper T. J. Oldham (Joe), No. 3 N.S.W. Bushmen, killed in action at De Wiltte Krans, South Africa, December 13, 1901. Inserted by his sorrowing mother.

OLDHAM.—A sacred tribute of love to the memory of our dearly-loved brother, Joe, No. 3 N.S.W. Bushmen, killed in action at De Wiltte Krans, South Africa, December 13, 1901. Inserted by his loving brothers, Edwin, Stanley, and Bob.

OLDHAM.—In loving memory of my beloved comrade, Trooper Joe Oldham (No. 3 N.S.W. Bushmen), killed in action at De Wiltte Krans, South Africa, December 13, 1901. Inserted by his comrade, Jack Ellis, A.M.C., now on active service at New Guinea.

OLSEN.—In loving memory of my dear husband and our dear father, Captain Nicholas Olsen, who passed away December 10, 1902.

A better father never lived,
Not one more true and kind;
His equal in this weary world
We very rarely find.

Inserted by his loving wife and family, Mrs. M. Olsen, 18 Bruce-street, Rozelle.

OLSEN.—In loving memory of my dear dad, who passed away at the Coast Hospital with typhoid fever, December 10, 1902. Inserted by his loving daughter, Mrs. M. Landon, Drummoyne.

IN MEMORIAM.

PHILLIPS.—In sad and loving memory of Alex. A. Phillips, who departed this life December 12, 1913, third loved son of Phillip and Martha Phillips, late of Adelong, and brother of Barnard and Rachel Phillips, Willoughby. Gone, but not forgotten.

QUILTY.—In loving memory of my dear sister Jennie, who died December 12, 1910. Inserted by her loving sister, Mrs. W. E. Carlisle, Adelaide.

ROGERS.—In loving memory of our dear mother, Sarah Ann, who departed this life December 12, 1912.

Call not back the dear departed,
Anchored safe where storms are o'er;
On the borderland we left her,
Soon to meet and part no more.
Far beyond the world of changes,
Far beyond this world of care,
We shall find our missing loved one,
In our Father's mansion fair.

Inserted by her loving daughter and son-in-law; also grandchildren, Agnes and Joseph Zuber.

RYMAN.—In loving memory of our beloved son, Peter, who departed this life on December 12, 1912, aged 15 years. Inserted by his fond parents, Peter and Bella Ryman.

SCHOLZ.—In loving memory of my dear husband and our father, John Scholz, who departed this life December 12, 1913, late of Cootamundra.

We mourn for you in silence
As we picture you each day.

Inserted by his loving wife and children.

SLATTERY.—In loving memory of my dear mother and our dear grandmother, Margaret Slattery, who died on December 11, 1901, at her residence, Denison-road, Lewisham. May eternal happiness be your lot. Inserted by her loving daughter, Lizzie, and grandchildren, Ellie, Jim, and Lizzie.

SMITHWICK.—In loving remembrance of my dearly beloved wife and our good mother, Margaret Smithwick, who passed away at her residence, Norwood, Leichhardt, December 13, 1913, aged 68 years. At rest. There is no friend like our mother. Sadly missed by her loving husband, son, and daughter.

SOLOMONS.—In loving memory of our darling little daughter, Iris Sylvia, who departed this life December 13, 1913, aged 15 months.

We saw her fading day by day,
But could not take her stay.
We nursed her with our tenderest care
Till God called her away.
None knew how sad the parting,
Nor what the farewell.
But God and his loved angels
Have gained what we have lost.

Inserted by her loving father and mother, Sid and Dolly; sisters and brother, Daphne, Clive, and Mavis.

SOLOMONS.—In loving memory of Iris, our dear little granddaughter and niece, who departed this life December 13, 1913, aged 1 year and 3 months.

Dear baby Iris has gone to that clime,
Waiting for loved one coming some time;
Safe with the angels, whiter than snow,
Watching for loved ones waiting below.

Inserted by her loving grandparents, Eliza and Henry Haynes, auntie and uncle, Doris and Henry Haynes.

SOLOMONS.—In loving memory of our darling little niece, Iris Sylvia, who departed this life December 13, 1913, aged 15 months.

A little bud as white as snow
Was by an angel given,
But fearing earth would spoil its bloom,
God planted it in heaven.

Inserted by her loving uncle and aunt, Will and Flo. Hargraves.

SOLOMONS.—A tribute of love to our darling niece and cousin, Iris Sylvia, who died December 13, 1913.

STEELE (nee Rohan).—A tribute of everlasting remembrance of our dear daughter, Dora Muriel, who departed this life December 12, 1908, aged 28 years.

It is sad yet true, we cannot tell why,
The good are the first that are called on to die.
In heaven we trust to meet you some day,
For death is a tribute we all have to pay.

Inserted by her loving father, mother, sisters, brother, and her daughter Brenda.

STEELE.—A tribute of love to the unfaded memory of my dear sister, Dora Muriel Steele (nee Rohan), who departed this life December 12, 1908, aged 28 years. Inserted by her ever fond sister and brother-in-law, Vera and Leonard Turvey; also her dear daughter, Brenda Hildred.

TAAFFE.—In loving memory of my dear husband and father, George Francis Taaffe, who died at St. Vincent's Hospital, December 13, 1912.

Oh, for the touch of a vanished hand,
The sound of a voice that is stilled.

Inserted by his sorrowing wife and daughter, Maggie and Agnes Taaffe, Marfield Station, Ivanhoe, N.S.W.

TAAFFE.—In loving memory of our dear father and grandfather, who died at St. Vincent's Hospital, December 13, 1912.

Anchored by love, which death cannot sever,
We miss you, dear father, and will for ever.

Inserted by his loving granddaughters, son-in-law, and daughter, Margaret, Dorothy, Alf, and Mary Ward.

TAAFFE.—In loving memory of our dear brother and uncle, George Francis Taaffe, who died at St. Vincent's Hospital, December 13, 1912.

As the ivy clings to the oak,
So our memory clings to thee.

Inserted by his loving brother, sister, nephews, and nieces, M. J. and M. E. Love and family, Marfield Station, Ivanhoe, N.S.W.

TRAPPEL.—In memory of Joseph Trappel, who died December 10, 1911, aged 71 years. Inserted by his stepson, Harry Counsel.

WARWICK.—In sad but loving memory of our darling daughter, and sister, Clara, who died December 12, 1912.

Time has passed and still we miss you;
Words would fail our love to tell;
But in heaven we hope to meet you,
Jesus doeth all things well.

Inserted by her loving mother and father, and brothers Frank and Harry.

WARWICK.—In sad but loving memory of our darling sister, Clara (Tot), who died December 12, 1912.

We miss thee from our home, dear Clara,
We miss the sunshine of your face.
This world would be all heaven,
Could we but hear your voice again.

Inserted by her loving sisters, Nellie, Mary, Esther.

WARWICK.—In loving and affectionate memory of my darling sister, Clara (Tottie), who departed this life December 12, 1912. Inserted by her loving brother Ted.

WHITE.—In loving memory of my dear wife and our dear mother, Elizabeth White, who departed this life December 12 1900.

Time may pass, but memory lingers
Round a grave not far away,
Where we laid our dear mother
Just fourteen years ago to-day.

THE BATTLE AT SEA.

In Berlin last month people were flocking to see a play which was called "1914," and in which one of the main incidents was an announcement of the fall of Antwerp. The audience, as we may imagine, burst into shouts of applause at the news of a national victory, but as they did so a singer came forward with the words, "Not so loud," and bade them remember the price of triumph. In front of the city he told them there lay the bodies of hundreds of men, each one of whom had left some home desolate, each of whom was to some family or to some individual worth more than all the rest of the world. The picture is very different from what we have been taught to expect of the German people. The warning of the singer reminds us that there are elementary passions which not even the most rigorous teaching can expunge, some institutions which remain permanent, in spite of the most severe military discipline. The passion of pity survives even the hatred of a great war, men are still husbands and fathers, the family remains the unit of life, even though the world is divided among nations warring against each other. It is not inappropriate for us to recall this lesson on the day on which we announce one of the great naval triumphs of the war. It is an occasion for us of unmixed rejoicing. We rejoice in a victory for British ships over the enemy which had defeated Admiral Cradock, and in a part of the world which had scarcely seen the British arms since the great voyage of Drake. The victory adds a new glory to the tradition which is the inheritance of all members of the British Empire. For that reason the news has been received with gratitude by the people of England, and by the allied troops in France. To us, however, it means more than to any other of the dominions. We know now that our coasts are safe, as long as the British navy remains undefeated in the North Sea, or as long as the war lasts. Our merchant ships are free from the last vestige of danger, we ourselves are free to send to the seat of war all the troops whom we might have been compelled to retain for home defence. Yet when the fullest expression has been given to our natural exultation, when the enormous value of these assurances are computed, we cannot help remembering the same lesson that the singer has taught to his audiences. The cables tell us that a few survivors have been picked up from the German ships. There is no need to let our thoughts dwell for too long on the details of a naval battle to imagine what an agony of suffering must have been endured before the companions of these survivors met their death. We know from the battle between the Emden and the Sydney what must be the sufferings of a defeated sailor on a modern ship of war. All the elements are against him as he struggles against them, and the longer he succeeds in delaying his final extinction the greater his miseries become. But from the day the Revenge fought against the Spaniards until the Good Hope and the Monmouth were sunk off the coast of Chili, it has been the tradition of the British navy to struggle until after the last chance has gone, and that tradition as we now know has been absorbed by their only rivals for the mastery of the seas. The bravest of our ships never showed finer courage than the Emden from the moment when she sent her first shot into the Sydney until she lay, with colours still flying, waiting for the last broadside. We need not be told that the same bravery was shown by the Scharnhorst and her fellow-victims in the five hours' battle with the British cruisers. The British possessed an advantage which under modern conditions must be decisive, as we know by their freedom from injury. Yet we know that the enemy fought on until four out of the five were sunk, and only one of the smallest made its escape, with the conquerors in hot pursuit. Admiral Sturdee has done great work for the Empire by thus exterminating a squadron that had successfully eluded pursuit until it had itself gained a notable victory. But when we have thanked him and rejoiced with him and his men, the final sentiment in our minds must be one of pity, pity for the brave men who have met their death, even though it was the death they most desired, pity that the world should lose utterly the benefit of such skill and courage, that after a few hours of utter misery these brave lives, with their ships, the final triumph of men's handiwork, should have perished as if they had never been.

It is one of the lessons of all wars that nothing can drive out of the combatants on either side their sense of a common humanity. The Germans in France and Belgium have done things that will make the name of German execrated, and will make the German standard of conduct a by-word of contempt. Yet to-day the English and German soldiers fraternise when they are not killing each other, just as the French and English soldiers fraternised in the Peninsula. Between the two navies there is a bond of respect which is different from, though not inconsistent with, this human sympathy. It springs partly, no doubt, from a sense of professional fellowship and partly from a feeling less easily defined, which all sailors have in common, and which arises from knowledge and experience of the sea. The war which has destroyed so much that might have been of immortal benefit to mankind has only heightened and intensified this feeling of mutual respect. Civilians have marvelled at the courage of the submarines which a few hours after the declaration of war penetrated into the mouth of the Elbe, or, the other day, in spite of the vigilance of British patrols, made their way as far as Dover Harbour. To naval officers such gallantry is all part of the day's work, the necessary incidents of the greatest profession of all. Yet even to naval officers there has been some sort of confirmation of hopes, if not of revelation, in the knowledge that the carefully-educated scientist of the twentieth century would face the same dangers in the same way as the seamen under Nelson or St. Vincent, or even under Drake. There may be doubts as to the wisdom of the German fleet in staying so long in their harbours, in allowing British ships a monopoly of the world's commerce, and British transports a free passage over the seas. But there will be no doubt of the quality of their courage or of their skill, least of all among the great ships which have been kept in prolonged inaction about the British coasts. We know well that these Dreadnoughts are only longing for the great battle in which, after satisfying the last demands of patience and endurance, they will manifest the same courage and the same resource as has been shown by the British army. If this battle is never fought, the navy will still have saved the Empire by warding off invasion, and by enabling our troops to cross to France in safety. But we may be sure that at present Admiral Sturdee and those with him are the most envied in the service on which, as we were warned again only yesterday, the safety of this kingdom mainly depends.

THE CLAIMS OF CIVIC LIFE.

In the midst of war it is not surprising that the election of Lord Mayor of Sydney should pass over without mark of public interest. Yet it is desirable that the people should give a little attention at least to the things that are happening at home. It is but natural that our main interest should be concentrated upon the war, in which such great issues are at stake, but, after all, the business of the world must go on, and the claims of our national and civic life must not be forgotten. A people who, whilst engaged in a world-shattering war, upon the issue of which may depend their very existence, can yet proceed with general elections, as in the case of the Commonwealth, Victoria, and New Zealand, can afford to devote some time and thought to other important matters of national and domestic concern. Contingent after contingent may leave the shores of England, of Canada, of Australia, but the Empire's business must proceed; and, indeed, "business as usual" is the Empire's present motto. By adopting it we are not only helping ourselves in the land we live in, but are doing the best thing we can to help in defeating the enemy. It is surely not too much to ask that the citizens of Sydney shall give some thought to matters of vital civic concern. The time seems to have nearly come for a sweeping change. We have grown weary of the dull, do-nothing policy of our present City Council. It is with a city, as it is with a nation—it cannot stand still, but must either go forward or go backward. That Sydney, in comparison with other great cities of the world, in comparison with Melbourne, to go no farther, is going backward no one who has watched the course of events during the past two or three years can doubt. Our civic life has degenerated into a dull and hopeless routine, lacking initiative, lacking foresight, content to jog along from day to day in the rut of commonplace and incompetence. It cannot be allowed to go on like this much longer. Prior to his election as Lord Mayor a year ago, Alderman Richards, who had had the advantage of having at one time served as city surveyor, and had obtained a peculiar insight into Town Hall methods, drew an alarming picture of muddle and mismanagement, and boasted that if he were made Lord Mayor he would clean up the Augean stable in a week! He was made Lord Mayor—and what has he done? Nothing beyond bringing about an amalgamation of the city surveyor's and city cleansing departments. And surely there was never a greater public confession of weakness than that which he made after his re-election to the Lord Mayoralty a few days ago. He knew that reforms were required, but it was impossible for him "to fly in the face of the council." It was not only a confession of his own weakness—for a man whose heart was set on reforms would either carry them out or resign—but it was also the severest possible indictment of the council as a body. A Lord Mayor who, knowing well what reforms are required, yet lacks the courage to carry them out, is hardly the sort of Lord Mayor that this city requires.

But whatever Alderman Richards may or may not do during the coming year, we are convinced that the time has come to think seriously about a change in our methods of municipal government, and it is idle to think of postponing it much longer. Some time ago Mr. Flowers spoke of the possibility of government by a commission of three, and when we find this proposal taken up by a member of the City Council itself, apparently wearied of the present state of affairs, we have a significant indication of the trend of events. It has, indeed, been no secret that some of the aldermen are disgusted with the chaotic condition of city municipal affairs. When reform cannot come from within, it must come from without. Alderman Maliett proposes that at the next City Council elections a referendum shall be taken on the question of governing the city by commission, just as the business of the port of Sydney is governed by commission. There is much to be said in favour of this scheme. It has been tried with success, for instance, in some American cities. Sydney has been governed by commission before. As long ago as 1849 a select committee of the Legislative Council was appointed to inquire into the working of the Corporation of Sydney, and the report then made was one which exactly fits the case to-day. The committee was "perfectly satisfied that the body had entirely lost the confidence of the citizens, and was regarded as an impediment to the improvement of the city." The result was an Act vesting all the powers then exercised by the Corporation in three commissioners, and for three years—from 1854 to 1857—we had government by commission. Are we to come to that pass again? Our own view is that the true solution of our municipal troubles lies in the creation of a Greater Sydney, and with it a greater and more dignified governing body. We have talked long, we have had a Royal Commission, and taken all the evidence that is required; it is now time to act. The example of the London County Council is sufficient warrant for the step. Instead of one central body and so many smaller bodies surrounding it, pulling this way and that in hopeless confusion and antagonism, we should have an all-embracing authority, with a proper co-ordination of services and a freedom from the shackles of dual control and all those other drawbacks which confront us to-day. More than that, we should, by creating a municipal parliament of this kind, attract to the service of our city all the best elements in our professional and business life; and to be selected as Lord Mayor of this city would be an honour indeed. There is scope in municipal life for the best talents—it was in the municipal life of Birmingham that the late Mr. Joseph Chamberlain laid the foundation of that great public career to which the British Empire owes so much—but as long as the conditions of municipal life in Sydney remain as they are to-day, it is hopeless to expect the best men to come forward. With the beginning of a Greater Sydney we would close the old book, thankful that we had reached the last page of it, and open a new one, hopeful of the dawn of a brighter municipal era. Whatever the form of the franchise—and that is a vexed question—we believe that a Greater Sydney presents the best solution of present difficulties. Parliament, it is said, is what the people make it. So it would be with a Greater Sydney Council; and we believe that our people have pride enough in their beautiful and expanding city to make a far better council than the one we have at present.

PRICE OF BREAD.

The Necessary Commodities Control Commission has forwarded to the Governor a report on the price of bread.

Evidence was given before the commission in favour of an increase in the price of bread, and the report now in the hands of his Excellency contains the recommendations of the commission on the point.

FEDERAL FINANCE.

ARRANGEMENT WITH BANKS.

READ IN PARLIAMENT.

BUDGET DEBATE.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

In the House of Representatives to-day the Budget debate was resumed.

Sir William Irving (Vic.) agreed that it was only fair that taxation be put on to meet war conditions, but he objected to the war being used by the Government to further their party platform. If the death duties were only to be imposed during the war he would not object to them, but if they were to be permanent it was an imposition.

The Attorney-General: The tax in its present form will not be permanent.

Sir William Irvine objected to the burden of the war being placed on 16,000 people out of 5,000,000 by means of the land tax. He doubted at the present time, with the disastrous drought, whether the Government would be able to collect the tax. The majority of the landholders now had no money to meet their obligations.

Referring to the raising of the loan of £10,000,000, Sir William Irvine said that it was now time that the Prime Minister dropped all secrecy in connection with the business and placed the House in possession of all the facts in connection with the agreement with the banks.

An interchange of questions and answers took place between the Prime Minister and Sir William Irvine, in which Mr. Fisher made it clear that the banks agreed not to put £10,000,000 worth of notes in circulation. There was nothing to prevent them doing what they liked with the paper, but it depended on their honour not to circulate the notes.

Further crossfiring took place between the Prime Minister and Sir William Irvine on the subject of the bank agreement, and finally, in desperation, Mr. Fisher went behind the Speaker's chair, and after a word with the Secretary of the Treasury, returned and threw on the table a document, saying, "There you are; you've got it now."

Several members raised the point as to whether it was right to publish the agreement, seeing that it had not been signed by the banks.

Mr. Fisher: The terms have been agreed to, but the agreement has not been signed. Still, so much has been said about it, that I think, in the interests of the Commonwealth, it should now be read.

Sir Wm. Irvine then read the agreement, which was as follows:—(a) "Agreement entered into between the Commonwealth Treasurer and the Associated Banks of Victoria, the Commonwealth Treasury to issue Australian notes to cover expenditure for the expeditionary forces, and for other requirements. (b) If the Commonwealth Treasurer desires money in London, the banks, if required, to provide cover by telegraphic transfer at par, or to lodge gold at any capital city in the Commonwealth, not exceeding in all £10,000,000, as required from time to time in exchange for Australian notes. (c) The banks may make such use of the Australian notes for banking purposes as they desire, but shall not present the notes at the Treasury for gold. (d) The issue of Australian notes, to be considered an emergency war issue, to be redeemed in gold at the close of the war. (e) The State Governments to borrow in London, with the security of the Commonwealth for all their requirements. (f) The Commonwealth Treasurer to make advances to the banks if required in Australian notes. The banks to deposit in gold one-third of the amount of notes advanced, and to give a deposit receipt at 4 per cent. per annum for the balance. Deposit receipts to be payable 12 months after the end of the war, and the banks to have the option of paying same at any time before maturity."

Note.—Since the agreement was made it has been arranged that the Commonwealth will borrow in London for war purposes, and that the Commonwealth will make advances to the States for their requirements for public works.

Mr. Watt (Vic.) described the tariff as a post-impressionist tariff. He went on to say that in many quarters all post-impressionists were considered lunatics. Protection had rolled away; revenue had crossed over; and the interstate clash had yet to come. (Laughter.) They should have the evidence and findings of the Interstate Commission to assist them in regard to industries of which they had no knowledge. He commended the large Imperial spirit that prompted the British Government to come to the assistance of her children oversea, and said that the action had not been sufficiently recognised.

THE TERMS.

WHEN VICTORY IS WON.

CONFIDENCE OF THE FRENCH.

A correspondent, J.F.W., in an article in "The Economist," of October 24, gives a very interesting account of a visit to Paris, Bordeaux, Lyons, and Marseilles during the first fortnight of October.

"At the moment when I write (October 10)," he says, "the French confidence is absolute, and the outward behaviour of every class of the population perfectly calm. If the enemy has formed any idea that internal convulsion is likely to put difficulties in the way of the French his miscalculation is complete. The French are convinced that man for man they are better than the Germans, and that though the German mechanism may be excellent, and their officers of unflinching bravery, there is more initiative, more courage, and, in a word, better military qualities among the French than among the German rank and file. This is not said in any spirit of boastfulness, but it is said with emphasis and conviction. Further, in some of the most important military details the French have a marked superiority. The 75-millimetre gun outclasses the German field artillery. It is perhaps hardly necessary to say that this calm confidence is very far removed from anything like a detached attitude to the war. The atmosphere is charged with emotion; a spark may at any time detonate the explosion. It is rare to have a five minutes' conversation in the train on the subject of the war without noticing a catch in the breath; the animosity against the Germans is fierce and universal. Conscription has, indeed, the effect of making every European war a personal matter. . . Every single person in France is struggling, either in his own person or in that of some member of his family. For the moment the struggle is everything. The rather more cold attitude which is possible in a country where only a professional and voluntary army is engaged is in France impossible. These changed conditions will not make more easy the task of the diplomats. For every Frenchman has in this matter a personal interest, and a settlement which falls short of what he would wish will not be accepted unless it is inevitable. The idea that Germany can ever be treated as anything but an outlaw; that her word can be trusted; that she can be, in the event of defeat, treated with leniency with a view to her possible moral regeneration—all this seems to the French I have met sheer madness, that could only find a home in a brain which had no direct experience of the German."

"On the subject of the terms which French public opinion would ask in the event of a complete victory, the correspondent says they are based on the conviction that European peace is impossible so long as a German Empire remains united and armed under the Hohenzollerns. Summing up the result of many conversations, he says that "France would demand something like this: (1) The Hohenzollerns to be treated as was Napoleon in 1814. Peace must be made with the Bundesrat, but not with William II. (2) France to have restored to her Alsace and Lorraine. No suggestion of a plebiscite in the annexed districts would be tolerated, and the idea of a neutral State would be scouted. If Germans have settled in the annexed provinces they did so with notice of the French claim. They have no 'equity' to a plebiscite. Apart from Alsace-Lorraine, I do not think there is any considerable body of French opinion that would demand any other annexation. But this might change. (3) A crushing war indemnity, to include specially full reparation to Belgium. (4) The dissolution of the German Empire into at least two States, one of which would be of a federal nature, and include most of the Catholic region of Germany, with the possible addition of German Austria, the other being Prussia reduced to very narrow limits, not only to the west by the adhesion of Catholic Rhenish Prussia to the Northern Confederacy, but also to the east by the restoration of Poland. (5) With regard to Austria-Hungary, the French anticipate a dissolution and re-arrangement on national lines, the details of which are not of special importance from the French point of view. (6) Some would also wish to see Germany stripped of her colonies. But I doubt if this point would be regarded as equally vital with the others.

"It would be impertinent and improper for me to discuss these views," he adds, "but those of our own people who are meditating how in the end Europe may be freed from this nightmare must face the fact of their existence, and take them, as facts, into account."

NAVAL BATTLE.

THE NURNBERG SUNK.

IMPORTANT VICTORY.

RAID ON DOVER.

BY GERMAN SUBMARINES.

The German cruiser Nurnberg has been sunk by the British squadron in the South Atlantic, as well as the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, and Leipzig.

Admiral von Spee went down with his flagship, and a German communique states that their losses seem to have been great.

The British did not lose a ship.

Early on Thursday morning German submarines attempted to enter Dover Harbour, but were repulsed.

It is claimed that one submarine, which actually entered the harbour, was sunk, but there is no confirmation of this.

On the Franco-Belgian front the Germans have lost trenches at several points, and the Allies' artillery again proved better along the Aisne and in the Champagne district.

There is no change in the situation in Poland.

Over-confidence and fatal slowness on the part of the Austrians resulted in their being driven back in Servia with heavy losses.

THE SEA VICTORY.

FOURTH GERMAN SUNK.

ACTION LASTS FIVE HOURS.

LONDON, Dec. 10.

It is officially announced that the Nurnberg was also sunk by the British squadron on Tuesday near the Falkland Islands, in addition to the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, and Leipzig.

Search for the Dresden continues.

The action, which took place on the 8th—not the 5th—instant, lasted five hours, with intervals.

The Scharnhorst sank after three hours, and the Gneisenau two hours later.

No British vessel was lost.

GERMAN ADMIRAL DROWNED.

NEW YORK, Dec. 11.

A wireless message from Port Stanley (Falkland Islands) states that Admiral von Spee went down with the Scharnhorst.

The German ships tried to avoid the British, but miscalculated the latter's route.

The newspapers in Buenos Ayres are elated over the British victory, as it means the deliverance of commerce in the Atlantic and a return to normal conditions.

All the newspapers contain enthusiastic comments on the victory of Vice-Admiral Sturdee's squadron.

The "World" says:—"The fight is easily the most important naval engagement of the war."

ENEMY'S GREAT LOSS.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 11.

An Admiralty communique published at Berlin reproduces the British announcement regarding the sinking of three cruisers, and adds that the German losses seem to have been great.

CONGRATULATIONS.

LONDON, Dec. 11.

The King and the Admiralty have congratulated Vice-Admiral Sturdee and his squadron on the naval action.

M. Victor Augagneur (French Minister for Marine) and General Sir John French, on behalf of the expeditionary army, also sent congratulations.

A Paris message states that the newspapers there pay glowing tributes to the British navy on account of the victory, and declare that it is a splendid answer to the unintelligent question, "What is the British fleet doing?" The victory will have considerable consequences, and shows that British methods have asserted their superiority.

Intense satisfaction is felt in Petrograd (states a message from the Russian capital) on account of Admiral Sturdee's victory, and particularly on account of the secrecy regarding movements of the British fleet and the completeness of its success.

NURNBERG'S LAST EXPLOIT.

The Nurnberg was a third-class cruiser of [illegible] tons displacement, her length being 351ft. She was built at Kiel in 1906, and carried ten 4.1in guns and eight 2.1in guns. It was the Nurnberg that made the raid on the Fanning Island cable station at the beginning of September. She approached the island at half-past 1 o'clock in the morning with French colours flying at the peak, and landed several boatloads of armed sailors, who formed a cordon round the station while a party smashed the instruments. The cable operator had just time to despatch a message to Suva when he was made a prisoner. The shore ends of the cable were cut, and other damage done, the Germans also seizing £750 in coin that was in the manager's safe.

CHEERS IN PARLIAMENT.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Prior to the business of the Legislative Assembly [illegible], the Premier said:—"News has just reached Australia of our great [illegible] in connection with the naval [illegible]. (Cheers.) We must express gratification at the news coming at this particular time. It seems to me, Mr. Speaker, although we have no official news in that direction, that our own battleship, which was reported to have been searching for these German vessels, has driven them south round Cape Horn, where the British naval squadron has been awaiting them. (Cheers.) We hope this country has taken some important part in the engagement. (Hear, hear.) In any case, the news is gratifying to the Empire, and particularly so to us in Australia, for our trade routes have been threatened by these German cruisers. I feel very glad to receive such news before delivery of my Budget." (Cheers.)

The leader of the Opposition, Mr. Elmslie, said he wanted to join with the Premier in expressing satisfaction at the news.

The Premier: "Let us stand and give three cheers for the British Navy." The cheers were given heartily.

Mr. Solly: "One for Australia."

There was just as hearty a response.

THE DEFEAT OFF CHILI

A HOPELESS BATTLE.

LONDON, Dec. 11.

A member of the Otranto's crew writes:—"The Good Hope, Monmouth, Glasgow, and Otranto, were searching for the enemy, whose ships were supposed to be three cruisers of the Dresden type. We were ordered to steam northwards at noon on November 1, and sweep the ocean as far as Valparaiso. At 4 o'clock the Glasgow reported the Scharnhorst, Gneisenau, Dresden, and Leipzig.

"Imagine our horror when we found we had to fight Germany's most modern ships. But there was no retirement, so we prepared for a hopeless battle. The enemy's speed enabled them to get us with the sun behind us. Both fleets were steaming slowly, the ships doing about 16 knots. The Scharnhorst and Gneisenau at sunset fired broadsides. The shells fell in front of the Otranto's bows. Then all the ships fired except the Otranto, which was outranged.

"The Good Hope's bridge was afire in five minutes. The Monmouth was ablaze a few minutes later. When the Good Hope ordered the Otranto to get out of range, all she could do was to watch her comrades being mercilessly shelled, unable to raise a hand to help them. The Glasgow continued to fight until 8 o'clock, when she and the Otranto went away at full speed. The enemy chased the Otranto 3000 miles, but she deceived them and escaped."

An officer of the Glasgow states: "Owing to the big sea and gathering darkness, it was impossible to spot the fall of our shells. We could only aim at the flash of the enemy's guns. We cannot understand the miracle of our deliverance. Of six hundred shells, five struck us on the waterline, but not in vulnerable places. Our coal saved us three times.

"We had only two guns capable of piercing armour, and one of them was out of action after ten minutes' fighting. We then made for the Straits of Magellan, to warn the Canopus, which was 200 miles to the southward. It was some hours before we communicated with her owing to the enemy jamming our wireless messages."

SUBMARINE RAID.

ATTACK AT DOVER.

ENEMY REPULSED.

LONDON, Dec. 11.

It is reported that six German submarines attempted to enter the Admiralty harbour at Dover.

The fort maintained a furious fusillade for half an hour, sinking one.

The Naval authorities at Dover are extremely reticent, but the newspapers state that early on Thursday morning, when it was hazy and raining, the gunner at a heavy gun on the pierhead detected a submarine attempting to enter the western entrance. It was then 4.30, and the high tide gave fewer currents which would interfere with the submarine's movements. He fired upon the submarine, but it is not known whether she was struck, as she disappeared immediately.

Two hours later a second attempt was made to enter the harbour. Several submarines were sighted near the eastern entrance, their objective being several warships which were lying in the harbour. Four powerful searchlights on the pier were immediately trained upon the invaders, enabling the guns on the pier and breakwater to be used with effect. At least two hundred shots were fired, and simultaneously the destroyers steamed out of the western entrance, and attacked the submarines.

The gunners on the eastern forts claim to have struck a submarine, which actually entered the harbour. They say they saw air bubbles on the surface of the water, and later on a quantity of oil rose.

The residents hurried to the sea front and watched the exciting encounter. Searchlights were sweeping the harbour, and guns swinging round following every movement of the attackers. No damage was done to the harbour or the warships lying therein.

DOUBTFUL DETAILS.

Later.

The Admiralty still does not confirm the attack upon Dover. Several gunners of shore batteries confirm the account cabled, but express much doubt as to the details, particularly regarding hitting the submarines.

THE ARMIES.

WESTERN FRONT.

ROULERS EVACUATED.

LONDON, Dec. 11.

The "Daily Express" reports that the Germans have evacuated Roulers (south-east of Nieuport), and are preparing to abandon Thourout and Thielt.

FRENCH AIRMEN'S RAID.

PARIS, Dec. 11.

French airmen again dropped sixteen bombs successfully on the station sheds at Freiburg-en-Breisgau, 24 miles east by south of Colmar, despite a lively cannonade.

The airmen returned safely.

THE RUSSIANS.

NO CHANGE IN POLAND.

PETROGRAD, Dec. 11.

A communique states that there is no important change in operations.

On Wednesday a number of isolated efforts to take the offensive resulted unfavourably to the Germans.

CZAR AT TIFLIS.

The Czar was given an ovation upon arriving at Tiflis, the capital of Caucasia. The Circassians presented him with an offering of fruit.

AUSTRIAN DEBACLE.

OVER-CONFIDENT AND SLOW.

NISH, Dec. 11.

The Austrian debacle has been established by the fact that the Servians have retaken Ushitza (about 65 miles eastward of Sarajevo, and nearly 80 miles west-south-west of Kragujevacs), and are hotly pursuing the Austrians, whose line of retreat is littered with arms, waggons, and stores.

The Austrians attempted to surround Kragujevacs, where there is a great arsenal. This necessitated a considerable extension of their front. The Austrians were over-confident and fatally slow. They only advanced thirty-five miles in eight days. This enabled the Servians to effect a dramatic concentration, and to break the Austrian centre. The Servians stormed Suvobor, in the Naljen Mountains, with magnificent elan, and got four army corps on the run.

Later.

The Servians have captured twenty more guns from the retreating Austrians.

ENEMY'S VERSION.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 11.

An Austrian communique admits that the Austrians were unable to penetrate a strong Servian force, and they were compelled to retire in order to avoid a hostile counter-attack.

SOUTH AFRICA.

BEYERS' BODY FOUND.

JOHANNESBURG, Dec. 11.

It is officially announced that General Beyers' body has been recovered. He was unwounded. Death was due to drowning.

TURCO-GERMAN PLANS.

THE KHEDIVE IMPLICATED.

LONDON, Dec. 11.

Sir Louis Mallet, lately British Ambassador at Constantinople, states in a despatch that it was evident in mid-August that Germany would drive Turkey into the war. Warnings to the Grand Vizier fell on deaf ears. Though he was fully alive to the precariousness of his own position, Enver Bey (Minister of War) was dominated by a quasi-Napoleonic ideal, and political Pan-Islamism, and controlled the army, which was entirely in Germany's hands.

The Sultan, the Heir Apparent, the Grand Vizier, Djevad Bey (Minister of Finance), and the majority of the Ministry, with a considerable section of the Committee of Union and Progress, opposed the adventure into war. Talaat Bey (Minister of the Interior) held the middle course, but his hesitations were finally overcome. Enver Bey's emissaries bribed the Bedouins, and war stores were sent south.

German officers, provided with large sums of money, went to Syria to suborn the local chiefs.

The Khedive himself was a party to the conspiracy. The German Embassy actually made arrangements for his presence in the military expedition across the frontier.

The Allies' Ambassadors, hoping to delay war, accepted many hostile acts which might have occasioned a rupture of relations. After the attack upon Odessa and the Bedouin occupation of the wells at Maydaba for the purpose of attacking the Suez Canal, the Ambassadors had a painful interview with the Grand Vizier, who pleaded that the situation was still not irretrievable. Sir Louis Mallet replied that the only possibility of a settlement was the dismissal of the German missions. The Cabinet Council met on the evening of October 29. They favoured peace, but confessed themselves powerless to dismiss the German naval officers and seamen.

TURKISH TROOPS.

SUFFERING FROM COLD.

CAIRO, Dec. 11.

Eighty thousand Turks in Syria and 150,000 in Lebanon are suffering severely from cold.

The authorities have suppressed the Higher Schools' Club, of which the Heir Apparent is a member. The club was the centre of intrigue at the time of the murder of Boutros Pasha.

UNITED STATES NAVY.

WEAK IN SUBMARINES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.

Mr. Daniels (Secretary for the Navy), in his annual report to the President, states that two new Dreadnoughts yearly are essential for the United States. Six destroyers, eight submarines, and one gunboat are also recommended for immediate construction.

Recent developments in warfare, he says, have strengthened faith in the efficacy of submarines. Although Sir Percy Scott advocated the cessation of the rapid construction of Dreadnoughts, the naval advisers of the United States do not think such action advisable. Dreadnoughts still remain the chief fighting force of every well-proportioned navy. Command of the sea can only be taken and kept by a navy that keeps the sea in all weathers and overcomes the strongest enemy brought against it. The backbone of all navies must consist of the strongest sea-going and sea-keeping craft.

He estimates the present submarine strength of the various nations as follows:—Britain 84, France 76, United States 51, Germany 31, and Japan 17.

Mr. Daniels recommends the addition ultimately of a strong division of sea-going submarines as necessary in any important overseas operations. An entire fleet of submarines is also needed, the United States being very weak in this arm.

Mr. Daniels gave further evidence before the House Committee to-day. He said when the war was over all the countries burdened with debt expected to see a great revulsion against all war, and it was probable that some action would be taken by which the navies would be used merely to carry into execution the agreements reached between the countries.

A HEATED DEBATE.

Representative Gardner, speaking on the floor of the House, aroused much excitement by hotly declaring that if war broke out to-day the United States would find its coast defences unable to make an hour's fight, owing to lack of ammunition.

Representative Fitzgerald insinuated that Representative Gardner was merely seeking notoriety. The United States defences were ample for their purpose.

Representative Prouty asserted that a force of trained squirrel shooters was adequate to prevent a hostile force from landing on American soil.

AMERICAN ADMIRAL'S VIEW.

Admiral Fletcher told the naval committee that submarines in this war had not fulfilled the widely felt expectations regarding them. Nothing had happened to show that the battleships would not remain the main weapon of all navies.

THE ARMY.

The Secretary for War (Mr. Garrison), in his annual report, recommends the creation of an additional 1000 officers and 25,000 men in order to bring the army up to its full strength, and to ensure its preparedness.

JAPAN AND AMERICA.

FOMENTING ILL-FEELING.

RICHMOND (Vir.), Dec. 11.

Professor Matthews, of the Chicago University, and the Rev. Sidney Gurick, of New York, the committee appointed to study the anti-Japanese sentiment in California, and its effect on Japan, have reported to the Federal Council of the Churches of Christ Convention that additional anti-Japanese legislation is contemplated in California.

The psychological conditions in the United States and Japan are approaching a state when some really trivial action might bring appalling consequences. The correspondence between Viscount Chinda, the Japanese Ambassador, and Mr. Bryan, Secretary of State, in no way reassured the Japanese. America is trying to meet an issue raised in California. The jingo press in both countries is doing a great deal to foment ill-feeling between the nations.

GERMAN EMPEROR.

HEALTH IMPROVING.

AMSTERDAM, Dec. 11.

It is officially stated in Berlin that the health of the German Emperor is improving. The catarrh is relaxing, and his temperature is normal.

TRADE AND COMMERCE.

LONDON STOCK EXCHANGE.

LONDON, Dec. 11.

A conference of the Stock Exchange Committee and representatives of the banks, has considered plans for the reopening of the Stock Exchange. It is expected that the Exchange will reopen early in 1915.

WAR INSURANCE.

As the result of a deputation of the High Commissioners of the Dominions to the President of the Board of Trade, the war insurance rate has been reduced to 31/6 per cent. from December 11.

TO RESTRICT SUPPLIES.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 10.

Senator Works has introduced a bill to prohibit the exportation of food, clothing, ammunition, horses, and other commodities likely to prolong the European war. It is not likely the measure will pass, as it is receiving little support.

MISCELLANEOUS NEWS.

LONDON, Dec. 11.

Sir James Wolfe Murray has been appointed Chief of the Imperial General Staff.

Forty thousand out of 170,000 colliers employed in Northumberland and Durham have enlisted.

Paul George Wentzell, a German, who was indicted at the Assizes on a charge of spying, has been discharged. The charges have been withdrawn.

Sir George Reid (High Commissioner for Australia) and Major Buckley are going to Egypt on Saturday. They expect to be absent a month.

Mr. Donald Campbell, Australian representative on the Dominions' Commission, is returning to Australia on the 18th. The Dominions Commission will resume its work after the war.

WAR NOTES.

THE LAND FIGHTING.

No further developments are reported from either the eastern or the western theatre of war. Apparently severe fighting is going on throughout the whole battle front in Poland, but neither side appears to be making any headway, excepting in the south, where it is claimed that the Russians have defeated the German right wing to the south-east of Cracow. This means that the strenuous counter-attack launched by the Germans with a view to relieving the pressure on Cracow has failed, and if the position to the north of Cracow does not develop unfavourably to the Russians, they should still be able to work nearer to that fortress. The German advance from Mlawa, which is about 70 miles north-north-west of Warsaw, is important, for if it is not checked it represents a danger of getting round the rear of the Polish capital. We have not, however, been given any idea of the strength of this German force, or how it is being opposed, or by the extent to which the advance has so far been carried. In the western theatre the trench fighting is still going on, with more or less fury, but the general line appears to be unaltered. One report states that the Germans have evacuated Roulers, and are preparing to abandon Thourout and Thielt. Roulers is about 13 miles north-east of Ypres, and Thourout and Thielt are ten miles further to the north and north-east respectively. The Allies have lately made some advance towards Roulers, but it seems hardly likely that the Germans would evacuate this position without a struggle, for it would mean making an awkward bend in their line from the Dixmude region round towards Lille. The reason for the evacuation of Thourout and Thielt is even less clear; so it would be as well to await official confirmation of this item.

THE DOVER RAID.

Although the Admiralty does not confirm the reported raid upon Dover Harbour by German submarines, there would seem to be but little doubt that such an exploit was undertaken. It is quite clear, however, that the raid accomplished nothing, even though there is some question as to whether any of the raiders were accounted for. With German submarines making periodical appearances in the Channel it was perhaps to be expected that sooner or later they would make an attempt on Dover, which must be regarded as the Warden of the Channel. Millions of pounds have been expended on its harbour, which affords shelter for a fleet that could dash out at a moment's notice to dispute the passage of the straits with any hostile squadrons. It is certain that a considerable number of our warships are kept in the harbour, and it was with an eye to these that the Germans planned their raid. Maybe, a specially daring effort was made to secure something of a set-off against the disastrous battle off the Falkland Islands. Whether any of the raiding submarines were bagged or not, the incident seems to afford a comfortable assurance as to the vigilance of the men who stand on guard over England's shores.

AN ARTIFICIAL HARBOUR.

Dover Harbour is quite an artificial affair, and this accounts for the specific mention in the cables of the fact that neither the warships nor the harbour has been damaged. The town lies in a slight indentation in the coast between two cliffs, each about 400ft high. In 1847 what is known as the Admiralty Pier was begun. This runs out 2000ft from the shore, at the western point of the shallow bay, and was completed in 1871. In 1891 it was resolved to construct a new commercial harbour, and the works included the construction of an east pier, known as the Prince of Wales's pier, running parallel to the general direction of the Admiralty pier, and in conjunction with it, enclosing an area of sheltered water amounting to 75 acres. This pier took till 1902 to complete. In the meantime, in 1896 and subsequent years, funds were voted by Parliament for the construction of a harbour for naval purposes having an area of 610 acres, of which 322 acres were to have a depth of not less than 30ft at low water. The scheme comprised three enclosing breakwaters—an extension of the Admiralty pier in a south-easterly direction for a length of 2000ft., one isolated breakwater running roughly parallel with the coast, and curving at its eastern end to accord with the direction of the third breakwater, which came out 3320ft almost at right angles from the coast east of the town. These breakwaters, which are built of massive concrete blocks, make the harbour. The entrances are at each end of the isolated breakwater, the eastern one being about 600ft wide and the western about 800ft, the depth in each case being about seven fathoms at low water. The new harbour, which was formally opened in 1909, is commanded by three powerful forts.

DRAMATIC EVENTS IN SERVIA.

One of the most exhilarating items of war news published this morning is that regarding the manner in which the Servians have turned the tables on the Austrians. It was believed, and the official advices from Nish showed that the Servians themselves were inclined to share the opinion, that the plucky little country which has fought so gallantly against overwhelming odds from the outset was rapidly approaching the end of its fighting resources. Belgrade, after an heroic defence, had to be evacuated, and the resistance offered the Austrians on both the eastern and western fronts had to be relaxed. This was the signal for a general Austrian advance, before which the Servians had to still further fall back. Events seemed to point to a speedy over-running of Servia by the invader, and the final crushing of the gritty little nation. The Austrians, however, seem to have become over-confident, and in their leisurely advance of Kragujevacs, where the great Servian arsenal is situated, they allowed the Servians time to effect a new concentration, which proclaimed itself in dramatic fashion to that section of the Austrians advancing from the west. The Servians appear to have fought with even greater courage than heretofore, and as a result we are assured that four Austrian army corps are being driven helter-skelter towards the border. This sudden turn of events offers some little hope that the Servians may still be able to keep the Austrians occupied till the spring, when, it would appear, they will be able to count on the aid of at least one of their neighbouring States.

ANTE-WAR INVASION OF POLAND.

The cablegrams have told us that the Russians are having great trouble with spies in Poland and that the Germans are receiving considerable assistance from a section of the civilian population. There is small room for wonder at this when we consider the results that have attended the campaign which has been in progress for some years with a view to the peaceful Germanising of Poland. Some years ago specific attention was directed to the success of this campaign, but it was not checked and was steadily pursued until the outbreak of the war. An article from an authoritative pen in the "Revue des Deux Mondes" in December, 1909, showed that whereas the German population in Poland in 1863 was 278,900, it had risen to 500,000 in 1904, and to 607,840 in 1908. In Lodz alone there were 125,000 Germans. And when a comparison was made between the purely Russian and German populations the results were, in some cases, startling. For instance, there were 21 Germans to one Russian in the Government of Plock; 40 to 1 in the Government of Kalish, and 54 to 1 in the Government of Petrikoff. A third of these Germans do military service in Prussia, and even those who are naturalised Russians retain their German nationality by virtue of a law passed in Berlin in 1892. They follow a close German life, possess schools of their own and a score of associations covering many social, professional, and commercial activities. The Prussian Year Book, a few years ago boldly predicted the pacific conquest of Western Russia and recommended, in order to help it along, the despatch of 10,000,000 German colonists. "Meanwhile," says the article referred to, "the Germans inhabiting Western Russia are visited at their houses by the missioners of the Preussischer Kriegerverein (the Prussian War Association) carrying on their breasts badges with the black cross and the inscription: 'For God, Kaiser, Fatherland.' One of these missions had for its chief the Prussian General Spitz, and among the members of the association are a host of generals, colonels, majors, naval captains, journalists, Prussian land councillors, etc."

COAL LANDS.

LABOUR CONDITIONS SUSPENDED.

BATHURST, Friday.

The Bathurst mining warden (Mr. Burke) has heard an application for the suspension of labour conditions on the coal mining leases at Lithgow, held by Robert Sands and another. The case for the applicants was stated by Mr. H. B. Jamieson, of Sydney, who said that the present five leases had been held since December 6, 1909. During that time £1270, including rent, had been spent on the leases. Trade had largely fallen off, owing to the war. One of the lessees, Mr. Robert Sands, was part proprietor of the firm of John Sands, Ltd., and had the largest interest in the company. Prior to the war the business was employing about 700 hands, and although trade had fallen off to the extent of 20 to 25 per cent. up to then, no reduction in the staff had been made. With regard to the other lessee, Mr. Lazarus was a member of the firm of Lazarus, Rosenfeld, and Co., whose business consisted largely of goods imported from Austria, where they had a large factory, employing over 5000 hands. This factory was the only one in its district owned entirely by an English firm. Since the war the firm had received notice from the Austrian Government that, unless they kept the factory going, the Government would not be responsible for any damage done to it by rioters. The factory had been kept going. The consequence had been that the firm of Lazarus, Rosenfeld, and Co., had been very straightened. The lessees had been unable to obtain any financial assistance in Australia. The warden granted suspension for a period of four months.

EXCHANGE OF SUBJECTS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Arrangements have been made, the Foreign Office advises, for the reciprocal exchange of British and Austro-Hungarian subjects (civilians) at present detained in Austria-Hungary and the United Kingdom respectively. The Austro-Hungarian Government agrees to facilitate the departure from Austria-Hungary of the following classes of British subjects:—(1) Women and children; (2) males outside the limits of military age, i.e., those under 18 or over 50; (3) males of military age who are clearly unsuited for military service or unlikely to serve, such as physicians, surgeons, clergymen, priests, and the medically unfit.

BARRIER EXPORTS.

BROKEN HILL, Friday.

The mineral exports from Broken Hill for the month of November totalled £182,774 in value, made up thus:—Silver-lead concentrates, 256,840cwt, value £115,635; zinc concentrates, 65,220cwt, value £9594; silver-lead crudes, 68,020cwt, value £7420; silver-lead slimes, 19,880cwt, value £727. The total value of the exports for October was £104,821; for September, £150,886; and for August, £100,698.

OUR TROOPS.

VETERINARY UNIT INSPECTED.

GOOD WEEK'S RECRUITING.

MEN FOR THE A.M.C.

The week's recruiting has resulted in substantial additions to the camps at Liverpool and Holdsworthy. The total is not quite a record, but it stands high. If viewed from the class of material enrolled, it would perhaps be the best week of the recruiting campaign. It seems that the resources of the country have only just been tapped.

Up to now, New South Wales has far exceeded the work done in recruiting in any other State.

Next week a start will be made enrolling men for the Australian Medical Corps. The applicants must be clean men, of good physique, 5ft 7in in height, and 35 inches chest measurement; age 19 to 45 years. No officers are required. Men who have first-aid certificates will be given preference, much of the work being stretcher bearing. The pay will be 5s per day, and 1s deferred pay.

Lieutenant-Colonel E. A. Kendall, acting director of veterinary services, who has been on a brief visit to the camps at Holdsworthy, returned to Melbourne by last night's express. He said he had nothing but praise to express in respect of these two veterinary sections. The first veterinary division, under Captain Henry, comprised two officers and 113 men, and the first mobile section, under Captain O'Neill, comprised 13 men. The men went about their work with much intelligence, and were getting much valuable experience, their training including also rifle, manual, and light horse drill. In the veterinary division they had 90 to 100 horses "in hospital," and he said the men were displaying an eagerness to make this unit as nearly as possible equal to the corresponding service in the British army.

The necessity for this veterinary corps was made apparent during the Boer War, when considerable losses were sustained through horses bolting away or becoming sick or disabled. The mobile section will concentrate the animals on the sectional lines, where they will be attended to by the squad. After receiving first aid treatment the horses not seriously injured will be returned to the firing line, but those requiring more detailed treatment are to be sent back under escort to the stationary section where all equipment will be available as in any up-to-date veterinary hospital.

Colonel Fiaschi, D.S.O., V.D., received yesterday at the Barracks from Mrs. C. J. Metcalfe, hon. secretary of the Young branch of the Red Cross Society, an ambulance waggon given by residents of Young and district to the Australian Medical Corps.

Friends of those who are now in Egypt with the First Australian Division are reminded that the military authorities are not receiving parcels for delivery. They did receive them for the troops in the Pacific, and will continue to do so, but not for the troops in Egypt. It is understood that the parcel post to Egypt has been suspended.

Colonel J. G. Legge, C.M.G., chief of the general staff, will arrive from Melbourne this morning. It is understood that he purposes going on to Queensland.

Major J. McMahon, C.O. 7th Light Horse (New South Wales Lancers), has been appointed to the district committee for the selection of officers, vice Lieutenant-Colonel J. M. Arnott, C.O., 11th Light Horse, who is now the commanding officer of the 7th (A.I.) Light Horse Regiment.

Prior to going into camp at Liverpool with the Second Light Horse Brigade, Col. Ryrie paid a visit to his old electorate, Queanbeyan. He was met and entertained by an enthusiastic gathering of townspeople, who congratulated him on his appointment, and wished him God-speed and a safe return from the war. An address was presented to the Brigadier, signed by the Mayor, Alderman Richard Moore, the aldermen, and many prominent citizens.

The following resolution was passed by the council of the King's School, Parramatta,—"That the council of the King's School, having heard that Colonel Ryrie, and over a hundred of the old boys, had responded to the call of duty, and are to be engaged in defence of the Empire, and the principles of justice, righteousness, and liberty, and in the protection of the weak and oppressed, expresses its hearty appreciation of their brave and patriotic action, and trusts that, in the providence of God, after a successful campaign, they may return in safety to their Australian homes, and long enjoy the blessings of peace and prosperity."

The emu feathers in the hats of the Queensland Light Horsemen form a distinguishing badge that at once tells where the soldiers came from. The 6th Regiment, under Col. Cox, has also a sign by which it is known. All the men have bands of wallaby-skin round their hats, a unique puggaree, which adds considerably to the picturesqueness of the uniform. The crest of the regiment (possibly chosen as a compliment to the O.C.) is a game cock, and the motto is "Fight on—Fight ever."

Miss Maud Dagger, of Baroona, has presented a travelling kitchen to the second Australian expeditionary force.

Lieut.-Col. McMorland, officer commanding the 7th Army Service Corps, appeals on behalf of his 400 men for deck and other games, magazines, and sufficient funds to purchase sandshoes for the use of men while on board. Contributions may be addressed to the camp, the Warren, Marrickville, or to the Victoria Barracks.

Lieutenant Bruce Buchanan, of Burwood, who is going to the front with the 2nd Infantry Battalion, is the eldest son of Mr. Robert Buchanan, of the Railway Department, and is a Sydney Grammar School boy. He is an employee of the Colonial Sugar Company.

COLONEL COX.

ENTERTAINED BY RAILWAY OFFICERS.

Colonel C. F. Cox, C.B., V.D., was entertained last night by the officers and staff of the N.S.W. Railway Department, and presented with a gold watch and a purse of sovereigns. The officers of the Audit Department also presented him with a travelling bag.

The chair was occupied by Mr. A. E. Heaydon, and amongst those present were Colonel Ryrie, Messrs. John Harper (Chief Railway Commissioner), and J. Frazer and H. Richardson (Assistant Commissioners).

Mr. John Harper, Chief Commissioner, in making the presentations, paid a splendid tribute to Colonel Cox.

Colonel Cox said he was pleased to know that he would be fighting side by side with three great men—Sir John French, Sir Douglas Haig, and Major-General Allenby—with whom he had been associated in South Africa. He expressed pleasure at the enthusiastic farewell given him by his comrades in the railway service, with some of whom he had been working for over 30 years.

Colonel Ryrie also eulogised the splendid qualifications of the guest, and said that they were taking with them one of the finest bodies of men that ever left the shores of any country.

GERMAN STEAMERS.

TO BE USED FOR TRADE TO CALCUTTA.

The steamers Thuringen and Lothringen, which previously belonged to the N.D.L. line, have been taken over by Messrs. Burns, Philp, and Co., Limited, and are loading for Calcutta.

The Thuringen was seized at Fremantle and the Lothringen at Melbourne after the outbreak of hostilities.

RAILWAY WORKERS.

PATRIOTIC SACRIFICES.

In the Industrial Arbitration Court yesterday, Mr. Richard Burke, assistant chief accountant of the State Railways, told his Honor, Mr. Justice Heydon, that no fewer than 760 officers and men of the Australian Expeditionary Force had been recruited from the ranks of the railway and tramway workers. A further batch of 429 officers and men were now engaged in home defence.

The positions of these men, he said, have been kept open for them, no permanent appointments having been made since the outbreak of war. Where necessary, positions had been filled by temporary appointments. The officers of the railway and tramway services, Mr. Burke added, were also contributing 2 per cent. of their salaries to a war fund.

LATE WAR NEWS.

AUSTRALIANS IN EGYPT.

CAMPED BEHIND PYRAMID.

CAIRO, Dec. 11.

The Australian Contingent is in camp on a beautiful site behind the Pyramid of Cheops, and displays great activity. Water, electricity, and a tramway have been brought to the camp. The officers mess at the Mena Hotel.

The Contingent produced an excellent impression, and was heartily welcomed by all the Europeans and natives, the splendid horses being generally admired.

GIFT BATTLESHIP.

FROM BRITONS OVERSEAS.

LONDON, Dec. 11.

A movement is on foot for three million British residents in foreign countries to subscribe sufficient money to present a battleship to the mother country.

The idea emanates from the Patriotic League of Britons Overseas, which was formed at the instance of Lord Selborne, Lord Aldenham, Lord Milner, Lord Curzon, and others. The King is patron of the league.

STEAMER FIRED ON.

LONDON, Dec. 11.

On Wednesday night a steamer was stopped by a shot, which was fired when she was opposite Dover.

She was supposed to be working in conjunction with the enemy's submarines.

A STERN STRUGGLE.

FEELING TOWARDS ENEMY.

MISPLACED GENEROSITY.

At the annual dinner of the University Evening Students' Association at Farmer's rooms last night, the Chief Justice, Sir William Cullen (who is also Chancellor of the University), delivered an impassioned speech, dealing with the war.

"It has given me very great happiness, indeed," said Sir William, "that our own men have recognised the call of the nation to the large extent they have. Some of them have attained positions of distinction in command of others, who have been sent away from here, and one at least has given his blood for the Empire. And yet I don't know if we here have ever realised the pitiful sternness that this present contest involves. We are far away from it. We have never had to grapple with its horrors, as men now have to do.

"In this present year the University of Cambridge, I am told, has sent so many men away that there are only 1700 there now instead of 3700. Trinity College—one single college—with which two of our students at least are connected, Mr. Debenham and Mr. Fitzherbert has only 260 out of 560 men. Glasgow has fewer entries by 400 than last year. There are over 600 from Glasgow who have offered for service; and I am told that one whole company of 250 men have joined Lochiel's Camerons en bloc. (Cheers.) It may please the Consul-General for France to know that Glasgow elected the President of the French Republic as its rector for the next three years. (Renewed cheers.)

"What I wish to bring out of all that is this: No one knows how long this contest may last. Inevitably the whole fabric of a mighty nation—the German nation—hangs in the balance, if our heart's wishes are to be gratified. And no great nation which has been preparing for war for so many years, and has put in it its whole brain, and worked out every possible problem that may concern it—no such nation easily has its fabric shattered. But more depends upon it than that, because this crisis, the greatest of modern times, is of such a nature that no possible peace can be arranged until one nation or the other is crippled. We have always had the faith that it will not be ours. (Hear, hear.) But are we thinking enough about it? I have been greatly entertained by writers in some of the English papers who seem to fear we will cherish unkindly feelings towards our opponents, and are labouring to keep the view that we must suppress every hard feeling against those who are fighting against us. It is like the old lady who preached to two men engaged in mortal combat—"Let brotherly love continue." (Laughter.)

"Now the men of our breed will never be mean or unchivalrous—they will be just; but as for preaching generosity to them when nobody knows who it is who is going down, then these feelings directed towards alleviating any feeling of resentment against the actions of our opponents are sadly misplaced. (Cheers.) The persons to whom our sympathy should go out are the victims of cruelty and meanness, and brutality unsurpassed in modern history, and hard to rival even in ancient history; and those who tell me that we should regard this matter from a philosophical standpoint, sapping the interest one ought to feel in this life-and-death contest our nation is waging, are simply wasting their breath and their time. (Cheers.)

"The war prevents our resources from being developed. It leads to economies, of which we have had notable instances of late. It takes away some of our men; but against that it gives us the opportunity of showing the blood and fire which are in our very being, derived from the race from which we have sprung. (Cheers.) And in the presence of the representatives of the brave nations with whom we are standing shoulder to shoulder in this contest, I can only say—and I believe I am echoing your sentiments in saying it—that this contest is something which will test every fine quality in our natures—and I believe our people and the peoples allied with us have these qualities in the highest degree."

There was a scene of rare enthusiasm as Sir William Cullen sat down. First the audience cheered, then it rose and shouted out "Hooray," and finally it sang "For he's a jolly good fellow."

COAL EXPORTS.

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE.

NEWCASTLE, Friday.

Considering the adverse circumstances, the coal trade for Newcastle has been good this last few months, and this week the exports, which reached 100,230 tons, proved no exception to the rule. The quantity loaded for the interstate and New Zealand trade reached 65,562 tons; while the remaining 34,668 tons were for oversea countries.

Now that the German cruisers are practically cleared of the coal trade routes, there will no doubt be a revival in the exports to oversea countries. Several vessels have been held up from time to time at this port, owing to the German cruisers, and there is at present at one of the buoys in the harbour a sailing vessel, which has been waiting for over two months for permission to leave.

The most pronounced decrease in trade since the war has been with Chile. From the beginning of the year till the time of the war broke out, the average quantity shipped weekly for that country was about 20,000 tons; while commonly up to 30,000 tons were exported during some weeks. Since August those shipments have fallen away to very small proportions. On four consecutive weeks in October and November not one shipment left this port for Chile. Since that time only three steamers and six sailing vessels have departed with Chilian cargoes. It is expected that the trade with Chile will see a revival, which will bring it somewhere near its previous standard.

INSURANCE AGAINST CAPTURE

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Federal Government has been advised that it has been brought under the notice of the Board of Trade that British insurance companies have insured or reinsured goods shipped on neutral vessels against the risk of capture or detention by his Majesty's Government or Allied Governments. The Board of Trade is advised that such contracts of insurance or reinsurance against the risk of capture or detention by Great Britain or her Allies are prohibited by the law of England, and they think it necessary to warn British insurance companies and underwriters against undertaking such business.

EVENING STUDENTS.

ANNUAL DINNER.

PATRIOTIC SPEECHES.

There was a loyal outburst of patriotism at the 16th annual dinner of the Sydney University Evening Students' Association held at Farmer's Rooms last night. The chair was taken by the president of the association, Mr. B. C. Harkness, B.A., and the gathering included the Chief Justice and Chancellor of the University, Sir William P. Cullen, Mr. David Hall (Attorney-General), Mr. Chayet (Consul-General for France), Mr. Shimizu (the Japanese Consul), Mr. T. A. Welch (Consul for Russia), Mr. H. T. Braddon, and Mr. Justice Ferguson.

The loyal toast having been honoured—and honoured with very great enthusiasm—that of "Parliament" was proposed by Mr. C. J. Brennan, M.A. He asked them to drink not only to their own Parliament, but to the Parliaments of the free nations of the world—"to the coming Parliament of Poland, and the new and vigorous Parliament of a liberalised Russia, and, if we may hope, to the free Parliament of a German nation once more civilised, once more cultured and delivered from the Hohenzollerns." (Applause.) He referred to the German Emperor as "this man who says his power is based not on Parliamentary authority, not on votes in any shape, but on the bayonets of the Prussian arms."

In replying Mr. Hall said that, poor as it might be, our Parliament meant much more than ever before. "If you want to understand how it is the men who are in Parliament got there," he said, "you ought to see the fellows who ran against them and were beaten." (Laughter.) There were many important questions before them to-day. As Attorney-General he had lately had some very difficult matters to decide. There was, for instance, the price of beer. (Loud laughter.) As Attorney-General he had to say that beer was a necessary commodity under the Act and must be kept down to reasonable limits. Mr. Hall referred appreciatively to the establishment three or four years ago of the Chair of Economics.

"The University" was proposed by Mr. Braddon. No man, he said, could attend the University and take part in its labour and contests without carrying away a profound sense of the proficiency of the whole machine and a deep affection for the institution.

The Chancellor, Sir Wm. Cullen, was loudly cheered when he rose to respond. He said he could tell them that the Senate would make improvements at the University as opportunity presented. The Senate had been much criticised. It had, for instance, been asked to take note of the methods of German universities. Mention had been made also of American universities. But to his mind the present system was much more congenial to the habit of thought of our own people than anything founded on a German or American model. (Applause.)

The toast of "The Allies" was given by Acting Professor Holmes, who said that, after all, nothing but the persistence of the idea of honour and justice and freedom would make a nation great. Proceeding, he referred to the British naval victory and the gallant deeds of our soldiers and those of our Allies, and he referred to Belgium as "at this moment the greatest and the freest of all the European nations." (Cheers.)

After cheers for the Allies, cheers were called for British statesmen as a body, and then for Mr. Asquith, Sir Edward Grey, Mr. Lloyd George, and Mr. Winston Churchill, personally.

Responding to the toast, M. Chayet, who was cheered to the echo, reminded them of the German motto, "Deutschland uber Alles"—Germany above all. Frenchmen, on the other hand, did not say "France over all," but "France equal to other nations, threatening nobody, and threatened by nobody." (Loud applause.)

Equally enthusiastic receptions were accorded the Japanese and Russian Consuls. Mr. Shimizu congratulated the British people upon the brilliant naval victory off the South American coast. "By that grand victory," he said, amid cheers, "the Pacific Ocean is cleared. With regard to the part which my country has played so far in this war, it would not become me to say much. Our sufferings and losses have been trifling in comparison with those of Great Britain and her other allies; but, as far as those who are affected by them are concerned, they are serious and real enough. But at any rate, sufficient has been done to justify the words of Count Okuma, the Premier of Japan, which appear in an article written by him, and published in the November number of the Japan Magazine. Count Okuma says: 'It will be our one ambition at this time to show the West what it is slow to believe; that we can work harmoniously with great Occidental Powers to support and protect the highest ideals of civilisation, even to the extent of dying for them.'" (Great cheering.)

Mr. Welch, the Russian Consul, told the audience something about the new Russia—"a country which has turned from autocratic government to what is practically a constitutional government." He hoped that in the future Britain, France, and Russia would travel hand in hand.

ENEMY COUNTRIES.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR LETTERS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Foreign Office has advised the Commonwealth Government that it is unable to undertake any responsibility for the forwarding of money, letters, or messages to individual persons abroad. Payments of money to British subjects, who are detained in an enemy country and unable to return to his Majesty's dominions, do not constitute an infringement of the trading with the enemy proclamation, but it may be found necessary to forward such remittances through a neutral country. It is suggested that it may be found possible to forward the money through Messrs. Cook and Son, or one of the principal banks. Private letters to Germany and Austria-Hungary, through neutral countries, are now allowed to be forwarded, subject to the usual conditions of censorship. Letters cannot, however, be forwarded direct to Germany or Austria-Hungary. British subjects and others wishing to communicate with friends in enemy countries must forward their letters through an agency in a neutral country, and correspondents may select their own agency. Messrs. Cook and Son have, it is understood, expressed their willingness to arrange for the transmission of such letters, and applications for information as to the necessary stamps, etc., should be made to them. Letters intended for transmission to enemy countries should be as brief as possible, should contain nothing but personal matter, and should, if possible, be written in the German language. The address of Messrs. Cook and Son's head office is Ludgate Circus, E.C.

AUSTRALIAN DECORATED.

Private letters have been received from England stating that Lieutenant Rex Osborne, of the 17th Lancers, only son of Mr. Hamilton Osborne, late of Bangaroo, Canowindra, who is serving with the Imperial forces in France, has been decorated by General Joffre with the Legion of Honour, and that he was also mentioned in the English despatches during October for work done under heavy fire.

SIR T. M'ILWRAITH AND PAPUA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—A correspondent, signing "New Guinea," states at the close of his communication: "Ten years later Sir Thomas M'Ilwraith took all the credit of taking possession of Port Moresby and South-east Papua, but left the best for Germany." Sir Thomas M'Ilwraith annexed the whole island not Dutch, but the act was disallowed by the Imperial authorities.

I am, etc.,

Dec. 10. NORTH QUEENSLAND.

THE GOVERNMENT AND THE VICTORY.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—By a reference to your columns it is seen that rejoicings are taking place throughout the Empire upon the success of the action taken by the Admiralty resulting in the destruction of those "hopes" of the German Navy League, the Gneisenau, the Scharnhorst, and the Leipzig, news of which was received yesterday, and of the Nurnberg, to-day. It is noticeable, however, that, amidst all the rejoicings, the State Government of New South Wales is keeping its head, and allows no sign of its enthusiasm to be observed; the flag-poles upon the Government departments stand empty and naked before the eyes of the public. Private establishments may display bunting, not so the Government of the country. If the Government is gratified at a national victory, why not fly the flag in sympathy with the feelings of the public; or, as an alternative, if they feel that way, fly it at half-mast in sympathy with the Germans.

I am, etc.,

"WAR CHEST."

Collections to date £6687 6 5
Expenditure to date £3390 1 0

The superintendent of the "War Chest" Depot, through Mrs. Dyer, of Miller-street, North Sydney, appeals for light clothing for the use of the Light Horse contingents under Colonels Ryrie, Arnott, and Cox, for the troops on the voyage. Shirts, pyjamas, etc., would add much to the comfort of the men. Clean washed rags for rubbing down the horses of the Light Horse Brigade are urgently required, and almost everybody has some to spare. Mrs. Dyer appeals to the North Sydney people for the abovementioned articles.

Special donation is acknowledged from Maureen and Brian Hogan Taylor, 5/.

The New South Wales Girls' Fund will be closed at the end of the year. Subscribers wishing to continue their subscriptions to the Lord Mayor's, or any other, fund are requested to send same direct to the headquarters of such funds after December 31.

FIELD SERVICE NEWS.

The Sydney Y.M.C.A. will, during the forthcoming week, place a small equipment in the garrison camp on the Randwick Rifle Range, where the trainees can write their letters in comfort, free of cost. The marquee in the Light Horse Camp, at Holsworthy, is largely availed of by the men, and the work carried on there is successful in every way. The association appeals to the public to help carry on this work, and contributions should be sent to the association office, Pitt-street, when they will be readily acknowledged.

The following contributions have been received to date:—Amount previously acknowledged, £480/2/3; Messrs. Dibbs, Parker, and Parker, £2/2/; Mr. Joseph Nield, £2/10/; A Friend, 10/; Mrs. G. H. Halligan, 2/6; G. Woodruff (third donation), £1; Sergeant K. Kennedy (for 6th Light Horse Transport Troop), 16/; Mr. F. E. Barraclough, £1/1/; Mr. J. Gibson, 5/; Mrs. J. Gibson, 2/; Mrs. F. G. W. Palmer, £5; Mr. L. E. Shephard, £1/1/; Miss M. Currie, £2/2/; Mrs. D. Barr, 10/; Anonymous, £5; Mrs. Harley Cox, 10/; employees Messrs. Griffiths Bros.' Propy., Ltd. (first instalment), £4/4/; total, £506/17/9.

AUSTRALIAN HOSPITAL.

Amount already acknowledged, of which £9000 has been remitted, £9379/12/8; employees of Sydney Steel Company (second instalment), £10/10/; Glencoe Branch Red Cross Society, £10; Miss Hall, £10; Port Kembla War Fund (sixth instalment), £5; Mrs. Black, £2; the Model Business College and Typists' Club (third instalment), £1/15/; L. E. Shephard, £1/1/; total, £9419/18/8.

SOLDIERS' CHILDREN.

A performance is to be given at the Theatre Royal on December 17, when the entire proceeds will go to a fund to provide a Christmas party on the day before Christmas Eve, with games, a picnic tea, and a Christmas tree for the children whose fathers are at the front. This bright, happy afternoon should wreathe every wistful little face in smiles. Should the proceeds allow the surplus is to be spent by the Millions Club, under whose auspices the matter is being arranged, in Christmas hampers for mothers in need, and if still sufficient the children will be given the pleasure of presenting sheepskin waist coats to those who need them most in the trenches.

Those wishing to help this cause should communicate with the secretary of the Millions Club. Box plan and tickets at Paling's.

CANVAS SHOES FOR TROOPS.

A correspondent suggests that in order to provide canvas shoes for the soldiers while on board ship, a request should be made to tennis players for contributions of half-worn tennis shoes, sizes 8 or 7. They should send their gifts to the transport officer, 6th Regiment, Light Horse, Liverpool.

IN THE COUNTRY.

BATHURST, Friday.

At a meeting of the Bathurst Patriotic Fund Committee it was announced that in all £2325 had been collected or promised.

BOWRAL, Friday.

The funds of the local Patriotic Fund have benefited to the extent of £23, as the result of a demonstration organised by the Bowral Y.W.C.A.

HAMPTON, Friday.

A bazaar, promoted by Mrs. E. J. Marshall, took place at Hampton, the net proceeds being £18, which will be devoted to the Belgian Fund. This will make Hampton's contribution to the war fund well over £60.

BEER STRIKE.

WATERSIDE WORKERS.

HOBART, Friday.

A strike occurred in Hobart amongst the members of the Waterside Workers' Union, whose numerical strength is about 260, against the increased price of beer. Since the increase of 1d per pint in beer has been notified, they have almost to a man refrained from imbibing, and declare that they will refrain until such time as the publicans see fit to reduce the price for the pint glass to its old figure.

PERSONAL.

VICE-REGAL.

Her Excellency Lady Helen Munro Ferguson, accompanied by Lady Doris Blackwood, arrived in Sydney yesterday morning from Brisbane, and her Excellency returned to Melbourne by the evening train. Her Excellency was the guest of his Excellency the Governor and Lady Edeline Strickland at Cranbrook, Rose Bay, during her short stay in Sydney.

His Excellency the Governor, accompanied by Miss Strickland, and attended by Captain d'Apice, A.D.C., performed the opening ceremony at the Dolls' Carnival at the Town Hall yesterday afternoon, which was held in aid of the Royal Alexandra Hospital for Children.

The Speaker of the House of Representatives (Mr. M'Donald) has been absent from Parliament for the past few days, suffering from influenza. It was stated yesterday that he was progressing towards recovery. Messrs. Ozanne and Jolly, Ms.P., are also recovering from their illnesses.

The Premier has not been enjoying the best of health recently. This illness, though not serious necessitates rest and temporary freedom from official and political work.

Mr. Justice Powers, Deputy-President of the Federal Arbitration Court, returned to Melbourne by the express last night.

Lieutenant-Colonel J. P. McGlinn, Brigade-Major of the 4th Infantry Brigade, Australian Imperial force, left Melbourne for Sydney by yesterday's express.

Captain Mason, Government shipping master, returned to Sydney by the R.M.S. Ophir, after an absence of nine months abroad.

The Victoria College council, Wellington (N.Z.), has selected Dr. E. Marsden, now lecturer and research assistant to Sir Ernest Rutherford at Manchester, to occupy the Chair of Physics; also Dr. D. M. Y. Somerville, now University lecturer of applied mathematics at St. Andrew's, Edinburgh, to occupy the Chair of Mathematics.

The President of the Joint Court, Count de Buena Esperanza, was welcomed back at Vila, New Hebrides, after his long leave in Europe, on November 26. The Order of K.C.M.G. was conferred upon him while in London, and he was received by his Majesty the King and her Majesty Queen Mary at a ball in Buckingham Palace in July. He was also decorated by the President of the French Republic with the Legion of Honour. The French Judge (Monsieur Colonna) has also received the Legion of Honour.

Miss McKee, of Bathurst, has been accepted by the Australasian council of the China Inland Mission for missionary work in China. She, with others, expects to leave next month for the East. Miss McKee is the sixth lady missionary accepted by the C.I.M. from New South Wales during 1914.

Mr. G. W. Barr, the shipyard manager at Cockatoo Island, was presented with a silver mounted oak inkstand and an address by the paintshop employees, prior to his departure for England.

Mrs. Caroline MacLeod, late of Talisker, Merino Downs, Henty, Victoria, gentlewoman, who died on October 1, left estate valued at £114,217. Nearly the whole of the estate is bequeathed for the benefit of deceased's two daughters. Probate is also being sought of the will of Mr. Alexander Magnus MacLeod, of Talisker, Merino Downs, Henty, grazier, who pre-deceased his wife about four years. The gross value of Mr. MacLeod's estate is £54,778 6s. The property is bequeathed in trust for his two daughters.

DOLLS' CARNIVAL.

GORGEOUS TOWN HALL SCENE.

The long-promised Dolls' Carnival, in aid of the Children's Hospital, was officially opened at the Town Hall yesterday afternoon by the Governor, Sir Gerald Strickland, in the presence of a large and fashionable audience, the attendance being estimated at 1200. His Excellency, who was accompanied by Miss Strickland, was officially received by the Lord Mayor (Alderman R. W. Richards) and Lady Mayoress, Dr. Clubbe, the president of the Children's Hospital, and Mrs. Clubbe, Mr. Clarence Moss, the secretary of the hospital, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Faithfull, Mr. and Mrs. A. Rickard, Mr. J. Lane Mullens, Mr. Brierley, Mr. Thomas Pratt, and the matron, Miss M'Gregor.

His Excellency congratulated the committee of management in connection with the organisation of the production, which must have meant a great deal of work. But they were amply rewarded in the magnificent response that they had already received.

The stalls, which are arranged around the hall under the gallery, are beautifully decorated, this being the work of Mr. Graham Weatherley, scenic artist. The flower-stall is under the control of Mrs. Clubbe, with Mrs. Zlotkowski and Mrs. Rutledge hon. secretaries, and Mrs. Littlejohn hon. treasurer. A Christmas tree stands in the centre of the hall, and is under the supervision of the matron and nurses. A magnificently dressed doll, standing on a miniature stairway, represents Queen Mary. In front of the organ platform Lady Cooper presides over a display of dressed dolls, which are her own gifts. A beautiful display, representative of a doll's wedding, is made by Mrs. Geo. Sargent.

Mrs. T. H. Kelly's Royal Russian ballet is after designs by Leon Bakst, for Le dieu bleu, the Hindoo ballet, in which M. Nijinsky danced at Covent Garden last season. This doll has an exact reproduction of the costume worn in London. The scene is an interior of a harem, in the Persian ballet Scherazade, with Nubian slaves, and odalisques in correct Oriental dress. The audience is represented by dolls in the Papillon ballet of the period 1840, and wear hoopskirts and coal scuttle bonnets.

The stallholders are the following:—

Refreshments and Produce Stall: President, the Lady Mayoress; vice-president, Mrs. Christian; hon. secretary, Mrs. Packer; hon. treasurer, Mrs. J. E. Paul. The produce stall is in charge of Mrs. and Miss Rosewarne.

Egypt: Mrs. Rooney.

Dutch Stall: Mrs. Arthur Rickard.

The carnival will be continued from 3 p.m. to-day.

Last night the Police Band played selections on the organ platform, under the baton of Mr. W. G. Bentley, brigade bandmaster.

THE TARIFF.

QUESTION OF DUTIES.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A deputation of Master Tanners protested to the Minister for Customs (Mr. Tudor) against the new duty on wattle bark. It was stated that Australia could not produce sufficient wattle bark to meet the requirements of tanners, and they had to purchase all they could get hold of. The deputation consequently urged that the duty should be repealed. Objection was also taken to a duty being placed on partly tanned skivers, on the ground that it was impossible to purchase them in Australia. To have a duty on both wattle bark and skivers would, it was contended, completely cripple the export trade.

Complaint was also made by a deputation of bagmakers of a duty being imposed on jute-piece goods from India. They urged that these should be admitted free.

Mr. Tudor pointed out that jute piece goods were being manufactured in Dundee, and that it was only right that preference should be given to articles manufactured in Great Britain. He promised to consider the request, and also that of the Master Tanners. He asked that the representations in each case should be submitted to him in writing.

DEATH DUTIES.

FEDERAL BILL.

IMPORTANT PROVISIONS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

A bill was introduced in the House of Representatives to-day to provide the machinery for the imposition, assessment, and collection of the proposed new death duties. Provision is made for the appointment of a commissioner, who is to hold office for seven years. Until the appointment is made the Land Tax Commissioner is to act. The salary is to be voted in the usual way on the Estimates. Deputy commissioners may also be appointed. An annual report is to be furnished to Parliament. The duty is to apply to the estates of persons dying after the commencement of the Act, and is to be at such rates as Parliament may declare.

The estate of a deceased person will comprise (a) his real property in Australia, including that over which he had a general power of appointment exercised by his will; (b) his personal property wherever situated, including that over which he had a general power of appointment exercised by his will, and including all debts and moneys in action receivable or recoverable by the administrator in Australia if the deceased had at the time of his death a foreign domicile. Property (a) which passed from a deceased person by any gift, inter vivos, or settlement, made within three years before his decease, or being property comprised in a settlement under which he was tenant for life, the life interest of which was surrendered by him, the remainder-man, within three years before his decease; or (b) in which he had a beneficial interest at the time of his decease, which beneficial interest, by virtue of a settlement or agreement made by him, passed or accrued on or after his decease to or devolved on or after his decease upon any other person, is to be deemed part of the estate.

All duties payable outside Australia may be deducted.

There is provision for returns to be lodged, and for the commissioner to acquire additional information. Arrangements may be made with the States for the supply to the commissioner of particulars of assessment made by the States for similar purposes. The commissioner may adopt a State valuation if the deceased at the time of his death was domiciled in Australia. The amount of debts due is to be deducted from the gross value. If he is not so domiciled the deductions are to be only the debts due and owing to persons resident in Australia, contracted to be paid in Australia, or charged on property situated in Australia. Where the value is not fairly ascertainable the Commissioner may compound the duty on such terms as he thinks fit. Provision is made for alterations or additions to the assessments by the Commissioner within three years after the last payment of duty in order to secure its completeness and accuracy. Where the alteration has the effect of reducing the duty the Commissioner is to make a refund. The validity of any assessment is not to be affected because a new provision of the Act has not been complied with. An administrator, dissatisfied with an assessment, may appeal to the Commissioner in writing, and from him, if he is still dissatisfied, to the High Court or Supreme Court. An appeal may be heard by a single justice of either Court. Meantime the duty must be paid. In the event of a question of law arising a case may be stated for the opinion of the High Court. Penalties are provided for neglect to pay duty, and the duty itself is made a first charge on the estate in priority over all other encumbrance whatever. The duty in the first instance to be apportioned among all the beneficiaries in proportion to their interests, and wherever there are any beneficiaries under the will, each of whom he takes only specific bequests or devises not exceeding £200 in value, the duty, which (under the previous sentence) would be payable in respect of the interest of those beneficiaries must be apportioned among all the beneficiaries in proportion to the value of their interests. The Commissioner may either of his own motion or at the request of any person to whom the estate has passed, or of any person claiming in his right, have a separate assessment made of the duty payable in respect of the interest of such person in any separate properties of any defined portions of the same property as he considers reasonable. This duty shall afterwards be charged solely upon the separate estate, and the portion of the estate affected shall become free from charge as regards any unpaid duty assessed separately, or any other part of the estate.

The penalty for false returns or false answers is up to £100. A person who undervalues with intent to defraud is to be guilty of an indictable offence. The maximum penalty is £500, and treble the duty which would have been evaded if the value stated in the return had been accepted, or forfeiture of the estate involved, or any part when the value given in the return is less by 15 per cent., or more than the value found by the jury. The value is to be presumed in the absence of evidence to the contrary to have been understated with intent to defraud. For evading duty the penalty is also £500, and treble the amount evaded or attempted to be evaded. Where forfeiture of an estate is imposed the Governor-General may, by proclamation, declare that the estate is forfeited to the Commonwealth.

HIGH WORDS.

SCENE IN PARLIAMENT.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

When Dr. Maloney, M.P., was discussing the administration of the Home Affairs Department in the House of Representatives to-night on the Budget debate in committee, some very warm passages occurred, in which he and the Minister for Home Affairs (Mr. Archibald) took part.

Dr. Maloney protested strongly that a work of art in the form of the prize design for the Federal capital should have been spoiled by officers of the department. He accused Colonel Miller of maladministration, and said that the Home Affairs Department was in the hands of the higher officials, and announced that he would not stand by and see a man "crucified on the cross of departmental jealousy and incapacity."

"Rubbish," interjected the Minister.

"It is not rubbish," answered Dr. Maloney, "and I won't go to you to learn anything."

Dr. Maloney went on with his charge, and warmly resented the Minister's interjection. He issued a challenge to Mr. Archibald on the score of learning, and after further bandying of words, the Minister hurled at Dr. Maloney, "You're a cur."

"And you're a cub," responded the doctor.

The Chairman asked the Minister to withdraw, but Dr. Maloney immediately stepped forward and offered to withdraw the words which he said he had uttered in the heat of the moment.

"I won't accept it," said the Minister.

"Then you may keep it," said Dr. Maloney, who resumed his seat.

WORKERS CRITICISED.

THE EXAMPLE AT COCKATOO DOCK.

The Electrical Employers' Association of New South Wales held its annual dinner last night at Baumann's Cafe. After the loyal toast had been honoured, Mr. S. Warden proposed "The Allied Army and Navy." He referred to the Sydney's successful naval baptism. A few months ago young fellows in military training were jeered at by the empty-headed. Now the khaki uniform had a mission, and was everywhere respected.

Mr. W. Williamson, president of the Master Builders' Association, responded for the visitors. Referring to the war, he said that the present was a time of sacrifices in every quarter. Thousands of young Australians of splendid type had given themselves to the cause of the Empire. There was nothing wrong with Australia, said the speaker, even at the present critical juncture; yet in many quarters there seemed to be a lack of courage akin to nervousness. The surface of Australia's resources had barely been scratched. They had at Broken Hill the case of single men invoking Government assistance instead of scratching for themselves. Working men were too much spoon-fed and coddled. At Cockatoo Island lately men had struck before they had worked a single hour. No foreigner had done a greater crime against the country than these men who had struck and delayed naval construction. Employers, concluded Mr. Williamson, were up against existing industrial legislation, which had resulted in eternal turmoil and conflict.

Mr. Myers, president of the N.S.W. branch of the Electrical Association, also responded.

QUARRYMEN'S WAGES.

PERTH, Friday.

The Arbitration Court gave an award on the quarrymen's citation for increased pay:—General rate, 10s per day; truckers, 9s; powder, 12s. Mr. Daflish, employers' representative, disagreed, and said that the increase in pay would certainly mean decreased employment.

TIMBER TRADE.

AUSTRALIAN CONTRACTS WANTED.

CANADA V. AMERICA.

The following message from Victoria (B.C.), October 26, is published in the San Francisco "Examiner":—

Fierce opposition to the award of a contract for 35,000,000 feet of lumber to American mills by the Government of New South Wales is developing among British Columbia lumbermen. To place British Columbia at an advantage over Puget Sound and Oregon mills and California shippers of lumber, a movement is well along to induce the Commonwealth of Australia to grant a 10 per cent. differential duty favouring British Columbia mills on all lumber going to Australia.

This prospective award from Sydney has stirred the timber interests as never before. British Columbia now ships only one twenty-third of the lumber sent from the Pacific Coast to Australia, while in South Africa 65 per cent. of the timber used is from this province, owing to a 10 per cent. differential.

Dr. Young, the Provincial Secretary, is already in correspondence with the authorities at Ottawa. Sir Richard M'Bride has been in conference with the Dominion Minister of Trade and Finance, and that official has promised to make representations to the Australian Government. Dr. Young is making his campaign on the ground that all Britons should stand together on matters of trade and commerce, and he believes that the psychological moment has come to get a part of the lumber business that now falls to California, Washington, and Oregon.

The agitation was precipitated by the appearance of A. T. Dakin in Portland, Tacoma, and other Washington cities. He called attention to the fact that New South Wales was desirous of cutting out middlemen's profits and buying direct from mills. He asked for tenders for 25,000,000 feet annually from United States mills. These bids were opened in San Francisco on Saturday.

The British Columbia timbermen expect strenuous opposition to their plan from the American side of the line. It is understood here that the lumbermen of the United States are prepared to take up the subject with Australia through Washington and London. Their contention is that they are entitled to fair treatment from Australia, and no discrimination, because the United States now admits most of the Australian products free of duty. The lumbermen of Seattle and Portland, it is said here, will ask for help from California to maintain the present trade conditions. Another argument they offer is that British Columbia is in no position to compete with the Puget Sound lumbermen, and that if Australia grants the request of British Columbia, all lumber will advance in Australia by 10 per cent.

Mr. Niel Nielson, who represents the New South Wales Government and the Commonwealth in San Francisco, declined to discuss any phase of this lumber controversy.

The trade prize for which the British Columbia timbermen are contending is worth about £1,000,000 annually to the lumbermen of California, Washington, and Oregon. The shipments of lumber to all British Oceania are steadily growing. According to the United States Department of Commerce, the exports of lumber to British Oceania in the three years ending June 30, 1914, June 30, 1913, and June 30, 1912, were as below:—

Year ending	Feet.	Value, Dollars.
June 30, 1914	208,000,000	4,947,468
June 30, 1913	280,475,000	4,384,561
June 30, 1912	216,431,000	3,563,618

STATE GOVERNMENT.

"MOST BIGOTED IN THE WORLD."

A BISHOP'S VIEWS.

GOULBURN, Friday.

Addressing the students of St. Patrick's College at the annual distribution of prizes, Bishop Gallagher said:—"Remember that you live under a Government which, whatever party be in power, is the narrowest, most bigoted, the most intolerant, as far as Roman Catholic institutions are concerned, that now exists in Australia—that, perhaps, now exists in the civilised world. Join the Roman Catholic Federation; have the courage to fight for your rights by all constitutional means. Persecution, as far as Roman Catholics are concerned, is not far to seek. It is around you on every side. You can see it hovering over the boys' and the girls' orphanages.

WATER SUPPLY.

LAWSUIT CONTEMPLATED.

TAMWORTH, Friday.

The dispute between the Tamworth Municipal Council and the Minister for Works regarding the water supply has come to a head, and the council has declared its intention of going to law in the matter, rather than submit to the terms sought to be imposed by Mr. Griffith.

At the last meeting of the municipal body, the Mayor (Alderman Green) said it seemed that Mr. Griffith had finally thrown down the gauntlet. The town needed a water supply and sewerage, and the Minister would not supply the services unless the council accepted the liability for the whole of the old water supply, which the council contended had been a costly failure owing to the mistakes of the officers of the department. The expense of the action at law might be heavy, but the amount involved was fully £30,000.

Mr. Lee, the previous Minister for Works, had recognised the justice of the council's case, and had offered to remit £20,000 of the old debt. If Mr. Griffith's terms were accepted the municipality would be saddled with a debt of £80,000 instead of £50,000, which was all the council was inclined to accept liability for.

It was decided to take the preliminary step towards testing the matter in the courts, by seeking counsel's opinion.

THE FERRIES.

NORTH SYDNEY REQUEST.

A HOPEFUL REPLY.

A deputation from the North Sydney Council waited on Mr. P. T. Taylor, chairman of directors of the Sydney Ferries, Limited, yesterday, and asked that improvement be made in the ferry service to North Sydney.

It was pointed out by the Mayor (Alderman W. Anderson) that the present service had been congested since the alteration in the timetable. This applied particularly to M'Mahon's Point and Lavender Bay. The trams connecting with the ferries at the northern side were now running at longer intervals in consequence of the alteration of the service. There was to a certain extent congestion on the vehicle service.

Alderman Blue said that tradesmen complained of foodstuffs having suffered through the delay that the service entailed.

The deputation asked that a better vehicle service should be maintained on Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays, which were busy days. Reference was also made to the need of a ferry between Woolloomooloo Bay and Cremorne Point.

Mr. P. T. Taylor, in reply, said that the ferries, like almost everything else, felt the stress of the present times. That was one of the reasons for the reduction in the timetable to the North Shore. It was not thought that the present time-table was very inadequate, but the matter would be further considered. Action might be decided upon, if it were proved that much inconvenience resulted from the present service. The vehicle ferry was not regarded as being congested. The reference to the ferry from Woolloomooloo Bay to Cremorne might be given consideration if the council would see to the roads in the locality.

CHESS CHAMPION'S FEAT.

PERTH (W.A.), Friday.

The chess champion, Mr. Viner, played 29 simultaneous games with the best players in the metropolis in two and a half hours. He won 21, drew 6, and lost 2. He made 750 moves.

ALLEGED LIBEL.

WEST WYALONG, Friday.

At the Wyalong Quarter Sessions W. Goward, stipendiary steward at Yalgogrin races, sued Crowley and Company, "Wyalong Star," newspaper proprietors, for alleged libel. The cause of action was a paragraph published in that paper commenting adversely on the conduct of the plaintiff in his official capacity. The jury found for the defendants.

WHEAT.

VICTORIA BUYS AT 6/.

SHIPMENTS THIS WEEK.

The manager of one of Sydney's most influential wheat-trading firms stated yesterday that, during the day, he had been offered 5/10 a bushel by another Sydney operator. He also stated that one or two small parcels had been bought on Victorian account at about 6s a bushel f.o.b., Sydney, and that this grain had been despatched to Melbourne.

The Wheat Acquisition Bill, which gives the Government power to take over all the wheat in the State at 5s a bushel, has, to all intents and purposes, become law, but, as there is as yet no machinery to set the law in motion, there is nothing to prevent any speculator from shipping wheat to Victoria or any other State of the Commonwealth. That, at least, is the view taken by the trade. It is a well-known fact, of course, that large quantities of grain have been taken over the Murray during the past week.

OVER THE BORDER.

ACTIVITY IN RIVERINA

The Wheat Acquisition Act is not yet in actual operation, and in the meantime Riverina farmers, with the new wheat to sell, are rushing it into Victoria. It is reported that some of the New South Wales border farmers are securing as much as 6s 9d per bushel in Melbourne, which, when freight is deducted, leaves them about 6s 6d net.

The State Attorney-General said yesterday that his department had the situation of matters in Riverina under consideration. On Monday, Mr. Hall added, the board of five provided for under the Act, would be appointed. Regarding fears expressed that, by appointing only one firm to conduct buying operations in the country, a number of staffs attached to other firms would be thrown completely out of employment, Mr. Hall said that what the Government intended to do was to avail itself of the organisations of some existing firms, and allocate to particular houses particular districts.

The best season has been experienced on the north-west tablelands, and in the west. The board to be appointed on Monday is clothed with extensive powers. The Act provides:—The board shall, for the purpose of any inquiry under this Act, have all such powers, rights, and privileges as are vested in the Supreme Court, or in any Judge thereof, on the occasion of any action or trial in respect of the following matters:—(a) The compelling the attendance of witnesses, and examining them on oath, affirmation, or declaration; (b) the compelling the production of books, documents, and writings; (c) the compelling witnesses to answer questions relevant to the inquiry; (d) the punishing persons guilty of contempt or of disobedience or any order of summons made or issued by the board; (e) the directing witnesses to be prosecuted for perjury.

Mr Ball, M.L.A., who represents the border constituency of Corowa, stated yesterday that the farmers in his electorate were busy taking their wheat to Victoria, where the price was as high as 6s 9d. The bulk of it had already been sold and conveyed across the border, the farmers having bestirred themselves to get the grain away when the Wheat Acquisition Bill was announced. So far the farmers had encountered no opposition in getting their wheat away into Victoria. The opinion was held that once wheat was in transit towards the border the State Government had no power to seize it as this would constitute an interference with interstate trade. The Riverina farmers, generally speaking, had had little wheat to spare owing to the comparative failure of the crops.

POSITION IN VICTORIA.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

Merchants and millers who have sold wheat for future delivery, and have had the price almost doubled against them, are anxious that the Government should take action, as has been done in New South Wales, to have contracts cancelled. About a fortnight ago they wrote a letter to the Premier (Sir Alexander Peacock) on the subject, and he referred the question to the Prices of Goods Board. Representatives of the millers and merchants attended the meeting of the board, and set out their case. It was stated that, by fixing the price of wheat, the Government had interfered with trade and dislocated business. Having been forced to accept the legal price of 4s 9d a bushel, it was unjust that they should be compelled to pay 6s 6d to 7s to cover contracts for forward delivery. Contracts for the sale of the new season's wheat should be annulled, or there should be an adjustment at 4s 9d a bushel, which was the legal price first fixed by the Government. Unless relief were given many insolvencies must take place.

These representations were considered by the Prices of Goods Board to-day. The opinion was general that the subject was not one for the board to deal with. It was thought, however, that something should be done to bring the conflicting parties together in the hope that a mutual agreement might result. A decision was arrived at to write to the Premier, suggesting that he should endeavour to have a meeting with the contractors for the purpose of making settlements. It was thought that if such a meeting were held the Premier should propose that he should be allowed to nominate an arbitrator to determine at what price contracts should be completed.

VICTORIANS ACTIVE.

CULCAIRN, Friday.

The Wheat Acquisition Bill has caused a rush of wheat into Victoria, particularly from the Culcairn to Corowa line, which is one of the best wheat areas in the State. During the past week or two, most farmers within striking distance of the border have been rushing their wheat to get the price of 6s in Victoria. The places affected are Brocklesby, Goombargama, Balldale, Hopefield, Moorwatha, Howlong, and other centres. Carriers are conveying wheat from Balldale to Corowa, about 17 miles, for 9d per bushel. The low charge is due to scarcity of employment, and farmers, too, are finding that it pays them instead of having their teams idle. It is estimated that probably 100,000 bushels have been taken into Victoria. Most of this has gone to Wahgunyah (Vic.), opposite Corowa, and a little to Barnawartha, and every available truck is being sent to meet the demand. It is stated that in the Brocklesby district 5s 8½d was given for wheat stacked in the field, and 6s 1½d delivered at Wahgunyah. Agents for Victorian firms have been very busy in the centres named. The position has been created that millers on the New South Wales border are at a distinct disadvantage and financial loss; while Victorian millers are buying over their heads. Only about 5000 bags of wheat have as yet been taken into Brocklesby railway yards, while at Balldale the number is much less. This wheat has been bought on behalf of the Corowa and Albury millers, whose purchases have naturally been hampered and restricted in view of the proposed legislation of the Government. The trouble is, that the Victorian millers have a free hand in the matter, and can purchase in unlimited quantities without any fear of confiscation of either grain or flour by the Victorian Government, while their competitors on this side look calmly on. The result is a distinct loss to New South Wales.

It is stated that sales are also being effected at Wodonga, over the river from Albury, at 6s 1d.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA.

PERTH, Friday.

The Foodstuffs Bill passed the second reading on the voices in the Assembly last night. The Premier said the bill was necessary, because wheat and flour prices varied greatly in the various States. The Commonwealth could not interfere between the States, and the harvest estimate showed that Western Australia would only be able to meet her own food requirements. If flour and wheat were exported to the East probably Western Australia would have later on to import at a very heavy additional cost.

Mr. Frank Wilson, Opposition leader, accepted the principle of the bill, but desired that persons from whom the Foodstuffs Board took grain and flour should receive full market value, equivalent to the price in the world's market. It would be unfair to give less than London parity.

Mr. James Gardiner, Country Party leader, said the State would require 7,000,000 bushels and the coming harvest would barely supply it. With the London price, 6s 4½d per bushel, the local market value would be 5s 1d. The three members of the Foodstuffs Board should be selected after consultation between the Premier and the leaders of the Opposition and Country Party.

MORE IMMIGRANTS.

The Demosthenes, which arrived this morning, brought out 155 nominated immigrants, 30 domestic servants, and 50 lads, to be trained in farm work, the boys being assisted from the Dreadnought fund.

ELECTIONS.

HARD FIGHT IN NEW ZEALAND.

PROHIBITION ISSUE.

WELLINGTON (N.Z.), Friday.

Not until the early hours of the morning could any definite news be obtained of the state of parties, many country returns being considerably delayed. The position then shown was:—

Government	38
Opposition	30
Labour	5
Social Democrats	3

The issue was to some extent complicated by the licensing and Bible in schools issues, and several seats remain in doubt. It is generally considered that the Government has suffered severely by the out-and-out defeat of Mr. Fisher for Wellington Central. He had to face a large Labour vote, which was greatly incensed at his direct methods during last year's strike. In Wairarapa, a squatters' stronghold, Sir Walter Buchanan is facing a slight deficiency against Mr. Hornsby, a former Liberal member for that constituency, and can only rely on absent voters to secure his return. Labour scored a big win at Dunedin North, Mr. G. M. Thomson (Government) being defeated by Mr. Walker by over 400. Mr. Thomson's favouring the Bible in schools referendum probably had something to do with it.

It will be a day or two before the exact state of parties can be ascertained. Four Maori seats have still to be decided. In the last Parliament only one had returned a Government supporter, and the present indications are that there will either be no majority for either side, or that Labour and the Maoris will hold the balance of power. Until the absentee votes, including the members of the expeditionary forces, are counted, nothing definite can be stated.

In regard to the licensing poll, all no-license districts remain dry, but the final returns are likely to show a considerable majority against national prohibition. The New Zealand Alliance practically admits that it is disappointed with the result. Meanwhile Mr. Massey refuses to comment on the situation.

The elections for the four Maori constituencies were held to-day. The returns are incomplete, but there are indications that the native seats, like the European, will be evenly divided. Mr. A. Ngata (Opposition) was re-elected for the eastern district; Mr. Parata (Opposition) is assured of return for the southern; Dr. Pomare (Government) is leading for the western; and Mr. Henare (Government) is leading for the northern.

BETTING.

TOTALISATOR ADVOCATED.

Advocates of the totalisator waited as a deputation on the Chief Secretary (Mr. Cann) yesterday to urge the immediate legalising of the machine.

Mr. J. P. Osborne, M.L.A., who introduced the deputation, which comprised representatives of business and racing interests, said that they desired that the machine should be introduced because they believed that it would be in the best interests of all concerned. The totalisator was wanted by a very large section of the public. Gambling was inherent in the race. If they tried to suppress it, it would perhaps show in some other form that would be less satisfactory. Instead of trying to suppress it the best thing to do was to regulate it, and they could do this, as far as racing was concerned, better by means of the totalisator than in any other way. They believed the sporting public would get a fairer deal, and the State would get revenue, and one advantage of this form of taxation was that the burden would go on to the shoulders of those who were prepared to pay for it. He hoped that the Government would introduce the totalisator.

Mr. F. Merton, horseowner, considered that the introduction of the totalisator would be in the interests of the sporting public generally. One advantage of the totalisator was that one had a chance of winning something on a second horse, whereas in a straightout bet if a horse was beaten by a head the bettor lost his money.

Mr. P. Nolan, president of the Horse Breeders' Association, argued that the totalisator would be a great factor in putting racing on a better basis. The totalisator would benefit country clubs, and enable them to give higher prizes. It did not pay to keep very promising horses for country racing now. The totalisator would confine betting to the racecourses, and make it a cash transaction. People could not with the totalisator lose money on horses that did not start. At the present time the public bet on a number of races for about three months before they took place, and not 15 per cent. of the horses originally nominated ever saw the post.

In reply, Mr. Cann said that personally he was not much interested in horse racing, and did not indulge in betting, nor would he do so if the totalisator became a fact. He did not intend to canvass the views expressed. He was more out of sympathy than in sympathy with any form of gambling, but was not foolish enough to think that they could banish gambling. The Totalisator Bill would not be introduced as a Government measure, but as soon as the House resumed the Government would give it an opportunity of deciding whether it would have the totalisator or not. The matter could be tested. Though the bill would not come before the House as a Government measure, the Government would examine the bill in order to see that the interests of the public were properly safeguarded.

EARTHQUAKES.

SHOCKS IN THE NEW HEBRIDES

VILA (New Hebrides), Dec. 2.

Several earthquake shocks have lately been experienced, and in the "Commercial Bulletin" of the 21st instant a correspondent states that the two big Ambrym volcanoes "Marum" and "Benbow," have been sending forth torrents of cinders with unaccustomed intensity recently. He also states that the situation in Ambrym is improving and the mortality reported in May last has ceased completely; also that the cocoanut trees have revived, and are now covered with young nuts. Pentecost and Maevo islands have experienced severe shocks, but no damage resulted.

It is also reported that the lake near Ambrym has overflown its borders, overwhelming two villages and about 20 natives in the Lolosakas district.

JAM INDUSTRY.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Prices of Goods Board was asked by jam manufacturers to-day to increase the price of certain jams by a halfpenny per pound.

The board thought there was justification for the increase in prices of apricot, gooseberry, and apricot and pineapple (mixed) jams, and it was decided to make a recommendation favouring the increase of a halfpenny per tin in these instances.

PUNTING GARBAGE TO SEA.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—In your issue of even date you publish under war news that "trainloads of corpses continue to be despatched from Belgium eastwards for cremation. Some are being taken to the German glass furnaces." So, also, do our city aldermen convey puntloads eastwards to sea, to pollute our foreshores and surfing beaches, disseminating disease.

The question arises if glass furnaces are adaptable for cremating bodies, why not refuse? There is a problem for our city aldermen, which can be solved without appointing a Royal Commission to inquire into the construction and capabilities of glass furnaces. All that is necessary is to consult any glass manufacturer in Sydney, for I am proud to state that right here in Sydney we have as good glass furnaces, make as good glass, and produce as good bottles, all by British and Australian labour, as one will find in all Germany. As a native of Sydney, and a glass manufacturer, I would only be too pleased to demonstrate to the authorities the capability of our glass-smelting furnaces.

To give you an idea of what a glass-smelting furnace can do. We manufacture glass from sand and lime, and soda-ash. Every three hours we can smelt this mixture into liquid glass ready for blowing bottles. If a glass furnace can smelt virgin sand into glass in three hours, ready for making bottles from how long would it take to incinerate garbage? In my opinion, the construction of a glass furnace has only to be slightly altered, and our city would have in ten weeks—not ten years—one of the most up-to-date garbage destructors. A visit to our glass factory would at once demonstrate my point, and the services of our staff and myself are at the disposal of the city aldermen, with a hope they will do it now.

FEDERAL SESSION.

THE SENATE.

BRISBANE'S LAUNCHING PLANS

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The Minister representing the Minister for Home Affairs, Senator Russell, informed Senator Grant (N.S.W.) that about 1,000,000 bricks had been manufactured at the Federal capital site. The construction of the first of the continuous kilns for the manufacture of bricks had already been commenced. It was intended to construct three of these kilns, the estimated cost of which was £35,000. The estimated output of each kiln per annum was 5,000,000 bricks. The value of the sawn timber stacked at the capital site was £21,600.

The Minister for Defence (Senator Pearce) secured the passing of motions for the purpose of enabling new business to be commenced after half-past 10 at night during the remainder of this year, and to provide for leave of absence being granted to every member of the Senate from the determination of the Senate's last sitting in the year 1914 to the date of its first sittings in 1915.

The Navigation Bill passed the third reading stage.

Further consideration was given in committee to the Appropriation Works and Buildings Bill.

The discussion was resumed on division 12, providing for the expenditure of £400,300 on naval works.

Senator McDougall (N.S.W.) produced a plan drawn up by Mr. Cutler, the former manager of Fitzroy Dock, showing the ways below water for the launching of the cruiser Brisbane. This, he explained, had been sent to the Navy Department in May, 1913. The Minister had stated that these plans did not exist in the department.

Senator Pearce produced the plans for the launching of the Brisbane, drawn up on July 27, 1912. No other plans, he said, were in existence at that time. The file went right on to 1914, and in none of the other dockets was there any reference to any other plan. The only way they could have been suppressed would have been by the deliberate doctoring of the dockets. He was loth to believe that that had been done. An inquiry would be held into the matter.

Senator Millen said that the House must be mystified at the directly opposite statements of the Minister and Senator McDougall. He could not dismiss the very definite statement made by the latter that his tracings were taken only a few days ago from the plans in the Cockatoo office. He went on to say that it was many months after he went into office before he learnt that the Brisbane could not be launched, without some special expedient. It was in May, 1913, that the board suddenly put in a minute that the matter was urgent. What had the board been doing for these eighteen months?

The remaining sections of the bill were passed, and the bill passed through the final stages without amendment.

After the luncheon adjournment the Supply Bill for £10,316,500, to cover a period of five months, was introduced, and passed through all stages, and the Senate adjourned at 4.15 p.m. till Tuesday next.

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES.

DUTY ON BEER.

Mr. Greene (N.S.W.) asked the Attorney-General whether he knew that the gentleman he had been in communication with in regard to the duty on beer and spirits had been intimately associated with the brewing interests of New South Wales.

The Attorney-General: Not to my knowledge. He had further communications with the gentleman this morning with reference to the duties on stocks of which withdrawal had taken place. To the best of his belief and knowledge the gentleman in question was not interested in any wholesale or retail brewery or distilling business.

SPORT FOR MEMBERS.

Mr. Fleming (N.S.W.) asked the Prime Minister if he would take steps to form a sports committee in the House with a view to relieving the strain on members. (Loud laughter.)

A member: We're here for work, not for play.

The Prime Minister said that, although some members might laugh at the suggestion, something would have to be done to safeguard the health of members. He thought that it would be advisable to have a longer adjournment for meals so as to allow members to take a little exercise.

THE METAL TRADE.

Mr. Fenton (Vic.) asked the Attorney-General if he had seen an announcement from America in the papers that the Americans were taking steps to capture the metal trade as effectively as the Germans had done.

The Attorney-General said he had seen the cable in question, and had taken steps to ascertain the truth of the statements. He had cabled to Great Britain and America on the subject, and could learn nothing about the matter. He had been advised by people in the business that the move was being made by Germany under a cloak to capture the metal trade again.

LAND TAX.

The Prime Minister, in answer to a question, said that if he could act in accord with his own sympathy he would set aside all taxation, but, in view of all conditions, he could not see his way clear to relax the new land tax. In his opinion the land tax was the most equitable.

DEATH DUTIES.

The Death Duties Bill was read the first time.

PRICE OF DRINKS.

BREWERS' APPEAL.

A deputation comprising Messrs. Partridge (manager of Toohey's, Ltd.), Resch, Everett (Maitland manager of Toohey's, Ltd.), and Davis, waited on the Necessary Commodities Control Commission yesterday, asking that the proclamation bringing the price of spirits back to the old rates should be repealed.

After discussion, it was decided to hear representatives of the brewers, wine and spirit merchants, and the U.L.V.A., at 10 o'clock on Monday morning.

RUN OVER BY TRAIN.

Attempting to board the 8.35 p.m. Homebush train, when it was leaving No. 8 platform at the Central Railway Station last night, John Simpson, 60, an engineer's fitter, residing at Noel's Villa, Parramatta-road, Homebush, fell under the train, and had his left leg crushed nearly off.

The unfortunate man was about to jump on to the second rear car, when he slipped and fell between the train and the station platform on to the line, the rear cars passing over his leg. The Civil Ambulance conveyed Simpson to the Sydney Hospital, where he was admitted by Dr. Jeckyll. It will be necessary to amputate the leg.

FUGITIVE FALLS OVER CLIFF.

About 8 p.m. on Thursday, Mr. William Edmond Collingridge, of Ermington, Tivoli-avenue, Rose Bay, heard a noise at the front casement window of the house. On going outside, he saw a man leave the window and run away. Mr. Collingridge chased the man, who jumped over the fence, which is on the edge of a cliff, and fell 30ft. The police were telephoned for, and they found the man at the bottom of the cliff. He was conveyed by the Civil Ambulance to the Sydney Hospital in a serious condition, suffering from a fractured pelvis.

A FORCED LOAN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—The Postmaster-General's Department must be getting desperately hard up. Its latest report is to try to raise a forced loan from holders of private letter-boxes. As the holder of a box for many years, I have received the usual reminder to renew next month. But on this occasion they want an extra 5s, an increase of 25 per cent. in my case. The pretence is that it is a deposit on the key (a key is worth 1s). The excuse is that I might fail to return the key on giving up the box. It has taken them a dozen years to discover that I am such a desperately bad character that I might not return the key at some indefinite future date. Presumably, other boxholders are treated in the same way. As there are over 2500 of us, the department is demanding over £600 from us. I might point out that in common fairness, letter-boxes should be provided free. Those who use them save the department substantial sums. Non-boxholders put the Post Office to the expense of delivering their mails, while boxholders have to pay extra to deliver their own. I write to your columns to protest against an unfair demand. It is useless to complain to a Government department, as it is a waste of time. When the people are beset by losses on all sides, all present-day Governments can do is to make things harder instead of affording relief. The miserable character of some of the demands would never enter the minds of competent and reasonable men.

NOTE ROBBERY.

TRACING THE NUMBERS.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

The publication of the numbers of the £2200 worth of Commonwealth notes stolen in transit from Melbourne to Perth has been followed by the tracing of 38 notes, which have been handed into banks and other business places in the city and suburbs during the past few days. The fact that the notes are in circulation in and around Melbourne is thought to be convincing evidence that the robbery was committed before the parcel of £12,800 worth of notes left by the Adelaide express on December 4.

The Assistant Secretary to the Federal Treasury (Mr. Collins) stated that persons holding any of the notes were not in any danger of losing the amount they represented, as everyone who came by them honestly was legally entitled to their value. The department asks that persons handling notes during the next few days should examine them carefully, and, in the event of their discovering any of the stolen notes, they should communicate with the department. The numbers of the stolen notes were from T 179001 to T 180000, and from T 182001 to T 183000.

FIRE AT PARKES.

PARKES, Friday.

Fire broke out at 6 this morning in Messrs. Pearce and Williams' premises, one of the largest general stores in the town—a two-story brick building. The grocery, glassware, furniture, and ironmongery departments were gutted. The fire brigade effected a splendid save of the adjoining buildings. The total loss is not yet ascertained, but it is estimated to be about £4000. Both stock and buildings were insured. The origin of the fire is not known.

FINANCIAL.

CAPTURING ENEMY TRADE.

PRINCIPLES INVOLVED.

CO-OPERATIVE EFFORT REQUIRED.

Now that the seas are quite cleared of the marauding foe, it is possible for the mercantile and industrial classes to give greater attention to the task of capturing enemy trade. This may take three forms. It may involve:

(1) Our producing commodities hitherto produced by the enemy—e.g., certain drugs, electrical appliances, etc.; or

(2) Our treating our own raw materials in the early processes of manufacture, an operation which in the past had been left almost entirely to the enemy—e.g., the smelting of ores and the turning of wool into tops or yarns; or

(3) The capturing of the enemy's distributing trade.

As far as Australia is concerned, the two first propositions are by far the most important. While the war continues, of course, there is nothing to fear from enemy competition, and from this point of view the longer the conflict lasts the greater the time within which our captains of industry may make their arrangements. After the war is over, too, they will for many years to come be aided by that natural prejudice that will exist in the minds of every British subject against the products of Germany. Though no formal boycott may be declared, there can be no doubt that German traders will have a hard time endeavouring to regain their footing in our markets—if, indeed, they ever do so again. For not only will they have to contend against the natural prejudice referred to, but they will also have the tariff operating against them in an increasingly decided fashion. The latest tariff schedule that will shortly be discussed in the Federal Parliament increases the preference given to British goods, and doubtless as time goes on that preference will be gradually extended to other parts of the Empire.

The desirableness of capturing enemy trade may be fully agreed to. At the same time a note of caution may be sounded. We are not alone in our desire to snatch some of that trade, the right to which, from our point of view, the enemy has forfeited. The rest of the Empire must be considered. Here lies the need for co-operative effort. It would, for instance, be foolish for Australia to endeavour to establish industries now carried on by Germany if, after the war, those industries cannot survive, either through being unable to stand up against German competition, or what is just as important, British competition. There are some industries that we are peculiarly qualified to carry on on account of there being an abundance of raw material at hand. There are other industries that should be left to an older country owing, possibly, to the presence of more skilled labour there, or on account of there being cheaper labour available there. Some smelting propositions are of this character. They are essentially cheap-labour industries. They are also industries that call for great technical skill. Are our young men prepared to give the requisite study so that we may develop a school of technology as skilled as that of the Germans? Success lies along these lines only. It is useless for us to talk about capturing German trade if we do not imitate, and, perhaps, excel Germany's thirst of knowledge. The Germans are an industrious and deep-thinking people. Are we willing to give up some of the time we devote to recreation to serious study, as the Germans do? Unless something of that sort takes place we may well give up the idea of competing successfully with the German, because after the war is over his science will leave us far behind, and he will become as indispensable as ever.

German trade may be captured in three ways:—

1. Industries may be started during the currency of the war, while German competition is still non-existent, and those running them may rely upon their own skill and the arrangements they may make by way of contracts, that will enable them to retain the trade after the war.

(2) The tariff may be so readjusted as to give special protection to industries now carried on by the enemy that may be introduced here.

(3) The consuming public may be induced to establish a boycott of German goods, or, what amounts to the same thing, it may be induced to develop a healthy desire for Australian goods where such are obtainable to the exclusion of all others, and, in the event of Australian goods not being forthcoming, goods manufactured in other parts of the Empire, while, as a last resort, the goods of Allies should be preferred to those of an enemy.

We may lay it down as a sound principle that no industry should be established that has not a reasonable chance of surviving under post-bellum conditions. Nor would it be wise to place too much dependence upon the boycott idea, for price is apt to break down any boycott that has no religious foundation. When the war is over there will be over 60 millions of industrious, cheap living Germans who will be forced to find markets. If needs be, they will have to live more cheaply than ever. They will have to break down prejudices, and break their tariff walls by the lowness of their prices. Germany after the war will probably be a more serious competitor than before. She will be in a position of desperation. It will be a case of her finding markets or starving. Her people may go hungry, but they will not absolutely starve, and if as the result of the present conflict they are relieved of the great burden of armaments under which they now stagger, their competition will not be lessened, but increased by that fact.

The ratio of expenses to premium income has been reduced to 16.61 per cent., against 17.76 per cent. of the previous year. The addition of £705,030 to the assurance fund raised it to £8,705,491. The investment fluctuation reserve is now £75,042. The item of cash on deposit is now £474,662, against £411,350 a year ago.

INTERCOLONIAL INVESTMENT L. AND B. COMPANY.

The annual meeting was held yesterday. The report and balance-sheet, figures of which we have already given, were adopted. The chairman said the shareholders should congratulate themselves on the balance-sheet. The profits were somewhat less than last year, but still were satisfactory. The recommendations of the directors were framed on cautious lines. Business during the last three months of the financial year was more or less affected by the war. The directors had not been anxious to push new business, consequently the turnover for the period under review was not quite up to the previous year. Mr. Alex. Campbell and Mr. G. Dyson were re-elected as directors, and Sir Thomas Anderson Stuart and Mr. B. H. Chapman were elected directors to fill the vacancies through the deaths of Mr. J. T. Lawler and Mr. D. J. Monk.

AUSTRALIAN TEMPERANCE LIFE CO.

MELBOURNE, Friday.

At the annual meeting of the Australian Temperance and General Life Society to-day the chairman (Mr. Henry Meeks) reported an increase in new business amounting to £2,721,000, an increase in the annual income of £52,900. The profits for the year reached £76,000. Of this amount £32,833 will be distributed, providing for an increase in the annual bonuses, the balance being carried forward to next year. The funds have now reached £1,722,000. The report and balance-sheet and actuary's report were unanimously adopted.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Morison and Bearby, Ltd., has been registered with a capital of £40,000, in £1 shares. The objects are:—To acquire the business of R. and J. Morison and Bearby, ironfounders, mechanical engineers, etc. The first directors are:—Messrs. D. N. Morison and E. W. Bearby. The registered office is at Carrington, near Newcastle.

Mick Simmons, Ltd., has declared an interim dividend for the half-year ended October 31 at the rate of 10 per cent. per annum.

The Bank of New Zealand has declared an interim dividend at the rate of 6 per cent. for the half-year ended September 30.

The gold receipts at the Sydney branch of the Royal Mint last month totalled 27,891 fine ounces, making 480,721 fine ounces since January 1.

At the annual meeting of the Australasian Temperance and General Life Society yesterday, the chairman reported an increased new business amounting to £2,721,000. The increase in the annual income is £52,900. The funds now amount to £1,722,000, and the profits for the year reached £76,000. Of this amount £32,833 will be distributed. This will provide for an increase in the annual bonuses, the balance being carried forward to next year. The report and balance-sheet and actuary's report were unanimously adopted.

THE MONEY MARKET.

Short loans are quoted ¼ lower at 1⅛ per cent. discount, while best three months' bills are 2 13-16, a fall of 1-16.

COMMERCIAL.

THE MARKETS.

The oil market was slow yesterday, although, owing to the advance in the English price of linseed oil, prices were firmly held to. Blundell, Spence's was quoted by cable at 1/11, f.o.b. London. Local rates were 4/ and 4/2, with second brands 3/10 and 3/11. Whitelead was steady at £42, and £43 for distributing lots of Champion's in cwts and quarters. Turpentine was easy. There was a substantial advance in copra. Freight is now offering freely in consequence of the decision of the Commonwealth to employ the captured steamers. Sun dried in bags was worth £18/10/, f.o.b. export steamer.

Metals generally were firm. Galvanised wire was steadily inquired for, but it was difficult to pick up any decent-sized parcels of No. 8; holders wanted 10 guineas, and this price buyers were chary of giving. The distributing rate was quoted at £11, and for No. 10 £12. Parcels of sales of tinplates were made at 18/, but for smaller lots 19/ was asked. The English market was naturally weak on account of the prohibition of export. Wire nettings were firm for all sizes. There was a fair inquiry at the advanced price. Comparatively large sales were made at the old price on the day of alteration. Plaster was scarce, 22/ being paid.

In heavy chemicals the interest still centred chiefly in the action of the Customs holding up the carbide shipped from Scandinavia. It appears that the authorities here have full power to act on their own initiative in holding up, but they cannot act on their own initiative in releasing the goods. Hence, the whole matter has been referred to Melbourne, and merchants have the satisfaction of seeing their Victorian competitors selling carbide, while carbide for New South Wales by the same steamer is still in bond, and no news receivable of when it will be released. Meanwhile, it is good business for the Canadian carbide, of which there are fair stocks on the market and coming forward. Merchants singly and in company have interviewed the Customs authorities, but so far without receiving satisfaction. The price is firm at £22/10/ for parcels and £24 for small lots. Caustic soda had sales, ex ship, at £12/10/, and ex store at £13/10/. Carbonate of soda was weak at £9 in ones, and a proportionate reduction for larger packages.

The Ernst, whose shipments will shortly be available, has cement, plaster, and crockery aboard.

Jute fabrics were unchanged. Cornsacks were quoted at 5/6, branbags at from 4/ to 4/6, and woolpacks at 2/9½ on to rails.

CODES ALLOWED.

The superintendent of the Eastern Extension Australasia and China Telegraph Company, notifies:—

On and after the 14th inst., the following codes may be employed in despatching telegrams to Great Britain, in addition to those already indicated:—

Bentley's Complete Phrase Code (except mining and oil supplements).

Broomhall's Imperial Combination Code (except special rubber edition).

Meyers' Atlantic Cotton Code, 39th edition.

The rules and conditions governing the use of authorised codes remain unchanged, and will apply to the above as to the four codes already in use.

TARIFF INTERPRETATION.

Already the new tariff needs interpretation. The following copy of a wire received from the Comptroller-General of Customs is issued:—"Music, bound or unbound, item 339 (A) applies to ruled books or sheets prepared for manuscripe music. Printed music in sheet or book form free, item 339."

BREADSTUFFS.

VICTORIA BUYS AT 6/.

It was announced yesterday that one or two small parcels of New South Wales wheat had been purchased on Victorian account at 6/, f.o.b., Sydney, and that this grain had already been shipped to Melbourne. It was also stated that at least one Sydney operator was willing to give as high as 5/10 a bushel.

There was no change in the price of flour, which was quoted at £11/17/6 a ton. Bran and pollard were to be had at £7 a ton.

At Darling Harbour yesterday 897 tons of wheat and 125 tons of flour were manifested to arrive.

INTERSTATE MARKETS.

SUGAR.

Sugar is unchanged; foreign granulated being quoted at 27/6 per cwt.

THE WOOL SALES.

At the wool sales to-day shafty merinos were without change. Merinos were neglected. Crossbreds and slipes were in extremely strong demand. Prices realised for the fleeces of the clips mentioned were:—Weinteriga, highest 10d, average 8½d; Milo, 11d, 10d; Howlong, 11½d, 10d; Minnie Downs, 13½d, 11¼d; Cloonacool, 13½d, 13¼d; Teremia, 15d, 12¾d; Hay, 15d, 14¼d; Obeirne, 17½d, 10½d.

[Messrs. John Sanderson and Co. have received the following cablegram from their London house, Messrs. Sanderson, Murray, and Co., dated 10th inst.:—"The third day's sale of the present series was held to-day. For merino the market was weaker, with a tendency downward, competition for this description being poor. Good to medium merino wools are quite 15 per cent., and inferior and faulty sorts 20 per cent. lower than at the close of the preceding series (November 7). For crossbred, which we quoted yesterday at par to 5 per cent. higher on the close of the November sales, the market is firm at this level, owing to the reduced supplies available of this description."]

BRADFORD TOPS.

The market for Bradford tops is quiet. Crossbreds are firm, but merinos are weak. Quotations are:—64's, spot 27½d, February onwards 25½d; super 60's, 27d, 25d; common 60's, 27d, 25d; 56's, 27d, 26d; 50's, 24½d, 23½d; 46's, 21½d, 20½d; 40's, 19d, 18½d.

GRAIN AND FLOUR.

Weaker American markets and favourable weather in Argentine has led to dulness on the London market, and prices are little changed. Australian wheat is not offering on spot.

Flour is firm. Australian ex store at 36/ to 36/6 per sack of 280lb.

Barley, peas, and beans are firm, and without change.

Oats are firm. Bahia Blanca of December-January shipment selling at 23/3 per quarter of 304lb.

BUTTER.

The butter market is very firm. Choicest is scarce. Australian salted is selling at 133/ to 134/ per cwt; unsalted, 134/ to 136/; secondaries, 124/ to 128/; New Zealand butter has been cleared.

Cheese is firm. Canadian at 79/ to 80/ per cwt.

GENERAL MERCHANDISE.

RAILWAY MARKET.

At the Railway forage and grain sales yesterday the supply of produce was limited. A large number of buyers, however, were present, and a strong demand reigned for choice grades of chaff, whilst poorer qualities did not receive a great amount of attention. Agents were active before the sales commenced, and many consignments were disposed of privately.

Wheaten chaff commanded 4/3 to 7/1 at auction, oaten 5/6, and lucerne 6/3 to 6/9; whilst lucerne dust realised 6/ per cwt. Several lots which were out of an exceptionally choice quality were passed in for future submission by auctioneers, who refused to do business at the prices offered.

Lucerne hay brought from 4/ to 5/.

The potato market was again easier, and consignments were disposed of at prices slightly lower than was the case on the previous day.

Consignments placed in position for sale:—Hay, straw, chaff, 63; grain, 23; potatoes and onions, 14.

Produce manifested to arrive:—Hay, straw, chaff, 172; grain, 38; potatoes and onions, 10.

Paw Paws.—Queensland: 6/ to 12/ a double case.

VEGETABLE MARKET.

At the vegetable market yesterday business was dull, and in many cases prices were lower than on Wednesday. Peas and beans, which were plentiful, decreased in value considerably.

Quotations were:—

Beetroot, /9; carrots, 1/9 to 2/; celery, 2/; eschalots, 1/ to 1/6; herbs, 1/ to 1/6; lettuce, /9 to 1/; parsley, 1/6 to 2/6; parsnips, 2/; radishes, /8; rhubarb, 1/6 to 2/; watercress, 2/ to 2/6; white turnips, /6 to 1/; spinach, /6 to 1/ per dozen bunches; cabbages, 1/ to 3/6; pumpkins, new, 12/; vegetable marrows, 4/ per dozen; cucumbers, 2/6 to 4/ per bushel-case; tomatoes, best 6/, others 2/ to 4/6 per half-case; peas, 2/ to 4/; beans, local, /9 to 1/; broad, 1/ to 1/6 per bushel; watermelons, £2/15/ per crate.

Potatoes.—Clarence River: New, 8/; kidney potatoes, 9/ to 10/; onions, 13/6, brown 14/, pickling 10/, white 18/, Hunter River, 6/ to 9/ per cwt.

PIG SALES.

At the City Yards yesterday 250 pigs, the majority of which were baconers of a generally useful quality, were offered at auction. Competition was brisk, backfatters and baconers being well sought after at about late rates, whilst baconers show a distinct improvement on Tuesday.

During Christmas week one sale only (on December 21) will be held at the City Yards.

Quotations were:—

Best backfatters £5/5/, good £4 to £5, medium £3 to £4, light from 50/.

Best baconers £3/11/, good £3 to £3/10/, medium £2/15/ to £3, light from £2 10s.

Best porkers £2 8s, good £2 to £2 6s, medium £1 10s to £2, light from £1 5s.

STOCK TRUCKINGS.

The following stock trucks have been ordered for the forthcoming sales:—December 14, 481 sheep and 208 cattle waggons; and for December 17, 377 sheep and 237 cattle waggons.

STATION PRODUCE SALES.

The Sydney Wool-selling Brokers' Association reports:—

PUBLIC HOUSES AND LATE HOURS.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE HERALD.

Sir,—Considering the number of offences, acts of violence, robberies, unhappy homes, late hours, and immorality resulting from and encouraged by hotels and public houses keeping open until 11 o'clock at night, perhaps the present time might be favourable for closing them at 10 p.m. I feel sure that the man or men that could accomplish this would be blessed with an approving conscience for the rest of their lives, and do much to promote the happiness of others. I am, etc,

MINING.

MARKET AGAIN FIRM.

The market in the mining section of the Stock Exchange was very healthy again yesterday; and a fair volume of actual business was recorded.

Barriers were again firm, and responsible for several sales during the day. In the morning British (old) changed hands at 20/9, and Proprietary at 32/9; and on High Change the former advanced to 21/. Sales of Junction North at 5/5 and 5/6 were also effected at noon. In the afternoon Norths found buyers at 38/6, and Junction Norths at 5/6.

The tin division also claimed a substantial part of the day's business. Carpathia (con.) changed hands at the advanced price of 6/1½, but later receded to 6/; whilst sales of Vegetable Creek at 3/1, and Wild Cherry (con.), at 1/9 were recorded.

There was nothing of interest in copper, except for sales of Morgans at 41/9, and Cuthberts at 14/9 and 14/10; and the same remarks may also be applied to the gold division, inasmuch as the only business transacted therein was composed of sales of Bullfinch at 4/2½ and Great Southern Consols at 4/4½.

MINING NOTES.

At a meeting of the directors of the Mount Cuthbert Company at Melbourne yesterday it was decided to grant a further six months' extension of time, in which holders of the first issue of debentures have the right to convert their debentures into shares. The option has, therefore, been extended from December 27 to June 27 next.

THE LYELL MINES.

QUEENSTOWN (TAS.), Thursday.

The Lake Margaret scheme is giving satisfaction at the North Lyell mine. Ore-production continues on normal lines. The ore values in some of the stopes have recently been somewhat poor owing to the intrusion of low-grade material, and this accounts for the decrease in the copper output for the last four-weekly smelting run. Any falling off in this respect is, however, only temporary, and in a mine with such extensive workings and numerous segregated ore bodies, as in the North Lyell, occasional variations in grade are bound to occur. At the 1100ft level, No. 51 stope body continues to yield rich ore. The country in No. 1 engine winze is improving, enabling better progress to be made, and it is now down about 88ft below the 1100ft level. At the 1000ft level some very good ore continues to be won from No. 40 stope at the extreme northern end of the workings.

The Lake Margaret power scheme is operating with great satisfaction. All the power for the North Lyell and Mount Lyell mines' hoisting machinery and main haulage, also three blast furnaces, is being regularly and efficiently supplied by the hydro-electric plant. Arrangements are also being made for the supply of new power to the converters, and the necessary pipe connections to carry the blast from the new blower-house is being constructed. The work of supplying new power to other outlying portions of the plant, and the necessary gradual changing over from steam to electricity, is in progress. The construction of power fuel elevator machinery for lifting by an improved and a very much cheaper system than that of pumping, now in use, has been started. The present cost of disposing of slag is approximately £7000 yearly, and the new method will probably reduce this by 50 per cent.

WESTERN AUSTRALIAN MINES.

KALGOORLIE, Thursday.

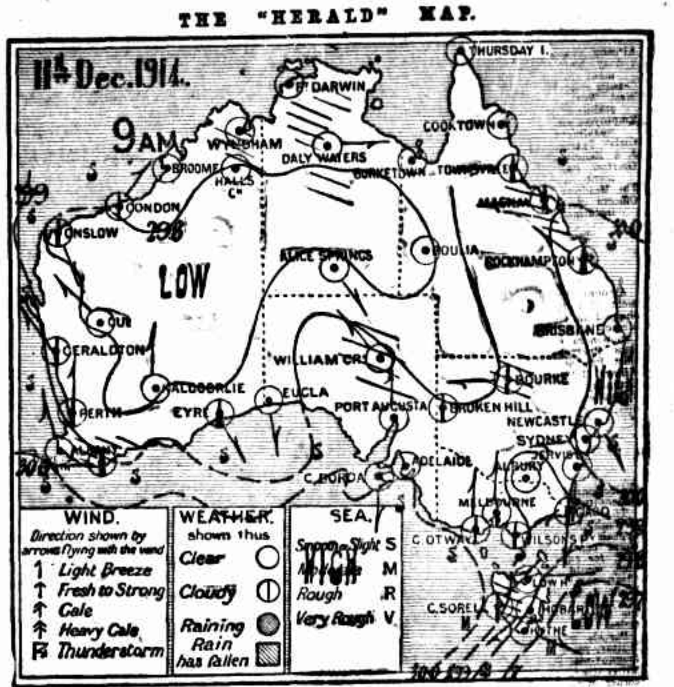
AUSTRALIAN WEATHER.

THE "HERALD" MAP.



Since 9 a.m. Thursday, the small eastern high pressure has worked eastward about 600 miles; that is, as regards its eastern isobars which are now much closer together than at 9 a.m. the previous day. The centre still lies about Lord Howe Island.

Another "high" lies almost parallel with the southern coast of the continent, but it only contains one isobar. This high was yesterday shown over the south-west corner of the continent, and to reach its present position must have advanced about 1800 miles, which, although a very abnormal rate, is, in this instance, a good indication for some useful rains.

The latter should result from the co-operation of the two "highs," with a huge monsoonal depression, which at 9 a.m. occupied practically the whole of Australia.

It is not active at present, but is gradually increasing in energy; having gained one isobar since yesterday.

Due to commingling of the various winds influenced by the several pressure systems (above-mentioned) of different temperatures and humidity, thunderstorms should shortly be experienced over a wide area. So far, however, increasing heat and sultriness have been the chief weather features; but with cloud growth, the temperature should become comparatively depressed, and thus assist in the development of rain.

The flat barometric conditions over New South Wales, taken in conjunction with the surrounding pressure distribution, is likely to produce some strong local squalls in various parts.

Ocean Forecast.—Generally smooth to moderate.

THE TURF.

Horse racing at Rosehill and pony and galloway racing at Kensington furnish outings for metropolitan sporting folk this afternoon, while sportsmen in the northern district are catered for by the Maitland Jockey Club at Rutherford. Victorian racegoers assemble at Aspendale Park; the Queensland Turf Club's Summer meeting will be brought to a close at Ascot; and the Canning Park Racing Club holds a re-union in Western Australia.

Kensington Racing Club caters this afternoon for followers of pony and galloway racing, and the programme to be played out should be productive of good sport. The track is first-class going, and the general arrangements are up to the customary standard. Special and ordinary trams land passengers at the racecourse gates, and the opening event is timed for 1.30 p.m. The results of the racing may be anticipated as under:—Maiden Handicap: Colayr, Midnight, Borse Jim. Fourteen-one Handicap: Honeymoon, Sir Merv, Frithfield. Flying Handicap: First division, Troon or Clarence; second division, Schottische or Pomeroo. Encourage Stakes: First division, Sunpan or Flamstead; second division, Jindy Mac or Twitch. Fourteen-two Handicap: First division, Marie Clare or Sinfield; second division, Valorous Queen or Merva. Approved Stakes: Bulla, Moorefield Lad, Cobbanco. Kensington Handicap: Brown Eyes, Jackomy, Teddy Bear.

M. E. D.: The name Cicealie has been incorrectly published as Cecelie.

ROSEHILL RACING CLUB.

DECEMBER MEETING.

The final meeting of the Rosehill Racing Club for the current year takes place at that well-appointed trysting-place this afternoon with every prospect of highly interesting sport. A number of horses with engagements for the principal handicaps of the midsummer meetings will be got under silk, and their form will be eagerly scanned in view of future happenings. The track having benefited by the late rainfall is splendid going, and large fields all round are indicated. The management has made due preparation for the requirements of a large crowd, and in every other way the comfort and convenience of racegoers have been anticipated. Visitors can purchase combined railway tickets for admission to the saddling paddock or St. Leger reserve at the Central Booking Office, Challis House, Martin-place, before leaving the city, and thus avoid the crush at the railway station. Special trains leave the Central Railway Station at 11.20 a.m. (horses and attendants), 12.6, 12.17, 12.40 (reserved compartments), 12.51, 12.56, 1.8, and 1.27 p.m. The 12.6, 12.51, and 1.8 p.m. trains stop at Strathfield to pick up passengers.

The sport opens with the Hurdle Race, in which Merrimax, Rajah, King Lucre, and Gorillas should have most to say in the finish, and the judge may declare for Rajah, Merrimax, and King Lucre.

Popinjay, Cisco, Brattle, Tofua, and Consus appear to have good prospects in the Clyde Stakes, and Brattle, Popinjay, and Tofua may pass the post in order.

The battle for the Maiden Handicap may be fought out among Lardner, Thoolomi, New Orleans, and Utum, and the numbers may be hoisted for Lardner, Thoolomi, and New Orleans.

An interesting contest is promised for the Juvenile Stakes, towards the close of which Linera, M.E.W., Morse Code, St. Bavon, and Flavinite should be in the fighting line, and the places may be filled by Linera, Flavinite, and St. Bavon.

Sweep considerations will ensure a large field for the December Handicap, in which the chances of Lochano, Silver Grain, Chid, Trinobantes, and Claude Mimer read nicely, and Silver Grain, Chid, and Claude Mimer may claim the attention of the judge as named.

The Parramatta Mile brings the proceedings to a close, and the most likely to be in the thick of the fight towards the end of the trip are Spurn, Ligero, Laggard, and Tiffany, while the situations may be filled by Spurn, Laggard, and Ligero.

JUNIOR COMPETITIONS.

The Junior Association will conclude their rounds of competition matches to-day. The draw was published in last Saturday's "Herald."

A.O.O.F. ASSOCIATION.

Following is the draw for the seventh round:—Progress v Campsie, Wardell-road, No. 6; Jubilee v Leichhardt, Wardell-road, No. 5; Redfern v Robin Hood, Wardell-road, No. 4; Lincoln a bye.

The inter-Friendly Society team for Boxing Day will be chosen on Monday.

SYDNEY UNIVERSITY v MELBOURNE UNIVERSITY.

The match between the Sydney and Melbourne Universities will commence at the University Oval on Wednesday.

SYDNEY G.S. v MELBOURNE G.S.

The Sydney Grammar School and Melbourne Grammar School will commence their match at the Sydney Grammar School ground on Thursday.

SHEFFIELD SHIELD MATCHES.

N.S.W. TEAM.

The New South Wales selectors are experiencing difficulty in filling the places in the New South Wales team for the southern tour, caused by the withdrawals of Messrs. Hopkins, Macartney, and Flynn. Two vacancies have been filled by H. Cranney (Central Cumberland) and J. A. Randell (Middle Harbour); but the third player will not be decided upon until to-day. The team will leave on Monday.

SOUTH COAST v METROPOLITAN.

WOLLONGONG, Friday.

The following team will represent the South Coast against the Metropolitan Eleven during the coming holidays:—W. Bourke (captain), G. Coulter, R. Morris, M. Hegherty, A. Anderson, W. Edwards, H. King (Illawarra Association), M. Rice, T. Turner, B. Emery, J. Pepper (Shoalhaven Association), A. Bice (Shoalhaven), twelfth man.

Dobroyde Club: Four ball bogey handicap.
Drummoyne Club: Four ball best ball handicap.
Killara Club: Bogey handicap.
Manly: Summer Cup and Summer handicap.

HUNTER'S HILL CLUB.

Owing to the death of Mr. G. W. Phillips, the play-off in the monthly stroke competition has been postponed until next Saturday.

ATHLETICS.

DUNN CHALLENGE SHIELD.

To-day, at the Sydney Sports Ground, the fifth annual contest for the Dunn Challenge Shield, to decide the club supremacy of the State, will be brought to a conclusion. South Sydney Club, with 23 points, holds a lead of 5 points over East Sydney, the Police Club has 6 to its credit, and the only other body to score on the opening day was the Redfern Harriers Club, which gained a single point. The first event is set down for 2.30 p.m., when heats of the 220yds will be decided. A fine race should be witnessed in the final between C. R. Harwood, F. C. Madeley, and J. F. Bradley. The holders of the shield should retain the trophy by a margin of at least 12 points, with East Sydney nearest, followed by Police and Redfern.

The 50 and 75 yards Ladies' Championship of Australia and a 440yds handicap for members of the Mozart Juvenile Harriers will complete the programme.

ROWING.

LEICHHARDT CLUB REGATTA.

The Leichhardt Rowing Club will hold its annual regatta to-day, on the Leichhardt-Haberfield canal.

LAWN TENNIS.

COUNTRY WEEK.

The committee of the New South Wales Lawn Tennis Association, which controls the country week competitions, met yesterday, when the teams that had entered were placed in two divisions. Each teams meets every other team in its division. At the completion of three matches semi-final and final matches will take place. The teams in the divisions are:—

No. I: Trundle, Goulburn I., Cooma, Wagga, Buddabadah, Bathurst, Broken Hill II., Dubbo, Spring Valley, Tenterfield, Currawang, Wollongong, Dunedoo.

No. II.: Broken Hill I., Armidale, Cowra, Lithgow, Narromine, Barraba, Goulburn II., Bland, Wychitella, Tamworth, Orange, The Oaks, Narrabri West.

The ladies' teams will play in one division, the entrants being Narromine, Bathurst, Barraba, Cooma, Tenterfield I., Tenterfield II., Gilgandra, Orange, Lithgow.

BERRIMA v BOWRAL.

BOWRAL, Friday.

Berrima Sports defeated Bowral Excelsior by 9 sets 63 games to 3 sets 44 games; and Bowral Kia-Ora defeated Berrima by 4 sets 40 games to 4 sets 36 games.

CYCLING.

NEW SOUTH WALES CYCLISTS' UNION.

FIXTURES.

Dulwich Hill Club: Week-end run to Rose Bay, starting from the clubrooms at 9.30 a.m.

EASTERN SUBURBS CLUB.

The Eastern Suburbs Club has decided to hold a series of fortnightly races at the Sydney Sports Ground, commencing on Wednesday evening, December 30. Entries (which must be accompanied by the fee) will close at the clubrooms seven days in advance of each event. Points will be allotted at each meeting, the winners at the end of the series receiving a bicycle presented by Mr. E. E. Carter, of Waverley.

Entries will close to-day for the half-mile handicap to be held at the union carnival on December 19.

The final of the billiard tournament was won by A. E. Stewart from P. E. Wootten.

BOXING.

BRADLEY v LOUGHREY.

The opponents in the boxing match at the Stadium to-night are Frank Loughrey (U.S.A.) and Pat Bradley, formerly also of America, but now qualified by residence to be classed as an Australian boxer. Bradley became famous in Australia by a long succession of knock-out victories, interrupted only when he faced the picked middleweights of the world—Eddie M'Goorty, Jeff Smith, and Dave Smith—giving away weight to them all. He has been visiting America, and this will be his first engagement since his return. In training he has shown all his old form.

Loughrey in his fighting in America has established a similar reputation. In training with Jeff Smith and Jimmy Coffey he is formidable even in sparring exercise. The poundage limit agreed on is 11st 6lb ringside. Probably Bradley will be at 11st 2lb, and Loughrey at about 11st.

The preliminary battles—Fritz Maki v Mick Duffy, and Mat Murphy v Bert Barrett—will begin at a quarter to 8, and the main contest will follow at 8.30.

AMUSEMENTS.

CRITERION.—"BROADWAY JONES."

George M. Cohan's farcical play, showing how the spendthrift Jones became a steady business man, and defeated the Chewing Gum Trust, will be produced for the first time in Australia at the Criterion Theatre to-night at 8 o'clock. The cast will be as follows:—Rankin, a butler, Fred Cambourne; Jackson Jones, a spendthrift, Fred Niblo; Robert Wallace, a friend, Sydney Stirling; Mrs. Gerard, a wealthy widow, Mrs. Chas. Holloway; Peter Pembroke, a business man, George Bryant; Sam Spotswood, a boy, E. Pirie Bush; Mrs. Spotswood, Marion Marcus Clarke; Judge Spotswood, Edwin Lester; Clara Spotswood, Enid Bennett; Josie Richards, a business girl, Josephine Cohan; Mark Edwards, a bookkeeper, Frank Harcourt; Henry Hopper, Ronald Byron; Joe Higgins, a workman, John De Lacey; John Leary, a secretary, Dick Shortland; Grover Wallace, a rich man, Maurice Dudley. The plan is at Paling's.

HER MAJESTY'S THEATRE.

"Patience" will be revived this evening, Monday, and Tuesday, with a matinee performance on Wednesday next, leaving Wednesday evening for the last night of this interesting revival of Gilbert-Sullivan operas at Her Majesty's Theatre. The farewell programme will furnish the second acts of "Mikado," "Yeomen," and "Pinafore." To-night's cast will be as follows:—Colonel Calverley, Albert Kavanagh; Major Murgatroyd, G. Villiers Arnold; Lieut. the Duke of Dunstable, Edward M'Keown; Reginald Bunthorne, Chas. R. Walenn; Archibald Grosvenor, Frank Wilson; Mr. Bunthorne's Solicitor, Fred. England; Patience, Pearl Ladd; The Lady Saphir, Kate May; The Lady Ella, Mary Morris-Smith; The Lady Jane, Ethel Morrison; The Lady Angela, Maude Miles.

"THE GIRL ON THE FILM."

On Thursday and Friday next Her Majesty's will be "dark" to the public until Saturday, when "The Girl On the Film" will be staged for the first time in Australia. This Gaiety piece was remarkably successful both in London and in New York. The company that appeared in "The Girl in the Taxi" will assist in the production, which is under the stage direction of Mr. Harry Burcher, who was specially engaged from the London Gaiety to put on the musical comedy. The full cast of this story of affairs at the offices of the "Vioscope," and at an Army League soiree, which will include C. H. Workman, as author, actor, and producer at the Vioscope, and Dorothy Brunton as "Freddy," has been already published. Plan arrangements at Paling's are duly notified.

THE NELLIE STEWART SEASON.

Miss Nellie Stewart will open her Christmas season at the Theatre Royal on Saturday, December 26, under Mr. George Musgrove's management. The romantic drama "Dorothy o' the Hall" will be staged, with a big comedy role for Miss Stewart as Dorothy Vernon, the frolicsome maiden who allows her lover, John Manners, to impersonate her cousin, Sir Malcolm Vernon, chosen for her by her father. The play, which is full of movement, is by Paul Kester, author of "Sweet Nell of Old Drury," and should prove a strong Christmas attraction. The plan opens at Paling's on Monday.

PALACE.—"SWEET COUNTY KERRY."

Mr. Allen Doone will present at the Palace Theatre to-night his pretty play "Sweet County Kerry," showing how Dan O'Hara was falsely accused and imprisoned, and how he shod his horse, released his carrier pigeons, and won a race and the heart of Norah Drew. With this romance the actor-manager will enter upon the last 11 nights of a much-enjoyed season. Miss Edna Keeley will reappear as the charming Norah, and there will be a cast of nearly 30 characters, rustic dancers, and favourite ballads by Mr. Doone.

"WHO'S THE LADY?"

Beaumont Smith will reintroduce the "Glad Eye" Company at the Palace Theatre on December 26 with a new laughing play, "Who's the Lady?" This comedy had a long run in London, following immediately after "The Glad Eye," and in America, under the title of "Madam President," it proved an enormous success. Miss Ethel Dane will appear as Gobette, an actress, and will have a big opportunity. Messrs. Ford and Shelford, who were so successful as the giddy husbands in "The Glad Eye," Messrs. Edward Landor, Frank Bradley, and others will return, and Mr. Claud Vernon will produce the comedy.

"SEVEN LITTLE AUSTRALIANS."

On Boxing Day next, and every afternoon during the duration of the school holidays, there will be presented at the Palace Theatre, under the Beaumont Smith direction, the children's play, "Seven Little Australians." This is a stage version of Ethel Turner's popular story, and embodies all the adventures of the seven youngsters who are the main features in the most successful children's story yet written by an Australian.

"HER FORBIDDEN MARRIAGE."

Mr. George Willoughby will this afternoon (2 o'clock) and evening stage "Her Forbidden Marriage," which new drama ushers in the last five nights of the dramatic season at the Adelphi. In the new play George Cross will appear as the inventor who marries Lucy (Miss Violet D'Arcy), and Ronald Riley as the scoundrel who has an eye on her for himself. Fanny Erris plays the character of Patty, "frightened of marriage," and Oriel Hatson appears as Lady Lancaster, "married and not married."

"THE BABES IN THE WOOD."

Sydney's Christmas pantomime is to be staged at the Adelphi on Wednesday, December 23, the George Willoughby direction having chosen "The Babes in the Wood" as the seasonable attraction. Miss Daisy Jerome, already a prime favourite, will appear as Maid Marian, the principal girl. The principal boy, Robin Hood, will be Miss Dorothy Harris, the "ragtime queen," and the comic "Dame" will be Dan Thomas, the "heroine" of no fewer than 16 pantomimes. Bert Le Blanc has been engaged as Weary Willie. New song specialties, spectacular features, attractive ballets, and vaudeville interpolations in plenty are promised. The pantomime plan will open at Nicholson's as notified.

LADY DUDLEY HOSPITAL MATINEE.

The Lewisham Comedy Club will perform the farcical romance, "His Excellency the Governor," at the Little Theatre this afternoon, at 2 o'clock, in aid of the Lady Dudley Field Hospital, when both professional and amateur players will assist.

THE THEATRE LEAGUE.

To-night and on Monday evening next, the Theatre League of New South Wales (hon. secretary, Mr. P. A. Cameron), will produce, at the Repertory Theatre, "The Truants," by Wilfred Coleby, preceded by "In Honour Bound," in aid of the Lord Mayor's Patriotic Fund. The cast for "The Truants" will include Mmes. Plogsted, Hardie, Misses Mary Butler, Florence Caudwell, Violet Haldane, Dr. F. Robert Forster, Messrs. Frank C. Grimsley, Gilbert Gurney, W. E. Newton, H. W. Hamilton, and Colin M'Donald.

CALEDONIAN SOCIETY'S CONCERT.

This evening (7.45) the Caledonian Society of Sydney will give a concert at Concordia Hall, with Chief T. Clark as chairman, when Misses Ursula Anderson, Isa Coates, Jessie Sheath, Nelly Rouzel, Jessie Macfadyen, Messrs. David Mackenzie (piper), McM. McDonald, Hindmarsh, Jamieson, Lawson, Fraser, D. Wilson, and A. Anderson (musical director) will assist.

SPENCER'S PICTURES.

"The Better Man," a four-part representation of a play by the Rev. Dr. Cyrus Townsend Brady, will head Spencer's Lyceum programme on Monday. It is a story dealing with the Church-Labour question, and vividly contrasts the natures of two clergymen. A special war series will comprise "The Huns Entering Ghent," "Bully Boy," cartoons of the moment, and Pathe's News Gazette; and Charles Chaplin in "The New Janitor."

WEST'S PICTURES.

At West's Theatres—the Glaciarium and Olympia—the star for to-day at both matinee and evening will be "Ave Maria." There are many scenic, dramatic, and comedy successes, including "Their Ups and Downs," whilst the war pictures, "Wireless from the War," are also included. There will be a complete change at both theatres on Monday, the star for the Glaciarium being entitled "Shadows of the Past;" whilst that of the Olympia is entitled "A German Spy's Reward." At both theatres De Groen's Vice-Regal Orchestras supply the incidental music.

PICTURE BLOCK THEATRES.

An adaptation of Marie Corelli's novel "Vendetta" will be the principal feature of Monday's programme at the Crystal Palace. "Topical Budget," "Case of the Vanishing Bonds," "Slavery of Foxicus," "Evacuation of Ghent and Ostend," "Warfare in the Skies," "Bulldog Puppies at War," and "Neighbourly Neighbours" will be screened on Monday at the Lyric Theatre. Monday's programme at the Colonial Theatre will include "Gaumont Graphic," Mary Pickford in "The New York Hat," "A Modern Othello," "His First Case," and "George Washington Jones." At the Empress Theatre an adaptation of Shakespeare's beautiful drama, "Cymbeline," will be presented on Thursday next.

THE DANDIES.

The Dandies, at the Coronation Theatre, Bondi Junction, and at Eden Gardens, Manly, continue to draw large and enthusiastic audiences. Miss Georgie Martin (comedienne) and Miss Pop Batterbury (contralto) add largely to the enjoyment of the performances given.

THE WHITE CITY.

The White City, at Rushcutter Bay, will this evening at 7.30 open its gates to the people of Sydney, for its second season. The diversions will comprise a run of nearly a mile on the scenic railway, which by the way has been remodelled, and the tops of the mountain peaks converted into active volcanoes, a handsome ballroom to accommodate 2000 dancers, a mountain slide, ferris wheel, palace of perplexity, trip with Gulliver, and fun-producing contrivances. In addition to the promenade concerts by the Rozelle Band (champions of the Commonwealth), there will be open air performances by the Aerial Bartletts.

COLISEUM THEATRE.

At the Coliseum Theatre, North Sydney, to-night, the Maurice Maxwell Dramatic Company will produce "Hands Across the Sea," a sensational comedy-drama, which will be played every night until Friday next. Popular prices are announced, and the plans are at Paling's and at Freeman's.

MISS MATHESON'S RECITAL.

Miss Neil Matheson will direct a dramatic entertainment by her pupils at the Oxford Hall next Friday evening, when plays and sketches will be included in an attractive programme.

SAILING.

SYDNEY CLUB.

18FT CHAMPIONSHIP.

Arline, the present holder of the Sydney Club's 18ft championship, will this afternoon be called upon to defend her title against 21 others in this club's annual race for the blue ribbon. She has been sailing so well this season that she will take a lot of beating in a light to moderate breeze, but in these conditions Australian and Nimrod will also, of course, be best suited. Mavis's recent win of the Flying Squadron's championship will doubtless establish her as favourite in a "blow," while Kismet's weatherly qualities will also give her a big chance in a hard breeze. In this event, too, Moyana and H. C. Press may have to be reckoned with, but, with the exception, perhaps, of Boronia, the others can only have outside chances.

The entries, etc., are:—Sydney (N. W. Blackman), Boronia (H. Rodrick), Mavis (F. W. Moppett), Scot (J. Smith), Sunny South (J. Allen), Mona (O. Hahn), Moyana (W. C. Duncan), Pastime (S. Richardson), Acme (B. B. Lloyd), Australian (Chris. Webb), Enid, (J. M. Firth), H. C. Press (G. Press), Arline (W. Edney); Blanche (F. W. Winspear), Swastika (C. Stewart), Golding (R. Beashel), Quilbree (C. Smith), Kismet (W. Dunn), Nimrod (W. J. Duncan), Advance (S. Hubbard), Desdemona (A. C. Roberts), Mississippi (R. W. Budnick). The start will be made under the five-flag system, and the usual Sow and Pigs-Shark Island course, starting and finishing at Clark Island, will be sailed for prizes of £20 and pennant, £10, £6, £4, £3, and £2.

The steamers Kulgoa, Koree, and Kirrule will follow the race as advertised.

PORT JACKSON SKIFF CLUB.

Handicaps for this afternoon's skiff race are:—Ibex II. (A. Dickinson), 7m; Laurie (L. O'Toole), 7m; Eclipse (W. Freemantle), 7m; Edna (H. Freeman), 6½m; Swastika (C. Tutt), 6½m; Kangaroo (C. Blackford), 5m; Eric (H. Slatter), 4m; Minoru (F. Dearing), 4m; Ethel II. (L. Milton), 3½m; Antares (K. A. Flower), 3m; Rose (P. Renouf), 2½m; Assegai (S. Mills), 2m; Ruth (J. Drake), 1½m; Phillips (T. Phillips), 1¼m; Dart (P. Mills), 1m; Valete (H. Price), scr.

The steamer Estrella will follow the race.

CREMORNE SAILING CLUB.

The Cremorne Club will hold a general handicap to-day over the Sirius Cove, P. and O. buoy, Fort Denison course. The handicaps are:—Viking (J. R. Muston), scr.; Witch (R. E. Millard), 1m; Kestrel (A. R. Marshall), Whitewings (H. Muston), Littlewings (A. Muston), 1¼m; Sainora (S. Drake), 2¼m; Curlew (R. Gourley), 3m.

MOSMAN AMATEUR SAILING CLUB.

General handicap entries:—Orthona (F. M'Lean), scr.; Ubique (G. M'Laughlin), ¼m; Tasman (W. Douglas), 3¼m; Elaine (A. Bate), 3½m; Kismet (J. Makinson), 5½m.

Points to count 5, 3, and 1 for President A. M. Shadler's trophy.

NORTHCOTE CUP.

Contrary to expectations, two entries have been received for the interstate yachting contest for the Northcote Cup. The Royal Prince Alfred Yacht Club, as holders of the cup, entered the six metre yacht Rawhiti II., owned by Messrs. Albert and Sayer, so that the cup would not pass from this State for lack of representation in the event of any other State deciding to forward an entry. The wisdom of this precaution is now shown, as an entry has now been received on behalf of the St. Kilda Yacht Club (Victoria), naming Mr. C. H. Hack's six metre yacht Killara as its representative.

Neither of these boats took part in the initial event for this trophy, but both of them have participated in each contest since, with the result that they have each sailed two winning races.

MOTOR CYCLING.

SIDE CAR TRIAL.
A NOVEL EVENT.

This afternoon the Motor Cycle Club of New South Wales will hold the first open side-car trial with lady passengers to be held in the State, over a 70 mile course, from Sydney to Windsor and return.

The contest will be run under non-stop conditions throughout, 5 points being lost for every stop caused either by mechanical or tyre failures. One minute's latitude will be allowed for an early arrival at a control, but outside this limit a late or early arrival will be penalised one point for one minute. Secret controls will be worked on the Parramatta-Windsor road, at which no latitude will be allowed. The competitors must maintain an average speed of 18 miles per hour.

A start will be made from the club rooms, George-street, at 1.30 p.m., the competitors travelling to Parramatta, via the bridges. A compulsory stop of half an hour will be made at Windsor.

The following are the competitors:—E. L. Betts (6 h.p. Speedwell), J. E. Wilson (6 Victa), A. Fletcher (6 Victa), F. S. Paape (4 B.S.A.), G. Lloyd (4 B.S.A.), N. C. Berry (6 A.J.S.), G. Bortfield (4 B.S.A.), W. E. M'Carthy (8 New Hudson), R. Glanfield (6 A.J.S.), F. Farman (6 J.A.P.), F. Holmes (6 Matchless), H. Benson (6 Matchless), K. Bennett (7 Speedwell-F.N.), M. G. Witham (7 Indian), A. G. Lerrechi (4 Norton).

A UNIQUE EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITY presents itself to acquire practically on a rental basis, a fine VILLA and LARGE GROUNDS, HIGHLY SUITABLE FOR BOARDING SCHOOL OR COLLEGE. In a commanding and salubrious position, handy to city, on the North Shore Line, and in a favourite and rapidly developing suburb.

EXPERTS AGREE THAT THERE IS A SPLENDID OPENING in the locality, and that the property is an ideal one for the purpose. The house, approached by a carriage drive, is very roomy, and in splendid order, and is surrounded by lovely shade and ornamental trees, gardens, and large lawns, besides orchard and grass paddock, giving fine areas for recreation purposes.

THIS IS THE CHANCE OF A LIFETIME for the right man, as the price required is low, and the owner is willing to take A SMALL DEPOSIT AND TO GIVE 20 YEARS' TERMS FOR THE BALANCE.

Deal with the matter now, and be ready for the next term. For further particulars apply to

BEAUTIFUL SECOND-HAND PIANOS FOR LITTLE MONEY
at the British Pianoforte Depot's Showrooms.
Each Piano has a distinctive beauty of its own, both as regards tone, action, and case design.
Although we call them Second-hand, they are really as good as new, each instrument having been comparatively little used. Some have been simply Concert used, but most of them were owned by people who exchanged them for Player Pianos.
All your favourites are here, including the Hall, Ronisch, Beal, Payne, etc.
Why not call and try them over to-day? If you decide to purchase, you can name your own terms (within reason).

MUNICIPALITY OF ST. PETERS.
EXTRAORDINARY ELECTION.
NOTICE is hereby given, in accordance with the provisions of the Local Government Act, 1906, and the Ordinances made thereunder, that an ELECTION will be held on WEDNESDAY, 30th DECEMBER, 1914, of an Alderman for the TEMPE WARD, to fill the Extraordinary Vacancy in the representation of that Ward in the Council of the Municipality of St. Peters for the remainder of the triennial period 1914-15-16.
NOMINATION DAY has been fixed for TUESDAY, 22nd December, 1914, and Nominations in the prescribed form, should be delivered into my hands not later than 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the day preceding Nomination Day—that is to say, on MONDAY, 21st December, 1914.
Every Nomination Paper should state the surname and other names of the Candidate, and his abode and occupation (if any), and be signed as proposers by at least two Electors of the Ward for which he is proposed. It should also be noted that a Nomination Paper will not be valid unless the person therein proposed for the Nomination has consented thereto, in writing, attested by a witness. The Nomination Papers may be delivered to or sent by registered letter, so as to reach the Returning Officer as above stated.
For the purpose of receiving such Nomination Papers, the Returning Officer will attend at the offices of the Council from 2 o'clock till 5 o'clock in the afternoon of the day preceding Nomination Day.
Nomination Forms may be obtained at the office of the Town Clerk during office hours.

ACCOUNTANCY EXAMINATIONS.
The published results of the April examinations of the A.C.P.A. and the Incorp. Inst. of Accountants, Victoria, show that the whole of the 22 Examinees prepared by us were successful in passing.
Our total results to date are:—
Students prepared and presented 248
Passed 234
Handbook supplied on application.
AUSTRALIAN ACCOUNTANCY COLLEGE,
Challis House, Martin-place, Sydney.

ACCOUNTANCY INSTRUCTION GUARANTEED.
If you are desirous of studying this subject, either personally or by post, you want the best instruction obtainable—certainly no instruction at variance with educational principles. One of the most important of these principles is that the successful student must continually revise his work. Oral instruction does not permit of this. The only system that does is one that gives you ALL your instruction in writing. Each student of ours receives a printed copy of all our lectures, such copy becoming his own property. His answers are personally corrected by Mr. C. Bartle, A.C.P.A., who dictates to a typiste any corrections or comments necessary. Your work is returned to you with these comments, and a printed set of model answers, which also become your property.
OUR GUARANTEE.
Our methods have been so successful, and failures so few, that we are prepared to guarantee an examination pass at the first attempt. If not—we will instruct you WITHOUT FURTHER CHARGE UNTIL YOU ARE SUCCESSFUL. Could we make a fairer or more convincing offer?
As our fees are no more than you would pay for ordinary class instruction, ISN'T IT AT LEAST WORTH YOUR WHILE to write for copies of letters, showing what our students think of our method, and our booklet, entitled "How to Study Accountancy." Merely clip this advertisement, attach your name and address, and post TO-DAY.

PROFESSIONS, TRADES, ETC.

MOTOR DRIVING MEANS A PROSPEROUS NEW YEAR, if you are trained at DOHERTY and ADAMS' MOTOR SCHOOL, where each pupil is tutored up to the highest possible pitch. Your driver's license has no more value than A SCRAP OF PAPER if it is not backed up by thorough knowledge of every mechanical and electrical detail of the car. Mr. James McMahon, 21 Loftus-street, writes:—"I desire to express my high appreciation of your systematic method. When I joined your school, I had not the slightest knowledge of motor mechanism, and had never attempted to drive, but the tuition was so systematic and easy that I could not fail to get on."

Our Country Pupils find their lodging expenses light.

Make careful inquiries at the garages.

HELPFUL SUGGESTIONS FOR CHRISTMAS SHOPPERS.

TIME-SAVERS AND MONEY-SAVERS.

A perusal of Farmer's advertisements from day to day (especially during the Christmas Shopping Season) is not only helpful in the way of suggesting what to give, but saves time and money as well. We advertise on this page only what we can confidently recommend, and it is therefore a wise plan to make mental notes of the articles which interest you; or, better still, to cut the advertisement out and bring it with you.

DR. PARKER'S

GREAT INDIAN RHEUMATIC REMEDY.

The wonderful success of my great remedy is exemplified in the following case of Mrs. IVAS, age [illegible], of LONG BAY, near Sydney. For many years she suffered from Chronic Rheumatism, and, after being vaccinated, became so ill that her life was despaired of. Doctors could do her no good, and she was removed to the Hospital, where she remained [illegible] weeks, and was pronounced incurable. Suffering acute pains across the back, in the hips, and down to the knees, she almost hoped for death. From the knees to the ankles was numbed and cold, all circulation having ceased. In her agony she was induced to take Dr. Parker's Great Indian Rheumatic Remedy, which gave immediate relief, and slowly but surely has restored her to health. "But for your medicine," she writes, "I should have died. I am free from pain, and now able to do my household duties."

DR. PARKER'S GREAT INDIAN RHEUMATIC REMEDY is obtainable ONLY from
F. PARKER, Specialist for Rheumatism,
9 Payten-chambers, 2 BRIDGE-STREET, SYDNEY.
Send 5/6 TO-DAY, and Medicine, with full instructions, will be sent post paid to any address.
CONSULTATIONS FREE. Daily, 11 to 4. Sat., 9 to 12.
Write or call for Free Pamphlet (Postage 1d).
